Paddle to Nisqually 2016

The N'Chi WanaPum Canoe Family arrived at the Port of Olympia North Point area on Saturday.

They joined more than 120 tribal canoe families for the landing of the Paddle to Nisqually 2016 Canoe Journey.

The landing, hosted by the Nisqually Tribe, was followed by the Medicine Creek Treaty and Protocols, lasting through the week.

The N'Chi Wanapum Family left from the Celilo area in mid July, paddled for several days, meeting up with other tribal canoe families along the way.

The Warm Springs Canoe Family was founded in 2010, and has made the Paddle Journeys most years since then. The Museum at Warm Springs is the host of the program.

This year the Family includes the pullers, dancers, drummers, singers, camp crews, elders and sponsors, organizers, cooks, drivers, and all who helped with the Journey. They are:

March Arthur, Daisy Begay, Douglas Brisbois, Darren Brisbois, Linda Clingan, Carlacia Dixon, Thaisa Dixon, Cassidy Dixon, Damean Frank, Donnell Frank, Alexys Gonzales, Jefferson Greene,

Fire leads to wider discussion at Council

The Rattlesnake Springs fire in late July burned across 9,235 acres of reservation land, including range land.

No structures were destroyed and no one was injured, but the consequences are still serious. The loss of grazing land, and the increase in non-native invasive weeds are two examples.

These and other issues came up at Tribal Council when Fire Management and Forestry gave their report on the Rattlesnake Springs fire.

Discussion included the cooperative agreement by which the tribes are reimbursed by the federal government for the cost of fighting fires that happen on the reservation.

Under investigation

The cause of the Rattlesnake Springs blaze was still under investigation this week. There is evidence that the blaze was human-caused.

A person can be held financially and criminally liable for causing a wildfire. This happened two years ago when a woman was sentenced to 18 months in prison for starting the Sunnyside Turnoff fire.

Meanwhile last month, about 250 fire fighters helped contain the Rattlesnake Springs blaze. There was air support—a helicopter and single-engine air tanker—through the Central Oregon Interagency Dispatch Center.

The blaze broke out on Sunday afternoon, July 24, in the area of Rattlesnake Springs, near a swimming hole at the Deschutes River.

Over the following days, the fire burned up to Webster Flat and the Culpus Bridge areas, near the Kah-Nee-Ta Golf Course. Some homes were threatened, but the fire crews were able to keep the flames away from the structures.

Still, residents were adversely affected: The fire burned across grazing land, including 360 acres that a resident was planning to use for his cattle later this summer.

All but 10 of the 360 acres were consumed, said Orvie Danzuka, of tribal Forestry. Danzuka and Trey Leonard, Fire Management Officer, updated the Tribal Council on the situation last week.

Berry trip to Meadows

Mt. Hood Meadows is hosting the 2016 Huckleberry Picking Day for the Confederated Tribes this Saturday, August 6.

The bus will leave at 8 a.m. from the Warm Springs community center. The bus can take up to 50 people. Additional pickers can drive up on your own.

Everyone must be signed up and complete a liability release form: Sign-up by stopping by or calling KWSO, 541-553-1968.

The bus will arrive at Mt. Hood Meadows around 9 a.m. for introductions, morning snack and berry picking.

There will be a shuttle to the main base area available mid-morning. Meadows will provide vouchers for lunch and Stadium Express lift rides.

Lunch will be at the main base area. There will be live music during lunch, with the shuttle returning to the picking areas after lunch.

The bus will leave Meadows for Warm Springs around 3 p.m. Bring baskets and buckets, good shows, a hat, and reusable beverage container.

Big setback for oil proposal

The Confederated Tribes have been long-standing opponents of an oil-by-rail project at the Columbia River. Now, the state of Washington Attorney General has stated his opposition. This is a serious setback for the proposed Vancouver Energy Project, proposed by Savage Companies and Tesoro Corp.

If built, the transfer facility would handle 360,000 barrels of crude oil daily from the Bakken Region of North Dakota. Once in Vancouver, the oil would be pumped from train cars into storage tanks.

From there, it would be loaded onto ships bound for West Coast ports.

The tribes have stated their opposition, as this would be a serious threat to the Columbia River fisheries, a treaty-protected resource of the tribes.

The potential for catastrophe was shown in dramatic fashion by the June 3 train derailment at Mosier. There was an explosion and an oil spill. Tribal Council members met at Mosier a few days later, stating the tribes opposition to the oil-by rail industry along the Columbia.

Tribes developing plan for timber co.

Tribal Council continues work on two separate aspects of the Warm Springs Forest Products Industries closure.

One aspect is to cut the losses from the WSFPI shut-down, and the other is to bring in revenue through a new tribal enterprise.

The membership can learn the details of both projects at a General Council meeting, currently set for Monday, August 22. The planned location is the Agency Longhouse.

The WSFPI receiver, and the business consultant for the new timber enterprise, are expected to be on hand to answer questions.

The receiver—administering the WSFPI tribal court receivership proceeding—is Ed Hostman. The business turnaround consultant is Clyde Hamstreet and Hamstreet & Associates.

Hostman and Hamstreet met with Tribal Council in July, each providing an update on their work on behalf of the tribes.

Some finished lumber products at the mill were sold, bringing in some revenue to the receivership, Hostman said. This is now in an escrow account until the situation with the WSFPI creditors is finalized.

WSFPI had up to 500 creditors, he said. All but a few were unsecured creditors, meaning there is no WSFPI asset that can be taken and sold to satisfy their claims.

The main secured creditors include the tribes, through Credit; and VanPort International, the former WSFPI partner that marketed the lumber.

There would appear to be no chance of re-opening the WSFPI mill, according to the report from Hamstreet & Associates. The equipment is for the most part obsolete, driven by old technology, Mr. Hamstreet said.

Meanwhile, the tribal timber resource is a valuable trust asset. The issue to be addressed is how to maximize the financial gain to the tribes from the sale of the timber.

The plan will involve hauling logs to off-reservation mills.

According to the Hamstreet & Associates report: Harvesting and selling delivered logs should be more profitable than selling standing timber.

Logging and delivery should be generally competitive with off-reservation rates, the report says. One consequence of this: The current allowable timber cut—31 million board feet per year—is not sufficient to employ five logging companies.

An advisory group will work on a fair resolution and report back to Tribal Council and the membership.

Summer work with Native Aspirations

The Warm Springs Native Aspirations Soaring for the Future work program has just a few more weeks to go.

Then school starts on September 7 for most students, and September 8 for the older high school and middle school students.

The Warm Springs Back to School barbecue is less than a month away: The barbecue happens early in September, usually the first Thursday of the month.

The summer youth work program this year brought many improvements to the community, with the students working through the summer heat on clean-up, building and natural resource projects.

Native Aspirations, hosted by tribla Health and Human Services, provided work and learning opportunities for you ages 14-18, and college students.

George Yazzie and the Native Aspirations work crew take care of the sidewalks on Hollywood Boulevard.

Prevention, Recreation hosting youth track meet

The Wings Invitational youth track meet is set for next Tuesday, August 9.

The meet will be at the Warm Springs Academy k-8 track. Sponsors are Warm Springs Prevention, and Recreation.

Pre-registration starts at 5:15, and the meet starts at 6 p.m. The divisions are 2-5 years; and 6-12 years; boys and girls.

Participants receive a t-shirt and water bottle.

Events include 50m, 100m, 200m and 400 m; long-jump and high jump, softball throw, t-ball throw, and 400 rally.

Jamboree Day next week

The Warm Springs Recreation Jamboree Day is coming up on Wednesday, August 10.

The Jamboree Day will be from 2-6 p.m. at the Community Center ball fields.

The Warm Springs Outdoor Market is every Friday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. next to the Re-Use It Thrift Store by the Warm Springs Market. Sacred Hoop, White Bison founder coming to W.S.

Warm Springs Health and Human Services and Community Counseling will welcome Don Coyhis and the Sacred Hoop to Warm Springs this Friday, August 5.

This Wellbriety Movement event will be from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. at the Community Center Social Hall. Lunch provided.

Mr. Coyhis, of the Mohican Nation, is the founder of White Bison Inc., an American Indian grass-roots non-profit organization based in Colorado Springs.

Sacred Hoop

The mission of the Sacred Hoop:

Healing individuals, families, communities and nations. Some background:

The Hoop was built in a sweat lodge in May of 1995.

Don Coyhis with the Sacred Hood.

In that year an Elders' gathering was held Wisconsin, providing prayers for the Hoop, and aligning its purpose to the coming healing time. The Elders placed the four gifts of Healing, Hope, Unity and Power to Forgive the Unforgivable into the Hoop.

When the Sacred Hoop comes to a community, the people gather for ceremonies and talks about living sober and healthy lives. The origin:

In Black Elk's vision, the Hoop of the World referred to the communities of Native people. In his vision he saw the Native people going through a long time of suffering, during which the hoop was broken.

And then he saw that the people would begin to heal. Elders have said we are in the time of healing. The Sacred Hoop is the symbol of that time of healing.

White Bison

White Bison and the Wellbriety movement provide culturally based healing—from addiction, abuse, and other trauma—to the next seven generations of Indigenous people.

On the Warm Springs Reservation, the Wellbriety Sons and Daughters of Tradition program led to creation of the Soaring Butterflies and Warrior Spirits student and youth programs.

The Warm Springs Tribal Court has a Wellbriety alternative to criminal court. And last year Community Counseling formed the adult groups Guiding Butterflies and Mighty Warriors.

Sarah Wolfe at the Counseling Center has been an advocate of the local Wellbriety movement. The tribes hosted a Wellbriety Celebrating Families! training earlier this year, the first such training on the reservation.

For more information on the upcoming visit, call Sarah at 541-553-3205; or email: sarah.wolfe@wstribe.org

Don Coyhis

Since founding White Bison 26 years ago, Mr. Coyhis has developed a series of culturally-based programs to address recovery and treatment, youth prevention, healthy families and healing from unresolved grief and traumatic loss due to inter-generational trauma.

These programs have been implemented throughout Indian Country in the U.S. and Canada. Mr. Coyhis was the 2009 winner of the Purpose Prize Award.

He has been called upon to provide technical assistance by national policy organizations such as the White House Office of Drug Control Policy, Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration, as well as other national recovery organizations.

Cowlitz win major court hearing

The BIA can place land in trust for the Cowlitz Tribe of Washington, the D.C. Circuit Court of Appeals ruled last week in a closely-watched gaming case.

By a unanimous vote, a three-judge panel of the court said the Cowlitz people were “under federal jurisdiction” in 1934 even though their formal government-to-government relationship wasn’t finalized by the BIA until 2000.

That means the tribe can follow the land-into-trust process.

Writing for the court, Judge Robert L. Wilkins said the BIA considered a slew of evidence before approving the tribe’s land-into-trust application. Failed treaty negotiations that led to the illegal taking of the tribe’s land and other actions are proof of federal status, he said.

“The Cowlitz refused to sign an 1855 land cession treaty proposed at the Chehalis River Treaty Council, whereby Governor Stevens of the Washington Territory and other federal agents sought to move the Cowlitz to a reservation on the Pacific Coast,” Wilkins wrote. “The Cowlitz resisted relocation and refused the treaty, but years later the

The casino will be the closest tribal gaming facility to Portland...

United States offered the Cowlitz’s land for sale to settlers without compensation anyway.

“As the district court explained, the fact that the government nevertheless took the Cowlitz land even after the tribe resisted the treaty corroborates that the government treated the Cowlitz as under its jurisdiction.”

The decision represents a strong rebuke to opponents of ilani, the tribe’s fast-rising casino in Clark County. Construction started earlier this year despite the lawsuit and the facility is due to open on April 17, 2017.

The casino will be the closest tribal gaming facility to Portland, and that’s one of the reasons why the Confederated Tribes of Grand Ronde have tried to stop the new development. The Grand Ronde operate the Spirit Mountain Casino about 90 miles from Oregon’s most populous city.

“The tribe continues to believe it is wrong for the Cowlitz to build a casino in Clark County, a region historically belonging to the tribes and bands of the Confederated Tribes of Grand Ronde,” Chairman Reyn Leno said in a statement on Friday. “We are reviewing the decision and are evaluating our next steps.”

Leno’s tribe could ask a larger panel of judges on the D.C. Circuit to rehear the case. Or the tribe could take the dispute to the U.S. Supreme Court—which is still down one member following the death of Justice Antonin Scalia in February.

Back in February 2009, the Supreme Court ruled that the BIA can only place land in trust for tribes that were “under federal jurisdiction” when the Indian Reorganization Act became law in 1934. But the Carieri v. Salazar decision did not define the exact meaning of that phrase.

That left an opening for the Obama administration to develop a two-part test that takes into account numerous factors to determine whether a particular tribe meets the test. A federal judge and now, the D.C. Circuit, have upheld the validity of the analysis with respect to the Cowlitz.

Location

A truck stop, casino etc. in that location, there is a strong fummy gassiness odor emitted by the company located next door and just up wind. The smelly odor is one reason I voted no on the Madras casino. The majority of tribal members exercised their sovereign rights and it was voted down by popular referendum. Now by recommendation by the Warm Springs Gaming board and management the truck and casino etc.

is going forward. Well there is already competition at the location. With the reeking smelly odor I question hospitality business in that location. Maybe more appropriate would be a manufacturing business, like use the buildings to make solar panels or some other up and coming business.

It is a sad time to me, like a death to see the mill shut down. We saw it coming. No profit for years. It was said by the ol' timers when the mill first opened the lumber was Warm Springs, good, one board sold for ten dollars. Now days ten boards sold for one dollar. Also at a mill meeting a GM under pressure said this month we made a profit for the tribes but next month that's not going to happen. And he was right. The WSPFI powerhouse has two electricity generating turbines, equipment that should not be sold out, and kept intact to generate heat and electricity for Composite. I would not want to see two enterprises go belly up on my watch. The benefits could be huge with many jobs created like getting hog fuel wood chips for the boilers to produce steam. Also maybe sell electricity to the power company like 15 years ago profiting ten thousand dollars per day, or just sell out the turbines for someone else to make ten thousand dollars per day. Awe-Na, Tony Littleleaf.

Extension garden advice

This time of year can be a challenge with your garden due to all of the hungry customers (insects) that feel like they should share in your hard work.

The question that quickly arises is how much can I donate to the bugs before I have to take action?

I always figure a little bit of damage is just our payment to Mother Nature. However, if the bugs are taking more than their fair share there are several options that you can take.

First, ask yourself if you want to remain organic or go ahead and blast them with a synthetic insecticide. There are several chemical sprays available, just be sure to check the label to be sure they are safe to use on vegetables and relatively bee safe.

If organic is your choice, than you need to take action sooner than later, as most organic insecticides work best when insect populations are low. A large infestation of insects is very difficult to control with most organic sprays.

Secondly, be certain to spray when bees are not present in your garden regardless if it is organic or inorganic insecticide. Experts agree that is either dawn or dusk.

Also, even if it is an organic spray, be sure to wear protective clothing and safety glasses to prevent exposure or injury.

If you are interested in learning more about protecting your garden from insects and weeds, OSU Extension is hosting a lunch and learn gardening class on Tuesday, August 9 at 12 p.m. in the basement of the Warm Springs Education building.

For more information, please check the Warm Springs Facebook page, stop by the OSU Extension office or give us a call at 541-553-3238.

Reunion

The Madras High School Class of 1980 is planning a reunion August 19-21 at Kah-Nee-Ta Resort. They are inviting other classes 1978, 1979, 1981 and 1982 to join them for dinner on Saturday evening, August 20. For more information contact Rose Earl Galloway at 503-407-2916.

At the County Fair

Josh and Mary Olney with the pigs they raised for the county fair.

Many young people from Warm Springs entered live-stock—beef, swine and goats—in the Jefferson County Fair.

Hunter Onstad entered in the beef category, with a 1,024-pound steer called Juju.

Jeremiah, Gabi and Shawntana Smith raised Boer goats, earning fair awards for their work. Hayden and Dylan Heath also raised goats for the fair. They are with the Lyle Gap 4-H.

All the youth are with the Lyle Gap 4-H Club.

Mary and Josh Olney raised pigs on. They’ve been with the 4-H Club for three years. They learned how to inspect the animals, give them vaccines, and keep them healthy and cool in the hot weather.

Mary is going into the tenth grade next year. She plans to join the FFA, and wants to raise a sheep next year.

Josh is going into the eighth grade in the fall. He wants to raise a goat for next year’s fair.

Hayden Heath raised a goat for the county fair. He and his brother Dylan are in the Lyle Gap 4-H.

The Smiths raised Boer goats, earning blue ribbons.

Wild Colt Race clinic on Saturday

Native Aspirations and the Warm Springs Youth Council will host a Wild Colt Race Clinic this Saturday, August 6, at the Simnasho grounds.

This is for youth ages 7-19. The clinic will be from 12 noon to 5 p.m.

Guest speakers include Buck

Smith and Soloman Stewart.

Prize money of $100 will go to the first-place winner.

The clinic is put on by Pretty tuff unicorns: Jaylyn Bagley, Kali Walker, Loraija Miller, Michael Saludo, Jeremy Killsfirst, Colton Reese, Shelliann Jim and Nathan Brown.

There will be a barbecue, and a jack pot colt race (bring your own gear).

This is a drug- and alcohol free event. Bring your own chairs and gear (halter, shank rope, horse and race saddle) if you have some.

Crafting Pathways in Warm Springs

The Crafting Pathways classes are coming up this month and in September.

The Wednesday, August 10 Crafting Pathways will feature guest speaker Andy Leonard, adolescent aftercare specialist, and certified recovery mentor.

This class will also feature a presentation of the movie A Girl Like Her.

Andy will speak on bullying and its life-lasting consequences; realities of suicide and methods of suicide prevention.

The classes are held in the Family Resource Center from 2 to 3:30 p.m. For more information contact Janet Bissell or Arlena Walsey, 541-553-2460.

The September 14 Crafting Pathways will feature speaker Shawnetta Yahtin, Warm Springs medical social worker. She will be providing information on healthy relationships, healthy forms of communication, and history cycle breaking.

Rattlesnake fire: discussion at Tribal Council

A question was whether there is a program that can provide some relief to the individual whose grazing acreage was burned. In the past the OSU Extension program has provided some help, said Bodie Shaw, acting BIA superintendent for the Warm Springs Agency.

Extension Agent Scott Duggan said he would look into the potential programs—such as through the Department of Agriculture—that may be available.

Invasive species

Trey Leonard brought up the subject of invasive weeds such as cheatgrass and medusa head. Both of these are non-native plants brought here decades ago from Europe.

When a fire burns across rangeland on the reservation, Leonard said, the result often is an invasion by the non-native species. The native plants such as bunch grass lose habitat.

“Medusa head and cheatgrass take over each time we have a fire,” Leonard said. The BLM has a successful program of planting bunch grass following fires, he added.

The tribes could implement a similar program, and Leonard said he would be in contact with the BLM regarding their program.

Rattlesnake Springs fire near Kah-Nee-Ta.

Reimbursement

The federal government is responsible for the cost of fighting wildfires that happen on federal land, or trust land in the case of the reservation.

Through a self-governance compact with Department of the Interior, the tribes’ Fire Management teams will respond to the fire. Invoices for the costs—personnel, equipment, etc.—are then submitted to the federal government for reimbursement through a fire suppression account.

This issue came up at Council last week, as the fire reimbursement agreement between the tribes and the federal government had expired on June 30, following a two-year extension of the earlier agreement.

The matter was then quickly addressed, with the parties agreeing to the terms of a renewed agreement.

Pets program for W.S.

The Bend Spay and Neuter Project is partnering with the Warm Springs community to provide services to pet owners on the reservation.

There are also training opportunities, ideal for any person who is interested in becoming a veterinarian. There are also opportunities for any person who might have community service hours to complete.

Volunteers are also welcome. For more information, contact Arlissa White, office manager at Housing, 541-553-3250.

The tribal Housing Authority and the Spay and Neuter Project on Tuesday of this week hosted a introductory meeting to the program.

Meanwhile, on the first Tuesday of each month beginning September 6, there will be spay and neuter clinics in Warm Springs. These will be free to people who live on the reservation.

The location of these clinics will be at the Warm Springs Housing-

Community Building, 2776 Quail Trail-Greeley Heights.

Check-ins will start at 7:30. Appointments are first-come first-serve, with up to 30 appointments available.

Your dog’s free appointment will include:

Spay and neuter surgery (no additional charge for in-heat, pregnant or dogs with retained testicles); pain injection, anesthesia, monitoring post surgery, pre-surgical exam, and rabies vaccination if needed.

A few of the benefits to having your pet spayed or neutered:

Prevention of accidental litters of puppies; your dog will be healthier and this will help them live longer.

It will make your dog easier to train, and help avoid unwanted behaviors; and your dog will stop running away from home.

This program presented by Bend Spay and Neuter Project and The Daisy Fund.

New CRITFC chair

Yakama Nation leader Patrick Luke is the new chairman of the Columbia River Inter-Tribal Fish Commission.

Mr. Luke was selected by his peers from the Warm Springs, Yakama, Nez Perce, and Umatilla tribes this summer to lead CRITFC.

Mr. Luke brings a rich combination of real-life experience and knowledge of tribal treaty rights, fishery and biological understanding, and traditional wisdom.

Courtesy CRITFC

Patrick Luke sworn in as CRITFC chair,

He grew up around the tribal natural resources, fishing, hunting and gathering traditional foods throughout the Columbia River.

During his childhood, the family fished for salmon and steelhead from scaffolds and boat set nets on the Columbia River. They also gaffed for salmon, and harvested lamprey in many Columbia River tributaries.

A member of the Yakama Nation’s Tribal Council, Mr. Luke is a strong advocate for treaty fishing rights, salmon, and lamprey.

His experience and education has taken him around the world: After high school, Luke enlisted in the U.S. Marine Corps. Upon completion of his service, he moved to Alaska for more than a decade, living his dream of commercial fishing, crabbing and fishing for salmon.

In 2000, Mr. Luke took advantage of the Department of Veterans Affairs Vocational Rehabilitation Chapter 31 Disabled Veterans Program: Through the program, he enrolled at Blue Mountain Community College, and graduated with an Associates of Science Degree.

He then transferred to the Oregon State University Fisheries and Wildlife Program. After graduating from OSU in 2007, Mr. Luke returned to the Yakama Reservation and began working at the Klickitat Salmon Hatchery.

He helped develop the first ever Pacific Lamprey Restoration Project Manager position for the Yakama Nation Fisheries Program. He was elected to the Yakama Nation Tribal Council in 2014.

“My vision for the future of Columbia River fisheries is to work towards the restoration of salmon, steelhead, lamprey, suckers, and sturgeon using a well-rounded approach,” said Luke.

“If the region is going to return these populations to their historical numbers, we need to diversify our restoration efforts, and ask ourselves questions like ‘What does a complete lamprey restoration program look like in the Columbia River Basin?’

“Or ‘How can we work with the region to modernize the Columbia River Treaty, improve water quality and flow in our rivers and streams and restore habitat?’

Proclamation of the Twenty-Seventh Tribal Council

The following is Tribal Council Resolution No. 12,195, adopted as the guiding principals of the Twenty-Seventh Tribal Council of the Confederated Tribes of Warm Springs

Whereas the people of the Confederated Tribes of the Warm Springs Indian Reservation hold ultimate sovereignty over themselves, the Warm Springs Reservation, and traditional use places wherever located; and,

Whereas the Tribal Constitution adopted by the people established an 11-member Tribal Council to govern the Tribe, and delegates to the Tribal Council certain enumerated powers of the people; and,

Whereas it is the duty of the Tribal Council to govern for the tribal people's benefit the lands and resources on and off-reservation; and,

Whereas the people of the Confederated Tribes of Warm Springs maintain their inherent and inalienable right to self-determination, self-government and permanent sovereignty over their lands, territories and resources; and,

Whereas the people have expressed the desire to continue the preservation, protection and enhancement of their culture, languages, traditions, beliefs and values, and stewardship practices of lands, territories and resources; and,

Whereas the people have expressed the need for greater opportunity through development of revenue-generating economic initiatives and the creation of jobs and modernization of the reservation's technology and infrastructure; and,

Whereas the people have expressed the need for more effective educational institutions, programs, and policies that ensure access of tribal students to education about tribal government, culture and languages and support for higher education and vocational training; and,

Whereas the people have expressed the need for the tribal government to provide better support for its members through healthcare, housing, elimination of substance abuse, support of families and improved community safety; and,

Whereas the people have the need and have expressed the desire to be served by a more efficient, effective and accountable leadership and government that takes timely action, communicates both internally and externally, reviews and reports on its performance, sets long-term direction and strategies, and reduces bureaucracy; and,

Whereas the Tribal

Council and the people understand that all listed priorities are important, and that the tribal government will maximize opportunities for benefits when they arise; and,

Whereas the Twenty-Seventh Tribal Council recognizes and supports the people's desire for improvements in the areas described and is committed to provide the leadership required to accomplish these goals; and,

Whereas the Twenty-Seventh Tribal Council also recognizes that in order to grow our economy, our government and enterprises must provide business opportunities that will build the skills and capacity of tribal membership to contribute to the long term sustainability of employment and business growth; and,

Whereas the Twenty-Seventh Tribal Council pledges to work with the community, families, and employees to advance the following priorities for the greater good of the people with the help and input of the community; now, therefore,

Be it resolved by the Twenty-Seventh Tribal Council of the Confederated Tribes of the Warm Springs Reservation of Oregon, pursuant to the Tribal Constitution and By-Laws of the Confederated Tribes of the Warm Springs Reservation of Oregon, Article V, Section 1, commit and agree to prioritize the use of tribal resources as follows:

1. Budget and Revenue

The Tribal Council shall annually develop, review and approve a balanced Tribal budget for each fiscal year in order to promote and maintain the financial sustainability and integrity of the Tribe.

The Tribal Council shall develop a 5-year economic development plan to replenish and rebuild the Tribe's revenue reserve, per capita, and senior reserve funds to sustainable levels over time.

The Tribal Council shall institute a Tribal nonprofit and effective grant administration system (income, procurement, contract support, compliance and results) as the means to leverage additional funds in the areas of education, culture, youth, elders and infrastructure improvements.

2. Education

The Tribal Council shall develop, review and approve a plan to restructure and build the Tribe's education program in order to meet the educational goals and needs of its members including traditional, non-traditional students and those wishing to pursue vocational opportunities.

The plan shall include expanding Tribal higher education scholarships, improved vocational training and workforce development programs, and the development of internships, fellowships, apprenticeships, youth employment and career development.

The Tribal Council shall ensure implementation of language and cultural curriculum in schools that serve tribal students in both Jefferson and Wasco County school districts.

The Tribal Council shall ensure that a review of the Treaty and state/federal laws related to education is conducted to ensure compliance and incorporate this information into any program development, re-organization efforts or agreements with educational institutions and governing bodies that serve tribal students.

3. Enterprise accountability

The Tribal Council shall require that each Tribal enterprise develop a one-, five-, and ten-year plan and pro forma and have an annual business plan for its operation.

The Tribal Council shall require that each Tribal enterprise report quarterly on performance and profitability to the Council and at least semi-annually to the membership of the Tribe.

The Tribal Council will ensure that a uniform reporting process for annual reports is developed and communicated to tribal enterprises in order to ensure consistent reporting.

4. Health care

The Tribal Council shall develop, review and approve a plan to improve health care service delivery, funding and performance subject to annual review and evaluation by the Tribal Council.

The Tribal Council shall ensure that the Tribe recovers all billable costs for health care services provided.

5. Protection of assets

The Tribal Council affirms that the 1855 Treaty is the founding document that establishes the government-to-government relationship between the Tribe and the United States government and outlines the Federal trust obligations.

The Tribal Council shall work to preserve, enhance and utilize the Tribe's natural, cultural and sacred Treaty resources and sovereign rights consistent with the United States trust obligations.

The Tribal Council shall develop a plan and strategy to ensure that the Tribe is protecting its interests in the U.S. v Oregon Management Plan, the Columbia Basin Fish Accords, and the Columbia River Treaty.

The Tribal Council shall develop a specific legal, political and support strategy for nullifying the 1865 Treaty.

6. Our People

The Tribal Council shall ensure environments that provide the support necessary for healthy development of individuals and families at all stages of life including adequate housing, healthcare, education, employment, safety and security.

The Tribal Council shall ensure opportunities for youth that are culturally and community based and includes but is not limited to leadership development, arts and technology, business and recreation.

The Tribal Council shall ensure that one of our most valuable assets, our children, have the opportunity to be raised amongst our community and culture by building healthy families and when necessary, ensure that the provisions of the Indian Child Welfare Act (ICWA) are implemented by the tribal government and other partner agencies.

7. Infrastructure, economic development and comprehensive planning

The Tribal Council shall review the 1999 People's Plan and assess what has been accomplished and engage the membership in an update of that comprehensive plan with an expanded emphasis on the economic development strategy necessary to achieve the goals and objectives established by the membership.

Tribal Council shall direct the executive staff to develop a funding plan to achieve the review and the updating of the 1999 People's Plan.

The Tribal Council shall ensure the review and refinement of current infrastructure plans and identification of funding sources to move towards implementation of defined actions.

The Tribal Council shall ensure that opportunities for renewable energy and energy efficiency are investigated with the goal of reducing energy costs for both homes and government facilities.

Tribal Council shall ensure that the trust mismanagement claims for facilities and infrastructure are met by Federal agencies responsible.

8. Tribal member employment

The Tribal Council shall determine the professional and training development needs of the tribal organization and employees and develop a plan to meet those needs.

The plans will be made to ensure that they are in compliance with Tribal Resolutions 8363 and 8363A for Tribal employment preference.

9. Housing

The Tribal Council shall initiate a conversation with Tribal membership to assess the housing needs of families and single adults so that Tribal members have the opportunity for independence and healthy homes in the districts that they choose.

The Tribal Council shall review the Housing Code and other relevant codes to ensure they meet the development and housing needs of the community.

10. Community safety and security

The Tribal Council shall review any current safety plans and assess what improvements may be needed to address the community needs to ensure the safety and security of its members.

These plans will address prescription and illicit drug abuse, alcohol, and gang prevention. These plans will include community policing, public safety satellite offices, creation of improved relations and creating opportunities for youth and elders.

The Tribal Council shall reassert with the Bureau of Indian Affairs, Department of Interior, and the Department of Justice their trust obligations to provide safe facilities for incarcerated adults and juveniles.

11. Communications

The Tribal Council shall develop, review and approve a strategic communication plan and processes to improve internal and external communications and communication with Tribal members.

The Tribal Council shall hold quarterly meetings with the membership and improve Tribal member access to information and Tribal Council actions.

The Tribal Council shall review Tribal Codes to address any discrepancies and ensure that all codes are updated and communicated within the tribal government and to the public.

12. Tribal Council and administration operations

The Tribal Council shall improve the operational efficiencies and effectiveness of the Tribal Council, enterprises and administration by annually reviewing the organizational structure, Corporate Charter and Constitution and By-laws and by developing policies and procedures that are clear, transparent and followed. All organization and enterprise efforts will be consistent with approved budgets.

The Tribal Council shall review and adopt policies and procedures for day-to-day operations of the Tribal Council. These policies shall be communicated to the membership.

Community Center Social Hall

Don Coyhis, Mohican Nation, is the President and Founder of White Bison, Inc., an American Indian non-profit organization, located in Colorado Springs, CO. Don originally set out to raise awareness and treat alcoholism among Indian youth on the reservations. After studying the underlying causes of alcoholism, White Bison's mission expanded to include drug addiction, dysfunctional families and relationships, as well as the American Indian suicide rate. From this, the Wellbriety Movement was born. The teachings of Wellbriety go beyond being sober to include thriving in the community and being balanced emotionally, mentally, physical and spiritually. Over the past 26 years, Don has developed a series of culturally-based programs to address recovery and treatment, youth prevention and treatment, programs for healthy families, and healing from unresolved grief and traumatic loss due to intergenerational trauma. These programs are designed help with all facets of family healing and have been implemented throughout the United States and Canada. Don Coyhis was the 2009 winner of the Purpose Prize Award, which was created in 2005 by En-core.org. He has been called upon to provide technical assistance by national policy organizations such as the White House Office of Drug Control Policy, Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA), as well as other national recovery organizations to develop prevention and recovery programs for Native American/Alaska Native communities. Don has dedicated his life to raising awareness about all issues surrounding alcohol and drug abuse, how it impacts the family system, and most importantly how families and communities can heal from these issues.

Football camps

Madras High School fall football camps are set for Monday through Friday, August 8-12. The camps are from 5 to 7 p.m., starting in the weight room.

The high school camp is open to students in grades 9 through 12. Mandatory practice begins August 15, from 4 to 8 p.m.

All players must have a current physical, and be signed up to be able to practice.

Meanwhile, a youth camp is coming up Tuesday through Thursday, August 9-11, from 9 to 11 a.m. This camp is for youth in grades 4 through 8. Cost is $35 and includes a team t-shirt.

For more information contact the head coach, Coach Taylor, at 503-312-9680; or email: ktaylor3223@gmail.com

Or the assistant coach/defensive coordinator, Coach Shaw at 541-390-9098; or email: jshaw@509j.net

Warm Springs IHS is seeing students for sports physicals on Friday, August 5 and September 2. They will be done from 1-5 p.m., first come first serve.
