Council considers tribal timber company

Tribal Council later this month plans to take up the matter of the Warm Springs Timber Company.

Council discussed the issue at length last week, but took no final action as to possible future operation of the company.

The Branch of Natural Resources is an essential partner to this potential enterprise. Council and Natural Resources met with Calvin Mukumoto in regard to the timber company question.

Mukumoto is a business consultant, working with Clyde

Hamstreet & Associates, Natural Resources and Council on the idea of establishing a company focused on the sale of reservation timber in 2017.

The issue is of great significance to the tribes, as the approved 2017 budget anticipates timber revenue.

Tribal Council is set to take up the question again on December 27, the last currently scheduled Council meeting of 2016.

Tribal Council established an initial version of the company earlier this year, a necessary step as Forest Products Industries had ceased operation.

The question now is whether to establish the company, in partnership with the Branch of Natural Resources, at least through 2017.

During 2016, the timber company established good marketing relationships in the regional timber industry, Mukumoto said. There were some challenges, he said, as the company was a start-up enterprise.

With a full year of operation in 2017 the timber company could realize a good profit for the tribes, Mukumoto said.

This would be based on the sale of timber from the approved allowable cut. In this arrangement, the company would be the sole purchaser of timber, and would then market the logs to the highest bidder.

Plan to help KNT

Tribal Council approved a loan proposal that would Kah-Nee-Ta resort to stay in operation through the winter.

Council worked with the secretary-treasurer and resort board on developing the loan plan. The source of the revenue would be a gas tax refund to the tribes.

The plan is to transfer $400,000 from the gas tax refund to the Business Investment Revolving Fund (BIRF). The loan to Kah-Nee-Ta can then be made from this fund.

The process for this involves a supplemental budget to the already approved 2017 budget. Council members plan to meet with the membership before final approval of the supplemental budget.

The gas tax refund is specifically intended, by earlier Council resolution, for economic development projects.

Under general manager Jim Bankson, Kah-Nee-Ta has implemented significant cost-cutting measures. These include reducing the hours of operation, and closure of the Kah-Nee-Ta office in Portland and the golf course.

Mr. Bankson has a work background in turning around resorts that are in financial trouble, such as Kah-Nee-Ta.

Kah-Nee-Ta has not made a profit in many years, but management and the board are looking at ways to correct the situation. Bringing in an outside partner, for instance, could be part of the solution. Meanwhile, Kah-Nee-Ta is now on winter hours of operation, open Friday through Sunday.

Young people were enjoying the school snow days last week, as a winter storm brought several inches of snow to the reservation.

School and sports activities were cancelled during the last part of the week, and the tribal organization was closed for one whole day and part of another day. Snow plows were out in force, keeping the main roads open. Utilities made the effort to clear the driveways of people who might have medical conditions.

Mill, new Council top news of the past year

There was an effort—unsuccessful in the end—to make major changes to the tribal Constitution. The year saw the ground-breaking for the cannabis production facility, which then saw some delay as Ventures plans to pursue the project in 2017.

Elizabeth Woody became Poet Laureate of Oregon, the first Native American to hold this honor.

The Managed Care program saw great improvement in finances, as more billing options were made available to the program.

Ventures' unmanned aerial systems program saw growth with the development of a new training center at Kah-Nee-Ta.

The year 2016 saw many changes on the reservation, but two items were particularly newsworthy.

The first was the closure of the Warm Springs Forest Products Industries mill. The official announcement of the closure came in April, though the mill had closed for part of the winter.

And the closure was not a surprise, as the enterprise for some time was having trouble meeting the timber stumpage payments to the Confederated Tribes. WSFPI also required more reservation timber than was recommended by the Branch of Natural Resources.

The BIA was involved, refusing to approve new timber sales without some acknowledgment from Tribal Council that the timber was being sold to the mill below market value.

The tribes had owned and operated the mill since 1966. Its closure put 85 people out of work. It was sad news, and a most memorable development from 2016.

Meanwhile, the districts chose the members of the Twenty-Seventh Tribal Council of the Confederated Tribes.

An interesting part of this story is the number of new members to join the Council.

In the Seekseequa District, both Brigitte McConville and Lee Tom are new members at Council. In the Agency District, Val Squiempfen and Carina Miller joined for their first terms.

And in Simnasho, Jody Calica, former secretary-treasurer for several years, joined the Tribal Council. And Ron Suppah, a former Council chairman, returned to Council.

Of the elected members, Raymond Tsumpti and Chairman Austin Greene were the two incumbents to be re-elected.

Council, BNR set 2017 allowable cut

The Branch of Natural Resources Forestry reported to Tribal Council this week on the projected annual allowable cut of reservation timber for 2017-2021.

The allowable cut was then set by Council resolution at 25.1 million board feet per year for that time period.

There is an additional 11 million board feet that is being carried over from the current year. This is an amount that remained unharvested from the 2016 allowable cut, due to the closure of the Forest Products mill.

The vote on the 2017-2021 allowable cut was seven in favor, one opposed, and one abstain. Tribal Forest manager Orvie Danzuka, branch manager Bobby Brunoe and staff made the report to Council on Tuesday, December 13.

The allowable cut is based on forest inventories, the Integrated Resource Management Plan (IRMP), and other relevant documents, Danzuka said.

The 25-million board feet per year figure is considerably less than that from other recent years. The mill required a higher allowable cut to remain in operation, so the figure was adjusted upward to meet this demand.

In 2012, for instance, the allowable cut was over 40-million board feet; and above 30-million in other recent years.

With the mill no longer in operation, the cut can be reduced to the recommended sustainable level.

This can allow for better management in regard to, for instance, huckleberries and other first foods, Danzuka said. Some other points of discussion during the Council session with Natural Resources Forestry:

The mountain pine beetle problem has seen improvement in recent years, said Vernon Wolf of Forestry. However, drought conditions led to forest stress in some areas, providing conditions for some infestation from a different kind of beetle, called ips.

(See ALLOWABLE CUT on 3)

509-J board positions may be zoned

The Jefferson County School District 509-J Board of Directors includes five individuals, all elected from the district at large.

The board has directed district superintendent Rick Molitor to look at the possibility of implementing a zone approach to the board.

Warm Springs, for instance, could be one zone. This would ensure that the board has at least one tribal member representative.

The positions of three members of the current board—Laurie Danzuka, Tom Norton and Lyle Rehinkle—are up for election in March. It is possible the board could adopt the zone approach prior to this election, said Superintendent Molitor.

The issue to be addressed is the possibility that one area of the school district could be heavily represented on the board, while another area would have no representation.

More than expected at mill auction

The auction last month of equipment at the former Warm Springs Forest Products mill brought in a little over $2.8 million.

This was about $400,000 more than had been expected, said Ed Hostmann, serving as receiver in the WSFPI receivership process.

Mr. Hostmann made the report on Tuesday, December 13, at Tribal Council.

Some good news in the otherwise unfortunate situation involves the tribal Credit enterprise.

WSFPI had borrowed about $2.2 million from Credit, and this debt appears to have first priority in the receivership process, Mr. Hostmann said.

This would mean that Credit could likely be repaid in full for the amount owed.

The deadline to file claims in the WSFPI receivership is December 31.

There are a number of claims already filed, but the final number will not be known until after the new year.

Some of the equipment that was purchased during the auction remains at the mill site, as weather has prevented removal by the purchasers, Hostmann said.

Next spring will see the removal of most of the buildings from the mill property. Some buildings, such as the WSFPI administration building, will remain.

Warm Springs Composite Products was a purchaser at the auction, having bought their building. Meanwhile, tribal members accounted for about $4,000 of the total $2.8 million in purchases.

A small work team remains on site at the mill, serving as fire watch and security.

The crew will not be needed once all the equipment is gone and the building removal phase begins.

Future use of the site is yet to be determined. Tribal Council Chairman Austin Greene said the site will need an environmental analysis.

After all, he said, the mill has been in operation there for several decades, during which time environmental regulations have changed. The soil in some areas could require clean-up before the property is put back into use.

The WSFPI receivership was filed in tribal court on May 2. A judge pro temp from Deschutes County has been overseeing the process.

In the Spirit of Giving

Getting ready for Christmas, Warm Springs Health and Human Services - Social Services hosted a toy drive.

Some of the items were donated by individuals, and many more were provided by Social Services.

This year families were able to specify a particular gift; so many young people of the community will have a Merry Christmas.

Among the volunteer gift wrappers were Simone Danzuka LeClaire and Ruby Hurtado (top photo). Meanwhile, Frank and Gerri, of the Health and Human Services work crew, prepare the gift packages for the seniors. The old elementary school gym was the scene of this festive occasion.

Some of the senior gifts will be presented at the Seniors Luncheon, scheduled for this Thursday, December 22. Others will be delivered by volunteer drivers.

Timber: set for Council on Dec. 27

These would be delivered log sales, with one exception. The exception would be a test case whereby a sale would be put to bid, and the purchaser would be responsible for harvest and delivery.

The tribes could then compare which approach brings the most revenue and other benefits, such as tribal member employment. Tribal member preference, through compliance with the Tribal Employment Rights Office (TERO), would be another aspect of the 2017 company, Mukumoto said.

A resolution was presented to Tribal Council, including a detailed memorandum of understanding between the company and Natural Resources. The vote on the resolution then raised a procedural question:

At the start of the Council meeting there were nine voting members present, not including the Council Chairman who votes only in case of a tie.

The vote on the Warm Springs Timber Co. was three in favor, three abstain, and three out of the room, as three members earlier had to leave on other business.

The 3-0-6 vote was determined by legal counsel not to constitute approval. Council then set the matter over to the December 27 meeting.

Time is of the essence in deciding the question: timber purchases generally happen early in the year, as mills are establishing inventories for their yearly operation.

Tribal Council is proceeding carefully on this question: This Council does not want to repeat a scenario such as happened over the years with Forest Products Industries, where the tribes did not realize the full value of the reservation timber harvest, said Councilman Jody Calica.

Allowable cut

Non-drought conditions will alleviate the problem, Wolf said.

Another point of discussion was in regard to logging roads. Forest Products Industries was responsible for maintenance and repair of these roads.

With the enterprise no longer operating, there is a question as to responsibility for this critical work, said Councilman Raymond Tsumpti. Tribal engineer Travis Wells brought up the same point.

The responsible party would be the purchaser of the timber, Danzuka said.

Log trucks traveling at an excessive rate of speed is another problem, Councilman Tsumpti said.

Danzuka said the issue will be brought up with the timber contract administrators.

DAPL hearing next year

A hearing is expected in about two months on the Dakota Access Pipeline lawsuit.

The question for the judge is whether the pipeline developer can go forward with the controversial project, despite lacking a crucial easement.

The Standing Rock Sioux and the Cheyenne River Sioux Tribe are vowing to fight the request, and so is the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

The tribes and the Corps of Engineers filed a request with the court, suggesting the case be held in abeyance while the question of the easement is addressed.

Appeals in rail expansion at Gorge

Union Pacific appealed Wasco County’s denial of its rail expansion proposal near Mosier in the Columbia River Gorge National Scenic Area.

In November the Wasco County Board of Commissioners unanimously denied the proposed rail expansion based on adverse effects to the Yakama Nation’s tribal treaty rights and violations of the National Scenic Area land use ordinance.

The Union Pacific appeal was filed before the Columbia River Gorge Commission, which has review authority over all final county decisions within the National Scenic Area.

Friends of the Columbia Gorge, Columbia Riverkeeper, and Physicians for Social Responsibility support the denial of the project based on treaty rights violations, but have also appealed the decision based on threats to fish and wildlife habitat, parks and recreation, scenic resources, and Gorge communities like Mosier.

Friends of the Gorge attorney Steve McCoy explained:

“We and our allies support the denial of the project to protect the Yakama Nation’s tribal treaty rights.

“The recent Mosier oil train derailment and explosion demonstrate the dangers to public safety and the National Scenic Area from Union Pacific’s plans to significantly increase rail traffic.

“This is why we’re asking the Columbia Gorge Commission to deny the project on multiple grounds, and ensure Union Pacific doesn’t imperil public safety and trample over a national treasure.”

Meanwhile, the City of Mosier is still recovering from the Union Pacific oil train derailment, spill and fire in June that leaked 42,000 gallons of crude oil and contaminated groundwater in the small town.

The derailment occurred within a quarter-mile of an elementary school. Mosier was only saved from a large fire due to an uncharacteristically calm day for the Gorge, with wind speeds below 5 mph.

Tribal leaders from the Confederated Tribes of Warm Springs visited the site, and voiced opposition to oil rail transport as a potential threat to fishing rights.

The Federal Railroad Administration then released a report finding that Union Pacific was at fault for the accident because it failed to follow safety and rail inspection requirements. Nationally, Union Pacific has a poor safety record compared to the industry average.

A rail traffic report released by the Friends of the Gorge found that increases in rail capacity from this expansion could be far greater than Union Pacific has claimed, potentially increasing rail capacity from about 35 trains a day to as much as 100 trains a day.

New federal laws benefit Siletz and Grand Ronde

President Obama last week signed land bills for two Oregon tribes. Congress had approved the bills earlier this month.

The bills, called S.817 and S.818, help Confederated Tribes of Siletz Indians and the Confederated Tribes of Grand Ronde restore their homelands.

“Congress is working on behalf of tribes,” Sen. John Barrasso (R-Wyoming), the chairman of the Senate Committee on Indian Affairs, said in a press release. “These pieces of legislation, along with the others we have passed during the 114th Congress, demonstrate our continued commitment to increased tribal self-determination and sovereignty.”

The signing of S.817 means any land acquired by the Siletz Tribes within the original 1855 Coast Reservation will be considered a part of the current reservation.

For Grande Ronde, S.818 reduces the number of steps required for land to be acquired in trust and declared a part of its reservation.

“This legislation will enable the tribe to more efficiently move the land it owns into reservation status, which is historically a very complex and time-consuming process,” Chairman Reyn Leno said in a story posted by Smoke Signals.

The Siletz and Grand Ronde have been lobbying for the legislation for years. They could be the last significant Indian bills to clear the 114th Congress before lawmakers head home for the holiday break.

The 115th Congress will convene in January 2017, starting a whole new legislative process.

Museum grant for archives

The Oregon Community Foundation Board of Directors approved $33,000 in grants to Warm Springs nonprofit causes. Grants awarded include the following:

The Museum At Warm Springs received $23,000. The funding will be used to help hire a trained archivist to digitize archives and collections.

This in turn will help preserve and facilitate access to key tribal information, including language and cultural traditions.

“The Oregon Community Foundation team of staff members and volunteers are excited to see the progress with projects that preserve and enrich the culture of the Warm Springs community,” said Cheryl Puddy, associate program officer and regional coordinator for the Foundation in Central and Eastern Oregon.

“The valuable services this non-profit provides in their communities is a true reflection of the Foundation’s goal to improve lives across Oregon, and we are proud to partner with the museum,” Cheryl said.

The Foundation this fall made more than $3.6 million in grant awards statewide.

The mission of the Oregon Community Foundation is to improve life for all Oregonians through the power of philanthropy.

The Foundation works with individuals, families, businesses and organizations to create charitable funds to support the community causes they care about.

Through these funds, the Foundation awarded more than $100 million in grants and scholarships since 2015. In other news from the Museum at Warm Springs:

The Tribal Member Art Show is on display through January 7.

2016 Year in Review (Part 2)

(The following is part 2 of a look back at some of the memorable news events of the past year on the reservation.)

May

Warm Springs Fire Management and the BIA in May began a program to conduct controlled burns with the use of a helicopter.

Firefighters were on hand from California, Arizona, Washington and other areas, plus from Warm Springs. Fire Management has not used aerial ignition of controlled burns since 1989. In other news:

The new Tribal Council took office this month, during a time of great opportunity, as well as serious challenges for the Confederated Tribes.

The tribal budget will be a critical point of focus, not only looking to 2017, but for the current year as well. Elsewhere:

The ground breaking ceremony for the tribes' cannabis enterprise proved to be a popular event.

The ground-breaking ceremony for the project proved to be a popular event. On hand were many community members, plus federal and state officials.

Stan Speaks, BIA Northwest regional director, mentioned how the tribes and Ventures have handled a unique and potentially complicated business idea.

"They have been very careful and very cautious," Mr. Speaks said of the tribes. "They are certainly going to be a model."

An economic study has projected significant revenue, possibly more than $20 million a year when in full operation, from the cannabis enterprise. "But this is bigger than dollars and cents," said Pit-ta Pitt, project coordinator.

"This is not a quick fix," he said. "This is about a group of people trying to find a way to educate, clothe and house themselves."

The tribes' carbon sequestration project is making steady progress, with September being the target for marketing and selling the credits, according to a May report at Tribal Council.

Members of the Twenty-Seventh Tribal Council take the oath of office, May 2016.

Payment to the tribes could be expected about 30 days after the sale is finalized, said Don Sampson, Warm Springs Ventures chief executive officer.

Warm Springs is the first tribe to use reservation forest land for the marketing of carbon sequestration credits. Other tribes have used non-reservation land for this purpose.

Revenue from the Warm Springs project could be in the range of $9 million. After costs, such as for forest management, the net revenue to the tribes is estimated at $5.5 million, Mr. Sampson said.

This is a one-time payment for the acreage, which will be managed to maximize carbon sequestration through forest growth. This is conditional use land, not involving timber for harvest. The duration of the agreement is 100 years.

The Confederated Tribes will conduct an adoption election in June, Tribal Council decided this month.

There are 160 adoptee candidates who are eligible to become members of the Confederated Tribes.

Each candidate is being voted on individually. There is a 50-percent voter turnout requirement for this to be a valid election.

If there is a valid election, each individual receiving a majority of 'yes' votes will be adopted into the Confederated Tribes. And this in May:

Tribal Council and staff are working on a plan to sell logs from the reservation forest. These are a valuable tribal trust asset.

The logs were initially intended for sale to Warm Springs Forest Products Industries. Since the enterprise is now in receivership, the plan is to sell them on the open market to the highest bidder.

Meanwhile, the process of settling the WSFPI finances is a tribal court receivership. The logs that are currently in the woods are not part of the receivership, as these are tribal property.

This may be the first tribal enterprise in the U.S. to be subject to a tribal court receivership process. The receiver is Edward Hostmann, and Edward Hostmann Inc.

The receivership was filed in tribal court on May 2. The receiver reports on a monthly basis to the judge.

June

The last day of school this year at the Warm Springs Academy was a unique one. On that afternoon, a team from a NASA youth education and outreach program in Washington launched a rocket from a field by the Academy.

The rocket launch demonstration was at the conclusion of a series of science and math exercises for middle school students. This was a partnership project among the school, NASA, Oregon Health Sciences University, OMSI and the University of Washington. Warm Springs Ventures also helped with some planning facilitation.

The goal of this program was to encourage under-represented youth to pursue careers in science, technology, engineering and math (STEM). A way to help achieve this is with a show-case event such as the rocket launch. In other June news:

nativeFAX is a new and upcoming project of Warm Springs Ventures. Ventures is partnering with Tigard-based FaxBack Fax Solutions on the new business enterprise.

The technology uses the Internet to send faxes, including faxes to e-mail. This eliminates the need for a dedicated fax line.

FaxBack is the manufacturer of the adapter that connects to the fax machine. The tribes are the marketing body. The item is called nativeFAX: A Warm Springs Venture. The target market includes government agencies, including law enforcement, and private businesses. Documents sent with nativeFAX cannot be altered, which is part of the appeal of the service. The fax can go to multiple e-mails.

These features can be important to law enforcement, medical groups, car dealerships, universities, the military, among other groups, Ms. Stwyer said. A study shows the potential market for the product is large, at $3 billion, she said.

A large and colorful new sign arrived in June for the entrance area of Indian Head Casino. A crew then set up this great new addition to the casino marketing. Elsewhere:

The adoption election in June did not meet the 50-percent voter turnout requirement, so the results are void. Including this recent vote, the last three adoption elections have failed for lack of voter participation.

The cost of the election is about $20,000, said Arlita Rhoan, Election board member. For this and other reasons, she said, the decision about setting a re-vote is a serious one.

As three adoption elections have failed, Tribal Councilman Raymond Tsumpti said the tribes should consider conducting a secretarial election regarding the adoption candidates. The secretarial process, conducted by the BIA, has no minimum voter turn-out requirement.

A review of the results shows that all of the candidates received more positive votes than negative—often by a large margin of three- or four-to-one in favor.

A total of 987 people cast ballots in the adoption election. A figure in the range of 1,500 would have been required for a valid vote.

Meanwhile, the tribes could decide to change the membership baseline census role from 1960 to 1980. This would result in the automatic enrollment of about 60 of the candidates who were on the recent election list. A proposal to update the baseline role could be sent to referendum, depending on the decision of the Tribal Council. And this:

The exhibit Kindred Spirits: The Artistic Journey of Lillian Pitt opened in June at the Museum at Warm Springs. Ms. Pitt was born on the Warm Springs Reservation. She is Warm Springs, Wasco and Yakama.

Lillian first showcased her artwork here at the Museum at Warm Springs in 1999 with her exhibit Spirits Keep Whistling Me Home. Since then, she has established herself as one of the most highly regarded Native American Artists in the Pacific Northwest.

June

The Portland-based company Aerial Inspection Resources conducted a series of successful flights this month at the Warm Springs unmanned aerial systems test range.

The testing included UAS flights by the de-energized power line on the reservation. A company from China was also scheduled for test flights on the reservation.

The Confederated Tribes commemorated the One-Hundred and Sixty-First Anniversary of the signing of the Treaty of 1855 in June.

This is the Forty-Sixth Annual Pi-Ume-Sha, the celebration having started in 1970.

The theme of the pow-wow this year was: Food Gathering—Usual and Accustomed.

July

Truman Merrifield made an historical achievement this month at Central Oregon Community College.

On July 1 he became the COCC Student Body President. Truman is the first person of color to serve in this position.

At COCC he is studying Forest Resources Technology and Wildland Fire/Fuels Management: Truman is also the first person from this discipline to serve as COCC Student Body President.

The Confederated Tribes and Ventures hosted a ground-breaking ceremony for the Warm Springs Unmanned Aerial Systems training center is set for this

August

The 2016-17 school year in the 509-J district will see the start of the Bridges Career and Technical High School. Bridges will have two sites: one in Warm Springs and one in Madras.

The Warm Springs component of the Bridges High School will take the place of the Roots alternative education program. In other school news:

The Confederated Tribes and School District 509-J continue to work toward a new multi-year education agreement. The current agreement expires this summer. And this in July:

September

The Tribal Council appointed the Cannabis Commission of the Confederated Tribes of Warm Springs. The commission is the policy-making and oversight body for the tribes’ cannabis production program.

The Tribal Council approved the formation of a new non-profit corporation.

Masks at the Kindred Spirits exhibit, Museum at Warm Springs.

month at Kah-Nee-Ta Resort.

The training center will be located on the lower floor of the resort, where the gaming offices were located when the casino was at Kah-Nee-Ta. The space had in recent years been used for storage.

When the training center is open in 2017, Kah-Nee-Ta will be a key partner in the Warm Springs UAS Center for Excellence for Wildland Fire Management. Elsewhere:

The tribal horse removal program is in its fifth year. During that time, the program has removed thousands of excess and unwanted horses from the reservation.

Without the horse removal program, the number of excess horses on the reservation would be 23,388 by 2020, according to the Range and Ag estimate. Meanwhile:

Eight young people from Warm Springs are working with Heart of Oregon YouthBuild.

They are building houses in Madras. Heart of Oregon has developed a great working relationship with the tribes. In time they are hoping to build new homes on the reservation. Meanwhile they are planning a clean-up project in Warm Springs in early September.

This will greatly facilitate a successful grant program, as the tribes have a large backlog of projects that are in need of funding. A new community center is just one example. Meanwhile:

Tribal Council took up the issue of new tribal member enrollment, meeting with Lucille Suppach of Vital Statistics and legal counsel.

Part of this was to continue discussion of a resolution of the previous Tribal Council, regarding a possible referendum asking whether to change the enrollment baseline year. And this:

The Culture and Heritage Department launched a project to create a new dictionary of the Ichishkeen language of the Confederated Tribes.

The event was the result of four years of planning and funding effort, said Tribal Councilwoman Val Switzler, director of the Culture and Heritage Department. The grant for the work comes from the National Science Foundation, among the most prestigious of funding organizations.

Culture and Heritage and the tribes are partnering with the University of Oregon on the project

The Health and Human Services Branch in August provided Tribal Council with a plan on how to improve Children’s Protective Services.

The plan includes both near and long-term changes at CPS. The changes are needed to provide the children, families and community with the best service possible, said Caroline Cruz, general manager of Health and Human Services. Also in August:

Great news for pet owners: The tribes this month began a partnership with the Bend Spay and Neuter Project. The project will host clinics in Warm Springs once a month, offering free spay and neuter services for dog owners.

Best Music Video Rez Life

Scott Kalama had an incredible September. First, he made the trip to North Dakota to support the Standing Rock Sioux.

He drove 18 hours to North Dakota, joined by Miss Warm Springs Keeyana Yellowman and CharlieAnn Herkshan. This was an adventure, he says, seeing the many tribal nations together in force.

By chance while there, Scott met some of the people from the Native American Music Awards—not knowing at the time that he would be seeing them again soon.

Scott was back in Warm Springs no more than a few days when he heard he was in the running for a NAMA award in the Best Music Video category. This was for his work on Rez Life, featuring Scott as Blue Flamez, and the Beats Lyrics Leaders.

Rez Life, seen on Youtube, features his song by that title, and video mostly on the Warm Springs Reservation. The month ended with his acceptance of the award, making Scott Warm Springs’ first NAMA winner.

Parents:

Did You Know that 62% of Jefferson County Youth indicate that hard liquor is easy to obtain?

- Of students who report using alcohol, 42% report drinking hard liquor.
- 75% of youth respondents say that they get alcohol at home.

Ways to Safeguard Alcohol From Youth:

- Put all alcohol in a secure place that is out of youth’s reach.
- Monitor the levels in liquor bottles and watch for alcohol that has been watered down.
- Don’t store extra alcohol in places like the basement or garage – it’s easy for bottles or cans to disappear.
- If you drink, model healthy alcohol use to your children.
- Don’t allow teen drinking. Don’t host parties or allow your children to go to parties where alcohol is served to those under 21. Make your rules and expectations clear to your children and enforce those rules.
- Exercise your influence. Data shows that teens continue to care what their parents think, even while they are in high school and college. Let your teen know that you don’t want them to drink and that most teens in fact don’t drink.

Talk to Youth About How to Say No to Alcohol:

It’s okay to role play ways to say no, and to talk about avoiding places where people may pressure youth to drink:

- No, thanks.
- I don’t feel like it. Do you have any soda?
- Alcohol’s not my thing.
- Me? Alcohol? Forget it.
- You’re pressuring me. I said no.

November

The Warm Springs Managed Care program is remodeling a building on the campus to serve as a physical therapy center. The building—by the courthouse on Warm Springs Street—should be ready for business by the end of this month.

The physical therapy center will be a great addition to Managed Care, as tribal members will no longer have to drive to Madras for therapy sessions. The director of Warm Springs physical therapy is Natalie Kiefer, a Choctaw tribal member, and doctor of physical therapy. Meanwhile:

Tribal Council appointed three judges to the Court of the Confederated Tribes.

Judge Lisa Lomas was named the new Chief Judge. For the two associate judgeships, the Tribal Council appointed Wilma Smith and Elizabeth Woody.

Tribal Council endorsed a proposal by the Warm Springs Telecom to become the designated Incumbent Local Exchange Carrier, or ILEC, for the entire reservation.

Tribal planner Lonny Macy and Adam Haas of Converge Communications, who helped establish the Warm Springs Telecom, gave the presentation at Tribal Council.

November marked the end of an era for the tribes, as the property of Warm Springs Forest Products Industries was put to auction.

The two-day auction will include hundreds of items. These include heavy equipment such as log loaders, timber saws, chippers, tools, buildings—all the equipment associated with the operation of a lumber mill. Elsewhere:

The Twenty-Seventh Tribal Council of the Confederated Tribes hired Michele Stacona as the new Secretary-Treasurer.

New health topics at Seniors Lunch

The IHS Diabetes and tribal Senior programs will be starting new health education topics for 2017.

These will be at the Seniors Lunch the second Tuesday of the month. There will be a learning topic each month:

January: Health care benefits.

February: Foot care. And March: Eye care.

“Our goal is to reach more people with health information,” said Montell Elliott, of the Diabetes Program. “The topics were picked by people who have come to our events in 2016.”

Join the discussion and lunch at 12 noon on Tuesday, January 11 at the Senior Center. The IHS Business Office will talk about Medicare.

Tribal Managed Care will also be there, and will talk about coverage for glasses and dentures.

School: board positions may be by zone

For many years the Confederated Tribes have had one representative on the five-member board. Before Laurie Danzuka joined the board, Jeff Sanders served more than two decades on the 509-J board.

Still, the board may want to avoid the possibility of Warm Springs, for instance, having no representative, Molitor said. “When I first joined the district nine years ago, I was surprised the board members are at large,” he said.

Across the state, school boards have all kinds of configurations: five members, seven, nine, elected by zone or at large.

Another example: The Jefferson County Education Service District has seven members. Four members are zoned, and three are at large.
