Plateau Travel Plaza construction begins

Indian Head Casino and the Confederated Tribes on Friday officially marked the start of construction of the Plateau Travel Plaza.

The Travel Plaza will be located on Cherry Lane, just off Highway 26 at the Madras Industrial Park, featuring the 13,500-square-foot main building. There will be a convenience store, restaurant with seating for 70 people, a few class II gaming machines, shower and laundry facilities, the gas pumps and diesel for the larger vehicles.

The 10-acre site will include parking space for up to 70 semi trucks, said Jeffrey Carstensen, Indian Head Casino general manager.

When in operation the truck stop will create 30 to 40 new jobs, Mr. Carstensen said. As with the casino, the tribal member hiring preference will apply, he said. Indian Head Casino is also working with the Warm Springs TERO during the construction phase.

The plan is for the Travel Plaza to open next spring, Carstensen said. So far, the project has been three years in making. The initial phase was the feasibility study, showing the Travel Plaza to be a promising business venture.

The gaming board and Tribal Council then gave their approval, and BBT Architects of Bend developed the design.

Approvals from the city of Madras, and development of the construction finance plan were the next steps, requiring careful attention.

The name for the Plateau Travel Plaza was chosen earlier this year during a naming contest, with Anthony Anderson submitting the winning proposal.

For the ceremonial ground-breaking at the Plateau Travel Plaza building site, tribal leaders were joined by city of Madras and construction company officials.

Featured events for solar eclipse

Warm Springs will host a three-day music and arts festival during the weekend and Monday of the August 21 solar eclipse.

Indian Head Casino will feature live music from local, regional and national Native American artists. And the Museum at Warm Springs will host the Artists Village.

Among the performers at the casino will be Kelly Jackson, Arlie Neskahi and Charles Littleleaf.

Kelly Jackson, member of the Lake du Flambeau Band of Lake Superior Chippewa Indians, is a Native American Music Award winning singer, songwriter, musician and activist.

Arlie Neskahi of the Diné Nation—award-winning composer, musician and recording artist—is the host of Wisdom of the Elders.

Charles Littleleaf of Warm Springs is a celebrated Native American flutist and traditional flute maker.

Jackson will be the featured musician at Indian Head Casino on Saturday, August 19.

Neskahi will be the featured musician on Sunday, August 20. And Mr. Littleleaf will play on the Monday of the eclipse.

Meanwhile during the weekend, the Museum At Warm Springs will host the Artists Village, featuring Native American artisans showcasing their unique and varied works. Among the works on display will be those Lillian Pitt and Mr. Littleleaf.

Elsewhere on the reservation on August 21:

Warm Springs Ventures will partner with NASA on a unique science experience for students from Warm Springs and around the Northwest.

The NASA-tribal plan is to launch helium balloons before the eclipse. The balloons, equipped with cameras aimed at the earth, will travel as far as the edge of outer space.

The cameras can then capture images as the shadow of the moon passes over the state.

Tower facility handles many downstream fish

The snowpack from last winter, and rainfall this spring are bringing a strong water flow to the Deschutes River and tributaries. This is good for downstream migrating fish, as can be seen at the Round Butte hydro fish facility.

The month of March last year saw 7,000 fish pass through the facility, compared to 70,000 this March, said Rich Madden, PGE fisheries biologist. Round Butte fisheries technicians handled 100,000 fish during the first ten days of April, Madden said.

Tribal Council Chairman Austin Greene Jr. and Councilman Raymond Tsumpti last week toured the facility, and the selective water withdrawal tower, seeing the operation first-hand during the high point of the spring run.

Power and Water general manager Jim Manion, Branch of Natural Resources general manager Bobby Brunoe, and Secretary-Treasurer Michele Stacona were on hand for the tour, with members from the Columbia River Inter-Tribal Fish Commission.

The Confederated Tribes and PGE are co-owners of the Pelton-Round Butte hydro dams and the $100-million selective water withdrawal tower, paid for jointly by the parties.

The new powerhouse intake went into operation in 2010, after the tribes and PGE negotiated a new long-term Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC) license for the three dam complex.

Round Butte is the largest earthen dam within the state of Oregon. Pelton is a concrete dam. The third dam in the series is the Re-Reg, wholly owned by the tribes.

PGE built the Pelton and Round Butte dams in the 1950s and '60s, with an initial design that envisioned fish passage, including what was the longest fish ladder in the U.S.

The Warm Springs Veterans of Foreign Wars, Ladies Auxiliary and American Legion on Saturday hosted the Welcome Home Vietnam Veterans Parade. The parade was from the war memorial area by the courthouse, to the Agency Longhouse. The American Legion Riders (above) joined the parade.

Graduation marks unique accomplishment

Krysten Heath-Saldaña has an inspiring story, one of working through challenges and accomplishing her goals.

“As one of my goals,” Krysten was saying the other day, “I would love to be a role model for the students at the Warm Springs Academy—to show them that a person from here can accomplish this.”

Krysten is the first tribal member to complete the George Fox University teaching program called ‘Grow Your Own.’ The program encourages local people to become the teachers in their own community.

Krysten now has her Bachelor’s degree in Elementary Education, and will soon get her Oregon teaching license.

The George Fox University ‘Grow Your Own’ program is in partnership with the Jefferson County School District. The students work part-time at the school while also taking classes.

For the course work the instructor comes to Madras twice a week, and some work is done online. The two-year program is rare in that the students are paid while working through the requirements.

Krysten completed the program this month with Highest Honors, maintaining straight A’s throughout the course.

Through dedication she was able to work at the school, keep her grades at the highest level, all while raising her 5-year-old daughter Keira, a kindergartner at the Academy.

Krysten also has her own home in Warm Springs, a car and all the usual bills and obligations. “It’s been a lot of work, but it’s been worth it,” Krysten says.

There are many people to thank for their support during these past two years, she says. These include her family, especially mom Heather Alford and dad Edward Heath; Principal Parshall and the assistant principals, teachers and other staff at the Academy.

“Especially the students,” Krysten says. “They have been very supportive. They are amazing kids, very smart. They’ve been my best teachers.”

The Confederated Tribes, and Carol Dick at Higher Education were a great help with the financial part of her education.

Growing up, Krysten went to elementary school in Warm Springs, then to the Jefferson County Middle School, and graduated from Madras High School in 2010.

She started at Central Oregon Community College with the idea of becoming a nurse. She then moved away for a while, came back to Warm Springs and applied for the George Fox program.

“I was thinking, ‘If I get accepted, then this is what I’m meant to do,’” Krysten says.

Now with her Teaching degree she hopes to become a full-time teacher.

“I want a job where I can impact the future,” she says. “I want my students to love school, to have the lives that make them happy, to accomplish their goals.”

Hatfield Fellowship

Robert Ahern will travel to Ottawa, Canada as part of his tenure with the 2016-27 Hatfield Fellowship. This will be a chance to learn how the Canadian legal and political system differs from those of the U.S.

Through the Fellowship, sponsored by the Spirit Mountain Community Fund, Robert is working in the Washington, D.C., office of Rep. Earl Blumenauer. The focus is on Native American issues pending in Congress.

Robert Ahern

As he was intown, Robert gave an update on the program last week at Tribal Council. Robert is a graduate of Madras High and Pacific University. His parents are Fran and Judge Dan Ahern.

Eclipse: moves west to east

The August 21 eclipse will begin in the morning in the Pacific Ocean. At this initial point in the ocean, viewers (such as those on a ship) would actually see the sun rise while totally eclipsed.

After this, the eclipse shadow will move from northwest to southeast, reaching the Oregon Coast just near Newport.

The path then continues across the country, northwest to southeast, passing over South Carolina and then into the Atlantic Ocean.

As the shadow passes over the Warm Springs Reservation, the eclipse totality will last a little over two minutes.

The shadow moves fast, at about 400 miles per second, crossing the U.S. in about an hour and a half. For a summary of some of the local events August 19-21, visit the Indian Head Casino website: indianheadgaming.com

Tower: allows for mixing of cooler and warmer water

The design wasn’t successful, and fish passage was blocked above the dams. FERC re-licensing in the late 1990s was the opportunity to try and address fisheries above the dams.

A major problem was that fish migrating downstream from above the dams could not find the actual downstream current through Lake Billy Chinook.

The selective water withdrawal tower helps create a surface current in the lake; so the downstream migrating fish can find the fish facility, where they are marked and then trucked downstream past the dams.

The facility operators have also implemented a change in the operation at the Round Butte powerhouse: they are releasing water through the turbines at night, when mi-

Dave McMechan/Spilyay

Touring the fish tower were PGE biologist Rich Madden, Secretary-Treasurer Michele Stacona, Natural Resources general manager Bobby Brunoe, Umatilla Fish and Wildlife Committee member and CRITFC commissioner Bud Herrera, Warm Springs Fish and Wildlife Committee member and CRITFC commissioner Emerson Squiemphen, Councilman Raymond Tsumpti, Power and Water general manager Jim Manion, Sara Thompson of CRITFC, PGE water manager Megan Hill, and Council Chairman Austin Greene Jr. (from left) grating smolts like to move, instead of during the daytime.

Another aspect of the selective water withdrawal tower has to do with downstream water temperatures.

Water temperature

The cooler water in the lake is at the bottom, and the warmer at the top. The tower allows the project managers to mix the water as it’s released through dam. The intent is to match what would be the natural temperature downstream during various times of year.

There is opposition to this aspect of the project, while PGE and the tribes, along with resource agencies responsible for the ecosystem above and below the dams, are working to address any potential challenges, Jim Manion said.

Elder Council

Many members have learned to honor and respect our elders. This has been a long standing tradition in the Confederated Tribes of Warm Springs. With the goal of carrying on this tradition the following group of elders have created the Confederated Tribes of Warm Springs Elder Council.

The Warm Springs Nation has never had an independent Elder Council. These elders have adopted a Constitution and Bylaws on April 6, 2017, and appointed the following interim officers: President-Administrator, Mike Clements; vice president Sal Sahme Sr.; Secretary, Winona Strong; and treasurer Geraldine Jim. Other board members are Grant Clements Sr., Uren Leonard and Eliza Jim. They will serve until the first election at the first annual meeting planned for December 2017.

The traditional role and authority of our elders comes from our inherent sovereignty. We received this from the law given by the Creator and our Mother Earth. Our sovereignty declaration states: “Our people only delegated limited authority to the Tribal Council and reserved the rest of our national sovereignty to ourselves.”

The purpose of the Elder Council is to reinstitute the traditional role and responsibility of elders in our modern society.

The CTWS Elder Council goals are:

A traditional rose, voice and value to our leadership and CTWS members.

To consult, advise and share our knowledge.

Host a formal honor ceremony including a banquet with excellence awards for elder contributions and achievements in behalf of our people, for example, Living Treasures of the CTWS Nation Awards.

Call to action when necessary.

These are starting goals and they will be updated as the organization moves forward. We give our devotion, time and energy to the outcomes stated in the Constitution and Bylaws of the Confederated Tribes of Warm Springs Elder Council.

Mike Clements

For Pageant

Congratulations and thank you to Carol Sahme and Norene Sampson for a job well done regarding the Lil Miss Warm Springs Pageant, April 12.

You really worked hard to see that all contestants understood what you were asking of them.

And all the contestants understood, answered and performed—their culture and traditions—and they did it very beautifully.

You both are to be commended for all your hard work and dedication, following through with all your expectations and carrying the contestants through this performance.

Thank you for the special recognition you presented to us. We were overwhelmed and delighted. Keep up the great work. Love and God bless,

Seeking items for Relay for Life silent auction

‘You’ve Got Cancer’ are the scariest words you can hear from your doctor.

This year, hundreds of people will hear those exact words, and there is a good chance it could be someone you know, someone you are close to.

We have all been touched by cancer in some way... and we all have the power to make a difference.

The Relay for Life is a 24-hour walking and running team event, held in July at the Jefferson County Fairgrounds.

The goal of the event is to raise money to fight the battle against cancer.

While participants are not walking or running, they are camping, enjoying music, entertainment and food.

Another important aspect of the Relay for Life is to focus on those that have battled cancer, honor those that have lost the battle, and celebrate with those that have survived.

We need your support as we motivate several hundreds of participants during the event.

At the Relay for Life, July 15-16, we will hold a silent auction, which has been another fantastic way to raise money during the event.

All the proceeds of the silent auction go to the American Cancer Society to help with cancer research, education and advocacy.

We also see local benefits through the gas card program, and other programs offered at the Redmond Cancer Center.

We are now gathering Silent Auction items, and would appreciate your donation of items to be auctioned the day of the event.

During the Relay for Life, we will make sure to recognize your company for any donations you make.

Thank you again for your help and support. Please contact Teri Drew 541-419-8097 or email: teri2drew@hotmail.com

Words of advice in managing diabetes

Richard 'Kuks Animal' Tohet recommends trying to be active, especially for those who have diabetes. Here are some suggestions Kuks makes for others who are managing their diabetes:

- Get your circulation going.

“Before going to sleep and when waking up, move hands and legs while still in bed to help get circulation going. If I do not do this my hand and leg cramp up. I have an amputation and if I do not get my circulation going I will have more phantom pain in my ankles and toes that are not there.

“Getting my circulation going also helps my heart. Moving my hands and legs stops heartburn that goes from my breast bone to my left chest, over my heart.”
- Drink lots of water.

“I think it helps to keep my

- blood sugar levels down.
- “I probably drink one gallon of water every day and three cups of coffee or tea without sugar.”
- Get exercise.

“I started walking again. I have my mark by the driveway at the one-half mile out, and walk there

- and back. I will increase this to three-quarters of a mile out, and walk there and back.”
- Pay attention to your skin.

“If you have an injury to your foot or hand, get it checked out right away. I have had diabetes since 1986. I did well until I stepped on a nail.”
- Go easy on salt. “I had to give up some use of salt.”
- Let your family help you.

“My family is very supportive, making sure I take my insulin, medications and making something for me to eat. They come home at the noon hour to be sure I have eaten something. I feel very fortunate to have their support.”

Runner to compete Down Under

My name is Tyler Anderson. I am 17 years old, and a Junior at Madras Senior High, where I run cross country.

I am enrolled member of Confederated Tribes of Warm Springs.

I was invited to run cross country in Australia. I will be representing Team Oregon.

I was originally chosen based on my 5k times at school for cross country. This past cross country season I had a goal for Districts.

My goal was to place in the top five. I placed first! I then ran at State.

I had a goal for state as well, and that was to place in the top 10. I finished the race in eighth place.

I still have a balance of about $3,500 left to raise to cover my flights and lodging. In addition to this I am also trying to raise spending money.

Tyler Anderson running for the White Buffalos.

I will be doing various fundraisers and collecting cans.

You can also donate directly to Down Under Sports. Just go to Down Under Sports web page: downundersports.com

Click on “cross country,” then on “payment” and follow link.

Then fill in your payment information and enter “Tyler Anderson” as the person who the payment is for. It will go directly to my remaining balance.

I also accept donations and pay it towards my account.

I want to thank everyone who has helped this far in any way. I really appreciate it.

These are memories I will have forever.

Any further questions or donations can contact me through text at 541-362-6984 or my mom Angela Sanders at 541-460-0790. Thank you again!

Team effort with Lil Miss Warm Springs Pageant

The last Lil Miss Warm Springs was held in 2007. The past queens were (3-4 years) Queen Katrina Blackwolf, Princess Kathryse Danzuka, (5-6 years) Queen Krystyn Calica and Princess Wynema Wolfe, (7-9 years) Queen Keyanna Yellowman Princess Soraya Mendez, (10-12 years) Queen Elyse Bagley with Princess Katie Mae Smith, (13-17 years) Queen Tashina Clements with Princess Rosey Suppah.

Carol Allison—with the help of Arlene Boileau, Geraldine Jim, atwai beloved Lucinda Green and Bernice Mitchell, Matilda Mitchell, Sylvia Wallulatum, Hilda Culpus, Marianne Culpus and Caroline Tohet—began the program in 1982 with the Recreation Department.

They were inspired to begin the program out of concern that our youth were adopting other nation’s cultures. It was Carol’s goal to get community involvement and teach our younger generation cultural knowledge, and to learn as family.

Last year Carol Sahme, Starla Green and I created an agenda for the year, leading up to our Lil Miss Warm Springs program. We planned to work on a different project each month, based on our culture and traditional teachings. We had girls come to our classes, creating community involvement.

The community once again came together and were instrumental to our success.

The Lil Miss Warm Springs program would like to thank Starla Green for helping create the yearly program. Starla helped the young girls make Put-la-pas, wing dresses, and jingle dresses. Thank you for opening your home to teach the girls how to can salmon, as well as cut and care for tule to create mats for the longhouse.

For all the time and effort you gave to the Lil Miss Warm Springs, we cannot thank you enough.

Thank you Louis Squiemphen-Smith for teaching the girls the Ichishkin alphabet and teaching the colors, animals, and how to speak the Sahaptin language correctly.

Thank you Cheryl Tom for donating the jingle dress material. Without these materials the dresses would not have been possible.

Miss Warm Springs Katrina Blackwolf presents to Junior Miss Warm Springs Gigi David.

Thank you Natural Resources for the donation of the salmon. And to Deanie Johnson for teaching the Lil Miss Warm Springs girls how to properly introduce themselves in all three tribal languages. Thank you for taking us out on the field trip to cut tule, as well as taking the girls out to dig roots and showing how to care for them. Thank you for doing our meal song the night of the pageant, and thank you for your generosity.

Thank you Valley Cruise for the donation of the material to make wing dresses.

Thank you Keeyanna Yellowman, 2016 Miss Warm Springs, for coming in and teaching our girls about the tribal flag, and what it means to be and an ambassador for the Confederated Tribes of Warm Springs.

Thank you to Alyssa Macy, and the Native Youth Council for the donation of the t-shirts, tribal coffee mugs and mini tribal flags.

Thank you to Chuck Patterson for getting our banners here in time for the pageant. And to Craig Graham for the pageant signs. We appreciate all your efforts, and we cannot thank you enough.

Thank you Starhorse Drum group for being the host drum for the pageant: Aaron Greene, Kyle Queahpama, Gary Villa, Preston Tom, Oscar Queahpama, Jaden Esquiro, Emery Greene.

Thank you to our judges panel for the pageant night: Merle Kirk, Keeyanna Yellowman, Charmaine Billy, Bridgette Kalama, Tatum Kalama, Starla Green, Aurolyn Stwyer and Sunmict Mabon. It was a tough competition, and the pageant would not have been a success without you ladies.

Thank you to our cooks for the night of the pageant: Carol Lawrence, Daniel Lawrence, Arnetta Saludo and Terry Saludo. And to Geraldine Jim for opening the floor for the pageant

Thank you to Miss Warm Springs 2017 Katrina Blackwolf for crowing our new title holders during the pageant. Thank you Carol Sahme for being master of ceremonies and bringing the program together.

A huge thank you to Margery “Marge” Kalama for beading the senior and junior crowns. Another huge thank you to Eugenia “Teeny” Tappo for beading the Lil Miss Warm Springs Crown.

Thank you to the Recreation Department staff for setting up before the regular program days, for setting up before and helping tear down after the pageant: Tatum Kalama, Justine

Clements, Terron “T-mac” McDonald, Edna David, Joseph Arthur and Carol Sahme. Huge thank you to Austin Greene for guiding us in the right direction to move forward with the Lil Miss Warm Springs Program.

Thank you Carol Allison for creating the program in 1982. Thank you Arlene Boileau. Thank you to all those elders who have passed but shaped the program: Atwai Lucinda Green, Bernice Mitchell, Matilda Mitchell, Sylvia Wallulatum, Hilda Culpus, Marianne Culpus and Caroline Tohet.

Congratulations to our new 2017 Senior Miss Warm Springs Coreena Stwyer, Jr Miss Warm Springs Gigi David, and Lil Miss Warm Springs Kiahna Allen. You will represent us all well!

Humbly, Norene Sampson, Warm Springs Recreation Department.

Native sculptor visiting Sisters gallery

Cliff Fragua lives as a traditional Towá on the Jemez Pueblo of New Mexico.

The people refer to their Pueblo, a recognized sovereign nation, as Walatowa, which translates to “This is the place.”

Cliff was born on the Pueblo in the mid 1950’s, has spent most of his life there, and both his home and large sculpting studio, Singing Stone, are upon his ancestral homelands.

Fragua attended the San Francisco Art Institute while also studying as a student at the prestigious art school for Native American youth in Santa Fe, Institute of American Indian Art.

Warm Springs Model participants share their thoughts...

Scott Waite

Scott Waite, educational assistant at Madras High School, has been co-teaching with WSK8 teacher Lucas Jackson.

Waite explained that without this model, he would not have been able to pursue his life-long dream of becoming a teacher because traditionally, teacher candidates must take an unpaid leave of absence from their current job for at least 15 weeks to fulfill their student teaching requirement.

“For my family, with our current salary, taking four months off work wasn’t possible. The opportunity to be paid my current salary was overwhelming to me at first. I was sure it was too good to be true! Did I hear them right? I can finish my degree here, in Madras and still work while doing my student teaching? That was the open door I had been waiting for,” said Waite.

Waite says the Grow Your Own Model has been a game-changer in his career.

“My hope and self-esteem are as bright as my future now,” said Waite. My dream is now well within my grasp. This program pulled out the skills and passions I had allowed to lay dormant. Now, I can stay right here, in our town and grow as a professional, realizing my full potential.”

Student teacher Scott Waite leads a lesson in teacher Lucas Jackson's class at Warm Spring K-8 Academy.

Student teacher Krysten Saldaña grew up and went to school in Warm Springs and is now earning a teaching degree from George Fox University while gaining paid hands-on experience within the district.

JCSD co-teaching model allows student teachers to gain on-the-job training

Four educational assistants from the Jefferson County School District are on track to become teachers, thanks to a new partnership between JCSD 509J and George Fox University. The partnership, called Grow Your Own, allows district employees interested in earning teaching degrees to work, get paid and receive hands-on training at the same time.

“We wanted to make it possible for our own employees to earn teaching degrees without having to quite their jobs to meet state student teaching requirements,” said Melinda Boyle, curriculum director for JCSD 509J. “Most of us can’t afford to quit work and go back to school as adults. We have families and expenses. This program makes it possible for us to provide a steady income and train our own teachers at the same time.”

According to Boyle, there is another important benefit to “growing your own teachers” within a school district.

“We want to employ teachers from our own communities. People who know and understand our culture. Teachers who are diverse like our students and reflect the student population,” said Boyle.

With the new model, student teachers are placed on teams with experienced, cooperating teachers for a full school year. The state of Oregon requires only 15 weeks of classroom training. Currently, all of the district’s student teachers are working in classrooms at Warm Springs K8 Academy.

Student teacher Krysten Saldaña, who was born and raised in Warm Springs, explained that she has always wanted a job that would allow her to touch the future. She works as an educational assistant at WSK8 and is now also student teaching with WSK8 teacher Sara Clark.

“It’s pretty wonderful. I love working with kids from my own Warm Springs community because we share the same values and I can be a role model,” said Saldaña. “I’m working with the students who are the future of Warm Springs.”

The four students graduated from the program this month and will be teaching their own classes in September of 2017.

For more information about Grow Your Own contact Lizzy Riese, admissions counselor at lriese@georgefox.edu.

Julie Mitchell

Julie Mitchell, educational assistant at Madras High School, has been co-teaching with WSK8 teachers David Colburn and Sara Kollen while earning her teaching degree.

“This program has made my career path much more achievable. I have six children ranging from ages 5 to 21. Working full time, being a wife and mother and going to school full time was a juggling act.”

Mitchell said the program has made it possible for her to keep working and earn an income while getting the credits she needs for a teaching career.

“I have had the most amazing experience co-teaching at WSK8. From day one the staff welcomed me with open arms. I have always felt valued as a team member. I had a wonderful mentor who guided me during my co-teaching,” said Mitchell.

Colburn said he wanted to be part of the co-teaching program to support others.

“I know three of the four candidates in the program from my previous experience at Madras High School and wanted to encourage them and help them by being a support and an example. I can remember when I was getting my teaching credentials and the support I received from the experienced teachers around me that gave me the confidence I needed to be successful. I wanted to be helpful in the same way,” said Colburn.

WSK8 Teacher Sarah Bennett teaches a lesson to her third grade class while student teacher Kim Sumner works one-on-one with a student.

“Without this program finding a way to help us keep our jobs, I would not have been able to reach this goal.”

Madras dad say JCSD tops Chicago schools experience

Two years ago, mechanical engineer Chris Toman moved to Jefferson County with his wife Jinnell Lewis after she accepted a family physician position at St. Charles Family Care in Madras. Toman, who has half-time custody of his daughters Aspen (grade 4) and Cypress (grade 2), wanted to find the best possible education for his girls, who live in Chicago when they are not with him.

“I was surprised to hear that parents here were taking their kids outside of the community to go to school in other school districts so I started doing a ridiculous amount of research,” said Toman. “It is the responsibility of the parents to help make our schools better, and if they see areas to improve, they should reach out and help, so we all benefit.”

According to Toman, when he started digging into state test scores for individual schools, there were not big differences throughout Jefferson County. But in talking with teachers and principals from JCSD, he did find a big difference from the girls’ school in Chicago.

“I’ve seen so many schools where principals sit behind a desk and almost avoid talking to parents. The teachers and staff here are more than fantastic,” said Toman.

Toman explained that the teams at Madras and Buff are more than accommodating and that is especially important to his girls who have had many transitions.

“Their other schools seemed so hectic and haphazard with very little communication from the teachers. My experience with Madras and JCSD has been nothing but helpful. Everything is so organized and everyone communicates,” added Toman.

In terms of academics, Toman said he doesn’t see huge differences from the school his daughters attend in Chicago. He also believes the staff does a good job of working with individual students to help them move at their own pace.

“It seems like there are many opportunities for kids to advance here when they excel,” said Toman.

When asked about the Jefferson County community, he had more to say.

“I think it’s fantastic. The focus seems to be on kids and this community doing things better for the community, not just making money. I also think our diversity is more of a triumph than a detriment. It’s better for our kids to learn and respect each other’s differences,” Toman said.

Travel Plaza: plan to open next spring

On hand for the groundbreaking last week were gaming board members Fran Ahern, Priscilla Frank, J.P. Patt and Ted Kulongoski. Board member Elizabeth Furse was unable to attend.

Council Chairman Austin Greene Jr. and Councilman Lee Tom gave the opening song and blessing. Mr. Carstensen then served as master of ceremonies. He introduced tribal engineer Travis Wells, who will be the main on-site representative for the casino and tribes.

The tribes' acquired the Madras Industrial Park property in 1977 as part of Warm Springs Forest Products Industries. This is trust land, not subject to city or county property tax; but the acreage has been in disuse for several years.

The Plateau Truck Stop will change that, bringing an exciting new business opportunity for the Confederated Tribes.

Offers go out from Land Buy-Back program

The Department of the Interior this week announced that nearly 3,600 landowners with fractional interests at the Yakama Indian Reservation have been sent purchase offers from the Land Buy-Back Program for Tribal Nations.

The Buy-Back Program implements the land consolidation component of the Cobell Settlement, which provided $1.9 billion to purchase fractional interests in trust from willing sellers at fair market value.

Interests consolidated

through the program are re-stored to tribal trust ownership for uses benefiting the reservation community and tribal members.
