Bridge grant, new partnership at 509-J

The Jefferson County school district received a four-year grant helping students as they continue their education. For the current year the grant award amounts to $257,162.

This allows the district to continue and improve programs, Summer Bridge for instance, that help students in transition from the k-8 Academy to high school, and from high school to college.

The funding is for Summer Bridge, AVID (Achievement Via Individual Determination), family engagement, college visits and other student services.

The three-week Summer Bridge helps students make the transition from the eighth grade to the high school. This is a federal grant with much competition for funding, said Rick Molitor, district superintendent.

The district board met this week to accept the funding. In other recent news from 509-J:

Papalaxsimisha

The district has partnered with the Let's Talk Diversity Coalition and the Confederated Tribes to offer a free eight-week workshop aimed at improving high school attendance and graduation rates, and inspiring college education.

The program is called

Papalaxsimisha, or "Together as one," and is for students in grades six through 12.

The program provides orientation and information on what to expect in high school, what classes are necessary for graduation, and what classes are required for entrance to a four-year university.

"A big part of the program focuses on the transition from middle school to high school," said Jaylyn Suppah, program coordinator.

Papalaxsimisha meets one night a week for eight weeks in the Warm Springs Academy community room. For more information call Jaylyn at 541-475-4292.

Ellise David

And meanwhile: the new student liaison to the school district board is Ellise David, daughter of Butch and Angie David.

KNT board openings

Tribal Council is looking for five people to serve on the Kah-Nee-Ta resort board of directors. Kah-Nee-Ta used to be under the Gaming and Resort board that also oversaw Indian Head Casino.

It made sense to have one board for the casino and resort when, for instance, the two were housed at Kah-Nee-Ta. Now they should be separate to reflect the circumstances, Tribal Council decided.

The five KNT board positions are classified as I, II and III. Class I will be an individual whose term of office will expire on December 31, 2017.

Class II will be two individuals, with the terms ending on December 31, 2018. And class III will be two individuals with terms expiring at the end of 2019.

A person cannot serve on the KNT board who is a member of Tribal Council, an employee of the resort; or while serving on either the Credit or Indian Head Casino boards.

"The business and affairs of Kah-Nee-Ta shall be managed and controlled by the board of directors," according to the directorship notice.

The regular board meetings will be held no less frequently than quarterly. And the board can call other regular meetings from time to time.

If you are interested in serving on the board, a letter of interest and resume should be submitted by October 27. The submission can be mailed to Secretary-Treasurer, PO Box 455, Warm Springs, OR 97761.

Authorization letter will be mailed to all applicants for a criminal and credit background check. The information is confidential.

In a short span of time Edward Heath has gained the reputation of a great photographer. He started taking photographs only two years ago, and in 2016 already he's had two art exhibits featuring his photography. The Museum at Warm Springs in the spring hosted An Eye for the Rez. Then more recently the Art Adventure Gallery in Madras opened a new exhibit of his work—both shows being warmly received. Mr. Heath (right), who works at Forestry, focuses on the daily life and scenery of the reservation—yet captures shots of unique perspective and beauty.

Managed Care soon to offer physical therapy

The Warm Springs Managed Care program is remodeling a building on the campus to serve as a physical therapy center.

The building—by the courthouse on Warm Springs Street—should be ready for business by the end of the month.

Warm Springs Construction this week is working on the landscaping, and the new Managed Care physical therapy director is organizing the office and service areas.

The physical therapy center will be a great addition to Managed Care, as tribal members will no longer have to drive to Madras for therapy sessions. Some people have to drive to Madras twice a week for their sessions.

The director of Warm Springs physical therapy is Natalie Kiefer, a Construction works on the landscaping at the front of the building.

Choctaw tribal member, and doctor of physical therapy. She just finished graduate school at Pacific University, through an Indian Health Service scholarship program.

Natalie was thinking she would have to move out of state for a job with a tribe, as no Oregon tribe at the time had its own physical therapy program.

Meanwhile, Warm Springs Managed Care director Michael Collins at first was thinking about using the physical therapy practitioners in Madras to serve at the Warm Springs facility.

Then he found about Natalie, and both parties agreed the opportunity would be ideal.

Matter of financing

Some years ago Managed Care offered physical therapy to clients at the clinic. A budgeting issue forced them to discontinue the service, and for a time they could provide only level 1 care.

Since then, with more medical billing options open to the tribes, Managed Care is again in a position to offer physical therapy.

The service to members at the new center can also be billed to insurance.

Physical therapy is a specialty that rehabilitates and repairs certain ailments, promotes mobility and function, and quality of life.

It can help with post-surgery recovery, for instance. At the Warm Springs center, there will be physical therapy, and acupuncture.

Working part-time with Natalie will be one or two physical therapists from Madras.

The physical therapy center may be open by the end of the month, and look for the official grand opening in November.

Looking to the future with Recovery conference

by Sarah Frank

The Warm Springs Behavioral Health Guiding Butterflies and Mighty Warrior adult group met with NARA—the Native American Rehabilitation Association—this summer and decided to plan the first Recovery Never Ends conference.

On September 30 the conference happened at the HeHe Longhouse.

September was National Recovery Month. But we wanted to send the message that the month may come to an end but recovery never ends.

We originally thought there would be 20 to 30 people attending the conference. We are pleased to say that over 100 people were in attendance by the afternoon.

NARA fulfilled Tribal Councilman Raymond Tsumpti Sr.'s request to come to Warm Springs: This was their third trip to Warm Springs to stay in contact with previous NARA treatment clients.

Breakfast, lunch and dinner were prepared and served by volunteers: Natural Resources donated fish, and NARA Outreach brought the food for dinner.

Master of ceremonies Aldo Garcia entertained the audience throughout the day with his humor and inspiration, often using his own personal recovery story.

Thank you, Jason Smith, for your continued support in the recovery movement.

Deanie Johnson and Guy Wallulatum gave the opening prayer. Michael Martinez and Scott Kalama were up bright and early preparing for the men and women's sweathouses.

Suzy Moody led the women's sweat on Friday, and Birda Kirk led the women's sweathouse Thursday evening. Guy Wallulatum shared the Warrior Song, and the history of the song.

Patty Katz shared her testimony as a "person in long-term recovery." At one time she spent time getting high under the I-5 bridge: she also talked about her lengthy criminal history. Fifteen years ago she and a friend read an article about National Recovery Month, and realized people all over the U.S. were celebrating their recovery from drugs and alcohol addiction.

They decided they would stand on top of the bridge at daybreak to celebrate. That decision marked the beginning of Hands Across the Bridge.

In 2001 there were 200 participants. In 2015 there were almost 3000 people.

Warm Springs Guiding Butterflies and Mighty Warriors attended the 2016 Hands Across the Bridge event.

Road work by industrial park

Warm Springs Construction is working on the Upper Dry Creek re-alignment project by the industrial park. The re-alignment will correct a road safety condition at the intersection of Upper Dry Creek and Highway 3.

With the previous alignment, there was a tendency for the traffic to merge on and off the highway, which was dangerous. The funding for the work is through the BIA.

Another project at the industrial park is a building project that is planned north of the vehicle pool. This is a Warm Springs Ventures project, as approved by Tribal Council.

Warm Springs Construction crew at the re-alignment site.

The building was to be used as a maintenance facility for the Ventures unmanned aerial systems program. A more recent possibility is for the new structure to house a UAS manufacturing facility.

An issue to be resolved is bringing wastewater infrastructure to the industrial park. The area could tie into the system at the campus area.

Ongoing issue

An on-going issue has been the need to replace the campus pipes, which are very old. The Confederated Tribes has encouraged the BIA to fund this project, but there has been no action for several years now.

At a recent Tribal Council meeting, chief operations officer Alyssa Macy gave an update, suggesting the Council address a letter to the BIA regarding the matter.

Councilman Jody Calica mentioned the U. S. v. White Mountain Apache Tribe as precedent for the BIA responsibility. In the case the Supreme Court held that when the federal government used land or property held in trust for an Indian tribe, it had the duty to maintain that land or property, and was liable for any damages for a breach of that duty.

The original infrastructure at the campus area was installed decades ago by the federal government, and the trust responsibility remains, as stated in the White Mountain Apache case.

Safety note from Warm Springs Fire and Safety

Every smoke alarm has an expiration date: What's yours?

Warm Springs Fire and Safety urges all of Warm Springs residents to know how old their smoke alarms are, and to replace them every 10 years.

Research shows that most homes have at least one smoke alarm. But the important question is, How old is the device? If you're like most people, you're probably not so sure.

"Time and again, I've seen the life-saving impact smoke alarms can have in a home fire, but I've also seen the tragedy that can result when smoke alarms aren't working properly," says Travis Benthin with Fire and Safety.

"That's why we're making a concerted effort to educate the membership about the overall importance of smoke alarms, and that they do have a life limit."

This year's Fire Prevention Week campaign, this week, is Don't Wait - Check the Date! Replace Smoke Alarms Every 10 Years.

To find out how old your smoke alarm is and its expiration date, simply look on the back of the alarm where the date of manufacture is marked. The smoke alarm should be replaced 10 years from that date (not the date of purchase). Fire and Safety also says smoke alarms should be tested monthly, and that batteries should be replaced once a year, or when they begin to chirp, signaling that they're running low.

For more go to firepreventionweek.org.

District meetings in Oct. on 2017 tribal budget

Tribal Council called for district meetings later this month on the 2017 budget proposal.

The Seekseequa District meeting is scheduled for Monday, October 24 at the Seekseequa Fire Hall.

The Agency District meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, October 25 at the Agency Longhouse.

The Simnasho District meeting is scheduled for Wednesday, October 26 at the Simnasho Longhouse.

For all the meetings, dinner is at 6 and the meeting at 7.

Meanwhile, members have received the Secretary-Treasurer budget message, mailed out in September. Some of the significant points:

There will be a reduction in the enterprise dividends, continuing a trend of recent years.

Power and Water Enterprises accounts for a large part of the overall dividend reduction, as was true in 2016.

GeoVisions and Ventures are expecting a $1 million dividend, as a result of the carbon sequestration project.

The Senior Pension fund is funded through 2017 in the current proposal.

The budget proposal as presented by S-T Glendon Smith is balanced. The overall operations budget would be about the same as the present year, with some reductions. Per capita would remain the same under the recommendation.

S-T budget message

Dear tribal member,

The proposed general fund tribal budget for 2017 was posted September 27, 2016. This proposed budget has a projected decrease of $365,382 from the 2016 approved tribal budget.

This decrease is due to revenue decreases compared to the 2016 approved tribal budget.

The 2017 proposed budget will provide for the following budget categories: Operations, community assistance, debt service, enterprises (quasi), capital projects, and transfers to other sources for the tribal government organization.

When the Tribal Council takes action to finalize the 2016 tribal budget, total proposed expenditures will not be increased beyond this proposal.

The 2017 proposed budget has been posted at the tribal administration building, Warm Springs Market, Post Office, Indian Health Services, Agency Longhouse, Three Warriors Market, Sidwalter Fire Hall, Simnasho Longhouse, Seekseequa Fire Hall, and online at the tribal member portal.

The tribal government will continue to balance and the essential community needs with the current and forecasted revenue base. We know the importance of essential services to each tribal member, and are working to make every effort to minimize budgetary impacts on services and tribal member employment, while continuing work towards improving program and service effectiveness and creating efficiencies.

The proposed 2017 budget will not be finalized until we have completed meetings with the tribal membership. We need your input before the Tribal Council makes final decisions and takes action to approve a final 2017 budget by the end of November.

Respectfully submitted,
Glendon Smith, Secretary-Treasurer-CEO.

Letters to the editor

Lil’ Pumpkins

The Early Childhood Education Center will host the Annual Lil’ Pumpkins Parade on Friday, October 28, starting at 10 a.m. This is a fun time for the ECE classrooms to go trick-or-treating through the hallways at ECE, and then parade across to the Warm Springs clinic.

We are extending an invite to all Warm Springs departments and enterprises to donate and participate in a variety of ways:

Donations: Pre-packaged healthy snacks—nothing homemade. Prevention or promotional items appropriate for pre-school age children. And decorations for tables.

Costumes—If you have any used costumes in good condition to donate for a child who doesn’t have one, these would be greatly appreciated.

Candy, materials, costumes or any time you spend can be counted as in-kind donations. Forms will be provided—you will just need to put down the amount of time, or the price of the donated item. There is a limited amount of table space, so reserve your place today. Set-up will begin at 9 a.m.

Please respond by October 24 by calling Jodi or Cheyenne at 541-553-3242.

Youth workers

‘I would like to thank Heart of Oregon Corps for giving me another opportunity to be in the program.’ —

These were the heartfelt words of a crew member completing a second summer with Central Oregon Youth Conservation Corps. Eighty-eight teens—including several from Warm Springs—spent eight weeks completing trail work, constructing fences, improving campgrounds, reducing hazardous fuels, eradicating invasive species, and restoring watersheds.

The young people learned to care deeply about local public lands as they performed natural resources projects under the guidance of 14 Heart of Oregon Corps and three COIC crew leaders and U.S. Forest Service specialists.

COYCC’s 17 crews were based in Warm Springs, Madras, Redmond, Prineville, Sisters, Bend, LaPine and Crescent. Young people earned minimum wage and had the option to receive an AmeriCorps Education Award to pursue higher education at college or trade school.

These Central Oregon youth gained more than an impressive tan this summer. COYCC engages youth in what is often their first job experience and provides them an important tool—an AmeriCorps scholarship—to engage with college or vocational options. Youth learned the responsibilities required to maintain a job such as following instructions, interacting with fellow employees, and showing up on time.

With the support of the Forest Service, youth were connected with in-demand career fields in natural resources. Our young people worked alongside USFS natural resource specialists and explored this career pathway with them. Youth also explored next steps during College Day, where they toured the local community college, spoke with students, and learned about financial aid.

Maddie, one of our returning young people, spoke at Heart of Oregon Corps’ Achievement Celebration in front of over 100 people. She said, “This job has given me self-confidence. If I had been asked to speak last year, I probably would have said no. Now, I am proud to represent my community.”

To the tribes

Heart of Oregon Corps would like to thank funders and partners who supported Maddie and other local youth through this experience, including the Confederated Tribes of Warm Springs, the Autzen Foundation, Central Oregon Intergovernmental Council, the Collins Foundation, the Corps Network, the Gordon Elwood Foundation, Oregon Youth Conservation Corps, the Forest Service, and United Way of Deschutes County.

Heart of Oregon Corps is a nonprofit organization invested in inspiring and empowering positive change in the lives of Central Oregon youth through jobs, education, and stewardship. HOC applies a “work-earn-learn” model that invests in local young people, many of whom come from disadvantaged backgrounds, to prepare them for the workforce and to encourage their self-sufficiency. HOC is a partner of the Children’s Forest of Central Oregon, Better Together, and an official Twenty-First Century Service Conservation Corps site.

Native inmates at the Deer Ridge Correctional Institution held the 500 Mile American Indian Spiritual Marathon in September.

Owen Wallulatum, Rosanna Sanders, and Deer Ridge Pastor Tim Woods organized the event.

The Spiritual Marathon began at a correctional facility in California, and then was taken up by Native inmates at facilities in Oregon.

The Native inmates spent most of the day running the track, and at the tribal drum. The day began with a pipe ceremony. The events this

CRITFC grant to enhance tribal fishing business

The Columbia River Inter-Tribal Fish Commission received a USDA grant recently, for the benefit of tribal fishers.

The grant will allow CRITFC to provide training and assistance, helping tribes and tribal fishers learn about the Food Safety Modernization Act.

These extra steps—to document that tribally caught fish are handled and processed at the highest safety and quality standards—will increase fish value on the market.

The increased revenue will help tribal members support their families while continuing their traditional fishing practices sustainably and profitably.

Tribal fishing also supports tribal and local economies throughout the region, as the fishers re-invest their revenue in fuel, food, boat supplies, and other commodities.

The USDA funds will also help CRITFC identify community-based commercial food kitchens that meet federal food safety regulations.

These facilities can fishers can then be used to develop specialized products year-round. Points of focus will be recipe development, packaging, labeling, and other product development techniques.

This effort will open new opportunities to tribal fishers, increase options for business start-up and expansion, and improve job opportunities.

This USDA award is part of a nationwide announcement of $3.8 million in grants for 28 projects that will help tribal communities and businesses in 15 states, including two additional grants that will benefit Oregon tribes.

This project builds on the previous partnership among CRITFC, the USDA, Ecotrust, and Oregon State University’s Food Innovation Center.

Since 2009, USDA has significantly expanded its support for tribes and tribal communities, providing $553.5 million nationwide to build or upgrade more than 300 tribal facilities, as well as $55 million in loans to Native-owned businesses to promote economic development in tribal areas.

Training, powwow at Kauai

A group from Warm Springs brought back many great memories from Kauai, Hawaii: They went for the Native Wellness Institute training, remarkable in itself, and then took part in the Kauai Powwow.

At the powwow, Kaiwin Clements, 11, performed gave a hoop dance presentation. Kaiwin, a student at the Warm Springs Academy, started hoop dancing at age 2. His performance was a highlight of the Kauai Powwow, held at the Kapaa Beach Park.

Meanwhile at this event, Miss Warm Springs Keeyana Yellowman and Suzanne McConville took first- and second places in the Head Lady Women’s Special.

Five-hundred students from Kauai schools were on hand for the cultural sharing, and to welcome the guests and relatives.

The powwow was a bonus part of the trip: The Warm Springs team was in Kauai in September for the Native Wellness Institute Annual Training—Culture based programming for youth workers.

This was the first time the training was held in Kauai, said Debra Jackson, of IHS. Deb was an organizer of the journey. Making the trip with her were Anita Jackson, Suzie Slockish, Linda Meanus, Merle Kirk, CharlieAnn Kaiwin Clements hoop dances at the Kauai Powwow educational outreach program.

Herkshan, Keeyana, Suzanne and Kaiwin.

Merle Kirk, of Cultural and Heritage, was impressed at the youth programs of the Native Kauaians. They visited, for instance, the Pakahi Academy. The academy offers youth fitness classes incorporating the Hawaiian culture: Pakahi is a youth-mentoring program using sports to help high school students become more self-aware and build stronger futures. They use unique training exercises, functional fitness, nutrition including traditional foods, Native language and culture. Nike N7 helps with funding.

The group visited the historic Hale Puna House—the house of coral—a 190-year-old structure that is abandoned and neglected. The group Hale Puna wants to restore the building and operate there as a working farm, focusing on traditional foods.

There is a beautiful garden there where the plants are edible, Merle said. The Hale Puna house itself would be used as a community center.

Scott Duggan at Warm Springs OSU Extension will host a final Garden Lunch and Learn of 2016 on Tuesday, October 18, with Karen McCarthy from the Madras Garden Depot as special guest speaker. The topic is Bulbs, Fall Planting Flowers and Garlic, from noon until 1 p.m. at the Education building. A healthy lunch will be provided, and the class is free to the community.

Fishing open until til Friday

The twentieth commercial fishing season of 2016 will run until 6 p.m. this Friday, October 14. The open area is all of Zone 6. Allowed gear is gill nets with no mesh restriction.

Allowable sales are salmon, steelhead, shad, yellow perch, bass, walleye, catfish and carp which may be sold or kept for subsistence use. Sturgeon may not be sold but sturgeon between 38 and 54 inches fork length in the Bonneville pool; and sturgeon between 43 and 54 inches fork length in The Dalles and John Day pools may be kept for subsistence use.

Fish may be sold after the open period closes as long as they were landed during the open period.

River mouth and dam sanctuaries applicable to gillnets are in effect including a 150-foot radius sanctuary around the Spring Creek National Fish Hatchery ladder.

Next week, there will be repairs made to power transmission lines at The Dalles Dam, requiring power production at the dam to be halted for 9 hours on Oct 13.

Because of this, reservoir levels in Zone 6 will need to be modified and may fluctuate widely beginning on October 12 through October 14.

This maintenance cannot be postponed and fishers should be prepared for these changes.

Smith Rock State Park is hosting The Fourteenth Annual Oregon Archaeology Celebration lecture series. This Friday, October 14, a Bureau of Reclamation archaeologist will present A Place of Power: The Watson Rock Art Site of Malheur County.

It is from 7-8:30 p.m. at the Smith Rock State Park Welcome Center in Terrebonne. It is free and open to the public. Day-use parking fees apply.

Extension hosting Am I Hungry?

New this fall to Warm Springs OSU Extension programming is the mindful eating, active living workshop series called Am I Hungry?

This healthy living series focuses on all the factors that go into the decisions we make around our food intake, with a recognition that in many cases, "it's not about the food."

Eating well to fuel your active life is the goal, and if some weight loss happens along the way—it will, more than likely—that is just icing on the cake!

The next session is Monday, Oct. 17, at 5:30 p.m., and will continue another six weeks thereafter. Cost for the entire 8-week series is $10, and includes all materials.

This series is a $400 value, and will be led by Beth Ann Beamer, RN, BSN, licensed Am I Hungry facilitator and Extension FCH faculty.

Space is limited, so please call 541-553-3535 to pre-register.

Distinguished alumni visit Madras High School

Jefferson County School District students, teachers, staff and community members honored five distinguished alumni from Madras High School during Homecoming Week.

Four honorees and family members of one posthumous honoree spent the day at the school on Oct. 7 and were paired with student hosts. They attended a welcome breakfast, student assembly, reception with MHS staff, and the evening's homecoming football game.

"These former Madras High School students have made tremendous contributions to our city, state, country or world," said MHS Vice Principal HD Weddel. "We were proud to welcome them home and honor them for their great accomplishments. They are an inspiration to our current students and their families and an example of what is possible with hard work and determination."

Honorees include:

JACOB DESHAZER (posthumous)

A 1931 graduate of MHS, Deshazer flew with the Doolittle Raiders in their surprise air attack on Tokyo in 1942, and was captured by the Japanese and held as a POW until 1945. In prison, he vowed if he survived the war to return as a missionary to the Japanese—and in 1948 he came back to Japan to preach the Gospel as a Free Methodist minister, a calling he followed for 30 years. His dedication to forgiveness, reconciliation, and peace has been an inspiration to many in Japan and America, and the subject of several books and documentary films.

LILLIAN PITT

Pitt grew up in Warm Springs and graduated from MHS in 1961. She took up ceramics after a back injury, and found the perfect artistic medium to express her devotion to her Native American heritage and the Central Oregon land. Her masks and mixed media works—often inspired by Indian stories—are widely exhibited in the U.S. and abroad, including the Pacific Rim. She holds an honorary doctorate from University of Portland, and is Artistic Director of "Gifts from Our Ancestors" for the Confluence Project, working with Maya Lin. Over thirty years of creative work, Lillian Pitt has become one of the most revered artists in the American West.

PORFIRIO PENA, Jr., MD

Pena grew up in a farming family on Agency Plains and graduated from MHS in 1974. He began his medical studies in Mexico, and went on to earn his medical degree with honors at OHSU, where he completed his residency. He has practiced internal medicine in Portland for 30 years, and is affiliated with Providence Medical Center. Portland Magazine has recognized his medical prowess, and the esteem of his patients, by naming him a "Top Doc" in the Portland area.

RICK ALLEN

After graduating from MHS in 1975, Allen created a remarkable career in city and county government, real estate and public service. He has twice served as Mayor of Madras, as Jefferson County Commissioner, and as Interim City Manager for LaPine and Sisters, while working with the Lowes realty group, establishing new businesses in Madras, and serving as a director of the Deschutes River Conservancy and the Air Show of the Cascades. A tribute to his vision and leadership was presented in the US House of Representatives by Oregon Congressman Greg Walden.

WILLIAM RAMSEY, PhD

A 1978 MHS graduate, Ramsey grew up on a ranch on Agency Plains, and is a philosophy professor at University of Nevada Las Vegas, with numerous books and essays on philosophy of mind and cognitive science to his credit. Both at The University of Notre Dame, where he taught until 2007, and at UNLV, he has been repeatedly honored for his compelling classroom teaching. Since high school, he has also been an outstanding rock climber, with an international reputation based on his climbs at Smith Rock, Yosemite and elsewhere.

Board members attend Madras Elementary Family Night

In an effort to have more face-to-face contact with families, students, teachers and staff, the Jefferson County School Board is holding some of its meetings at school buildings throughout the district and will be attending occasional school events and activities.

"We really want to engage with families on an informal level and build a stronger sense of school community," said Tom Norton, school board chair.

The board's first school-based meeting was held in September at Madras Elementary and coincided with the school's family movie night. The board met with teachers and staff in a classroom before the event started. Later in the evening, board members Norton, Courtney Snead and Laurie Danzuka, along with central office staff, mingled with families there to watch the movie.

"This family night was a great way to start off the school year," said Madras Elementary School Principal Deborah Hunt. "It was nice to see the board members engaging with students and families. The event gave everyone a chance to connect with each other in an informal and fun environment."

The board's next meeting will be at Metolius Elemenary School on October 24. The board meeting schedule has been set to hold one of its two monthly meetings at a school through May.

- OCT 24 Metolius Elementary
- NOV 28 Warm Springs K-8 Academy
- DEC 12 Buff Elementary
- JAN 23 J C Middle School
- FEB 27 Madras High School
- APR 24 Bridges Career & Tech
- MAY 22 Big Muddy School

Program helps Warm Spring students succeed

Navigating the path to a high school diploma and a college degree can be unfamiliar territory for many. To help guide Warm Springs students and their families on this journey, Jefferson County School District has partnered with the Let's Talk Diversity Coalition and the Confederated Tribes of Warm Springs to offer a free eight-week workshop aimed at improving high school attendance and graduation rates and inspiring college education.

The program, called Papalaxsimisha, meaning "together as one" in Sahaptin, is aimed at sixth through twelfth graders and their families and offers information such as what to expect in high school, what classes are necessary for graduation and what classes are required for entrance into a four-year university, which can be different.

"A big part of the program focuses on the transition from middle school to high school," said Jaylyn Suppah, the program's coordinator. "A lot of students don't realize that colleges start counting your grades in ninth grade, and if you are not passing a certain number of classes you can be held back."

The program meets one night a week for eight weeks in the Warm Springs K-8 Academy's community room. Dinner and childcare are included at no cost.

"We want students to start thinking about college and careers, and we want families to be engaged," explained Suppah. "We want them to know they can come to the school and talk to the principal, the teacher, the counselor, and that college is an option for their kids."

Guest speakers include college representatives and Native American camps. Everyone who completes the program gets a free, all expenses paid trip to tour the Oregon State University campus (which location?). They can bring their families along as well.

"Visiting OSU really gives them an idea of what college looks like and feels like and what is possible," said Suppah.

For information about upcoming workshops, call Suppah at 541-475-4292.

12-point check-ups at ECE

For the first time, the 12-Point Kid Inspections health and development project came to the Early Childhood Education Center.

This was an effort to identify and treat potential obstacles to learning before children enter kindergarten.

Healthy Beginnings partnered with the Oregon Community Foundation and ECE to offer these free health and developmental screenings.

During the 12-Point Kid Inspections, children aged 0 through 5 received assessments in the following:

Vision, hearing, dental, speech, motor, concepts, health, nutrition, behavior, infant/toddler or child development, and car seat safety assessments.

Children who were found to need help in any of these areas were referred to community partners offering the appropriate support, free of charge or for a nominal fee.

“The goal is for every child to start kindergarten developmentally ready to learn,” said Holly Remer, Healthy Beginnings executive director.

“The earlier we can diagnose

Eleven-month old Amaya with mom Alice Farias at one of the 12-point check stations.

and address potential health problems or developmental delays, the better chance children have of succeeding in school.”

The Warm Springs event was one of the 18 inspection screenings Healthy Beginnings has held in Central Oregon, with funding support from the Oregon Community Foundation.

Healthy Beginnings provides the most comprehensive assessment and referral service in the community, confirming the health and development of young children birth to age 5 at no cost to the family. Screenings are designed for all families and young children. Oregon Health Plan application assistance was also available.

Healthy Beginnings

Healthy Beginnings is a partner of the High Desert Education Service District, providing access to health and education and behavior services for young children and their families in Central Oregon.

The mission of the Oregon Community Foundation is to improve life in Oregon and promote effective philanthropy.

The foundation works with individuals, families, businesses and organizations to create charitable funds to support the community causes they care about.

Through these funds, OCF has awarded a total of $1 billion in grants and scholarships, with more than $80 million awarded in 2015 alone.

Round Dance at The Dalles

Everyone is invited to the Healing The Earth Unity Round Dance in The Dalles.

This will be hosted by Columbia River Indian Center. The free event will be on Saturday, October 22, from 1 p.m. to midnight.

The location is the Wahtonka Community School campus, 3601 W. Tenth St.

The event continues on Sunday, October 23, noon to 5 p.m. at the Columbia Gorge Discovery Center, 5000 Discovery Drive.

For more information, contact Lana Jack 541-965-1679. Or the Columbia Gorge Discovery Center at 541-296-8600 ext. 201. Or the website: gorgediscovery.org.

This event welcomes everyone who feels a connection to the healing spirit of the Columbia River and the ancient land which graces the river’s shore.

Partial schedule:

1 to 3 p.m. on Saturday will feature exhibition dancers, and presentation of a student built tipi.

4 p.m.: Opening Pipe Ceremony with elder Ken Awasis, Saskatchewan.

5 p.m. - Potluck and Friendship Feast.

Setback for Standing Rock Sioux

Anthony Anderson of Warm Springs took this photograph during the opposition to the DAPL in North Dakota. The photograph will be part of the Museum at Warm Springs Member Art Show.

The Standing Rock Sioux Tribe saw a setback in their effort to stop the controversial Dakota Access Pipeline.

A federal appeals court has ruled in favor of the developers of the pipeline, which would disturb land that is sacred to the tribe.

In a short order issued on Sunday evening, the D.C. Circuit Court of Appeals lifted an administrative injunction that had put a halt to construction in a key area of North Dakota.

The decision means the company can continue work in areas where the tribe has documented the presence of sacred sites and burial grounds.

But the court noted that Dakota Access has yet to secure approval for an extremely crucial portion of the project.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers still hasn’t issued an easement for the pipeline to build on federal land at Lake Oahe. Without that easement, no oil can flow under the Missouri River.

“A necessary easement still awaits government approval — a decision Corps’ counsel predicts is likely weeks away,” the two-page order stated.

The order was posted on the court’s online system right at 7 p.m. Eastern on Sunday night, just ahead of the Columbus Day federal holiday.

It marks yet another unusual event in the course of the closely-watched dispute and it comes just four days after a panel of three judges heard arguments on the tribe’s request for a more permanent hold on construction.

Despite the setback on that request, the tribe isn’t giving up. Chairman Dave Archambault has called the pipeline, which comes within a half-mile of the reservation, a threat to his people’s sovereignty and their future generations.

“The Standing Rock Sioux Tribe is not backing down from this fight,” Archambault said.

“We are guided by prayer, and we will continue to fight for our people. We will not rest until our lands, people, waters and sacred places are permanently protected from this destructive pipeline.”

Archambault attended the October 5 hearing, which went more than three times as long as scheduled, in Washington, D.C. The lack of the easement was among several major issues considered by the court, with one judge questioning why Dakota Access started building the $3.8 billion project without it.

Recovery Never Ends

Patty continues to advocate for people in recovery, and for those incarcerated. She is to be commended for her extraordinary work. She previously worked with Caroline Cruz and John Spence.

The Hands Across the Bridge mission is to build leadership in the recovery community by inspiring people to speak out on recovery related issues and challenge the stigma of addiction, one story at a time.

Many tribal people met that challenge at the Recovery Never Ends conference, as they shared testimony after testimony of the challenges they faced in recovery.

Burns Tribal Councilman Jarvis Kennedy shared his inspiring testimony of incarceration to Tribal Council.

During the breaks, Jennifer Russell and Edmund Francis, of Diabetes Prevention, did a fun exercise, and a ‘great outdoors mini hike’ with the participants.

Starla Green, of the Warm Springs Police Department, shared a powerpoint presentation on ‘DUIs in Warm Springs.’

Tribal Councilman Raymond Tsumpti Sr. welcomed the NARA visitors upon their arrival to HeHe at noon. It was great to have his support as an elder and Tribal Councilman. Other testimonies were from Marva and Michelle, NARA, Billy and Mona Cochran. Healing by Darlou Foster, Talking Fire Circle by Delson Suppah, and Bingo ended the conference.

The Guiding Butterflies and Mighty Warriors meet every Thursday (except the third Thursday) of the month at the Warm Springs Behavioral Health (previously Community Counseling).

Our mission statement is: Supporting one another to be addiction free, to build community by providing a judge-free environment. Using both traditional and educational teachings to grow spiritually and mentally.

We hope to make this an annual event with future management and financial support.

Human Resources hosts enrollment, benefits fair

Tribal Human Resources hosted the Open Enrollment and Benefits Fair last week.

This was for all Confederated Tribes employees and enterprise employees.

Departments and enterprises gave employees time to attend the fair, conducted all day October 6 at the Community Center.

Employees attended to learn more about local providers and insurance plans, and open enrollment for benefits. The health care providers and vendors were on hand to speak with some of the many tribal and enterprise employees.

Always a good time for learning

Jesse Gilbert graduated from Sherman Indian High School in Riverside in 1997. During his time there, he was able to visit all kinds of colleges.

And now he is a student at Central Oregon Community College, working toward a Master Automotive Technology Degree.

Jesse hopes eventually to own his own business. And he figures with a degree he has more options than people who have no degree.

There were a few obstacles in going to college, but he didn't let that stop him.

One of the more frustrating obstacles was the financial aid process with the tribes.

When he first graduated from high school, he had three acceptance letters from three different colleges. But because he did not attend Summer Bridge he was not eligible for help from Warm Springs.

His advice: Find out how the Confederated Tribes higher ed works. Jesse says he did not get much information when he was in high school, and wishes he had known more, but now he has the process figured out:

"My grandfather Pierson Mitchell told me to make college a priority, and do it while I was still young. Unfortunately, my lifestyle was leading me into bad choices, so I didn't do it while I was young.

"But my grandmother also inspired me, since she got her GED at the age of 60. So it's never too late to go get an education."

His advice to people thinking about going back to college? "Ask for help. There are many people who want to help you—you just have to ask. And stick with your plan. If you decide you want another degree, finish the one you're on. You can always go back to school."

Join Yvette Leecy and Jose Alvarez on Thursday, October 27 from 4-6 p.m. at the COCC Bend Campus. They will speak on their journey to the Sacred Stone Camp and the NO DAPL event. Pizza will be served. Questions? Call gina Ricketts at 541-318-3782.
