Land Buy-Back looking at second wave

There could be a second wave of offers this year through the Warm Springs Land Buy Back program. Response time for the first offers closed in late April.

A second wave of offers could increase the number of successful transactions, said Randy Scott, Warm Springs Land Buy Back coordinator.

There has been no final order approving the second wave of Warm Springs offers, but there is a preliminary recommendation to conduct a second round, Mr. Scott said.

For the first wave of offers, the program approved the expenditure of close to $600,000 for the purchase of fractionated interests in allotments, encompassing about 1,035 acres on reservation land.

Land interests acquired through the program go to the Confederated Tribes.

The amount spent on acquiring interests during the first wave was low compared to the total of roughly $4 million that is allocated through the program.

Funds left unspent revert to the program, and are not accessible again to the tribes or members who own fractional allotment interests.

For this reason the hope to is have a greater response.

The Buy-Back Program implements the land consolidation component of the Cobell Settlement. The settlement provided $1.9 billion to purchase fractional interests in trust or restricted land from willing sellers at fair market value.

2018 Lil' Miss Pageant

There is much to like about the Lil' Miss Warm Springs Pageant. "It's great seeing all the supporters, the family and friends who show their support," said Norene Sampson, Recreation fitness coordinator, who also helps with Lil' Miss Warm Springs.

A lot goes into to making the pageant happen. There are meetings every week leading up to the evening.

Renewable energy idea for reservation

Warm Springs Power and Water Enterprises has been researching the possibility of developing a solar farm on the reservation.

Power and Water has worked with an experienced partner, Cypress Creek Renewables, on some of the preliminary research, keeping Tribal Council updated from time to time.

Tribal leaders met this week with Cypress Creek for a tour of the solar farms east of Bend.

The site visit was to give the tribes an idea of the potential for developing a similar solar farm, or farms on the reservation. This could be a promising renewableenergy project for the tribes, reducing reliance on fossil fuels, said Councilwoman Carina Miller.

Areas on the reservation that have been mentioned for their potential include: The flat above the former mill site, and the plateau above Greeley Heights, as two examples.

A project could involve several hundred acres. The Cypress Creek Renewables farms in Bend—called the Neff Solar Farms—total approximately 70 acres each in size.

A project on the reservation could be of similar dimension. Any potential site would go through the rigorous environmental, cultural resource and community review of the Confederated Tribes, said Jim Manion, Power and Water general manager.

The solar farms at Bend generate about 14 megawatts of energy, enough power for about 6,000 homes.

A project on the reservation would require a development partner. An incentive for the company would an energy tax credit.

As the tribes pay no such tax, there would no economic incentive for the tribes alone to pursue a project alone. With a private industry partner, though, such a project could make financial sense.

The tribes would benefit by serving as landlord.

Coronation Saturday for Miss W.S.

Miss Warm Springs Thyreicia Simtustus has been invited and hopes to attend powwows and other tribal events in 2018, representing the Confederated Tribes.

There is a need for funding for her travel expenses, though, as there is no tribal budget for Miss Warm Springs.

Thyreicia goes to Central Oregon Community College, and also works part time; so her time for fundraising is limited.

To raise the travel money, Thyreicia's family and friends decided to host a Coronation and Banquet, set for this Saturday evening, May 12 at the Museum at Warm Springs.

This apparently will be the first Miss Warm Springs Coronation and Banquet, said Aurolyn Stwyer, who met this week with Thyreicia and Tribal Council.

They requested a donation of salmon from Natural Resources for the Coronation, and Tribal Council approved the request.

The Coronation will begin at 6 p.m. this Saturday at the museum, and will include dinner and auctions. Donations for the Coronation and Banquet are $20 per person, $10 for senior citizens and children under 10.

Clean-up at longhouse

The cleaning and abatement porject at the Agency Longhouse is partly finished. The contractor has said the work should be done by the middle of this month, said Secretary-Treasurer Michele Stacona.

She gave an update on the longhouse on Monday at Tribal Council.

The first part of the work—abatement of the asbestos and lead paint—was finished, allowing the company to begin work on the second phase.

Phase two is the abatement of methamaphetamine contamination. Earlier this year, areas of the longhouse—restrooms and the kitchen area, for instance—tested positive for meth contamination.

This can pose a serious health hazard, especially to children, elders and people with respiratory issues, for example.

Last month Tribal Council allocated a total of $300,000 for meth abatement of public buildings on the reservation.

The abatement budget for just the longhouse was $192,000, though the work could exceed this amount, said Alyssa Macy, chief operations officer.

There are other building spaces around the reservation that also require some meth abatement work.

The funds allocated for the abatement work came from a tribal capital projects fund.

Workshops next week for summer youth workers

Youth who plan to work through the Native Aspirations summer work program in Warm Springs need to complete all of the required workshops.

Here are the next opportunities to take the classes:

Tuesday, May 15 is 'Applications and Resumes.'

Wednesday, May 16 is the Work Ethics and Etiquette' workshop.

Thursday, May 17 is the 'Communications' workshop.

These will be after school, starting at 4:15 in room 302 at the Education building.

There is also a workshop Saturday, May 19 at 9 a.m. This will cover the 'Youth Work Handbook and Understanding Basic Policies.'

If you have questions about these or other upcoming opportunities, stop by the WIOA/Native Aspirations Office at 1110 Wasco Street. Or call 553-3324.

> Warm Springs Head Start and Early Head Start are recruiting children for the next school year. Early Head Start is for child up to age 3, and Head Start is for 3-5 year olds. Call or stop by ECE to get an application. 541-553-3240.

My priorities

Education:

I wholeheartedly support the Warm Springs K-8 Academy and stand with Madras High providing School classes in the trades. Vocational courses provide a whole new world of opportunities for our youth—opportunities that pay well, may help keep them in our community, and also strengthens our local workforce.

A vibrant economy:

I will listen to our communities, help establish priorities, and work to develop balanced economic solutions to help us attract outside investment and spur economic development.

Affordable housing:

Whether renting looking to buy, people in our communities should be able to find housing that fits their needs, is in reason-doesn't cost so much they can't afford other basic needs.

able condition and

Rural livability:

To protect our way of vices, and keeping roads and buildings in good repair.

Internet ser-

I bring a common-sense approach to problem solving, believe government is strongest when inclusive of all its residents, and am not afraid of hard choices or hard work.

The 2018-19 Lil' Miss Warm Springs Pageant

Thank you all who attended this years Lil' Miss Warm Springs Pageant, and made this program possible.

Thank you judges, our cooks and our master of ceremonies Aldo

All the contestants were awesome, and I am proud of each and every one of you.

Norene Sampson, Warm Springs Recreation.

On hand for the Pageant were the outgoing 2017-18 Lil' Miss Warm Springs Royalty: Junior Miss Gigi David; Lil' Miss Kihanna Allen, and Senior Miss Coreena Stywer.

Pageant: 2018-19 Royalty

During the year leading up to the pageant, the future contestants work on many different kinds of projects.

"We try to follow the seasons," Norene said. There are trips for root digging and huckleberry gathering. The girls make wing dresses, and aprons for the longhouse, and tule mats. At Valentine's Day they made cards for the residents at High Lookee Lodge. These are to name just some of the activities.

The Lil' Miss Warm Springs Royalty attend many events: Honor Seniors Day, Lincoln's Birthday Powwow, the Warm Springs Academy Assembly, powwows at Grand Ronde, Nisqually, Umatilla, Celilo Village, Muckleshoot and Portland State University, among many activities.

Second year

Recreation held the first Lil' Miss Warm Springs Pageant in 1983. The first Recreation team to organize the event were Carol Alison, Caroline Tohet, Nina Rowe and Arlene Boileau.

The pageant was an annual tradition for more than 20 years. Then as times changed the pageant went away. The Recreation Department last year revived Lil' Miss Warm Springs. So 2018 is the Second Annual new Lil' Miss Warm Springs Pageant.

2018-19 Royalty

Senior Miss Warm Springs is Jessica Bruised Head. She is 14, and is in the eighth grade at the Warm Springs Academy. Her parents are Sammy and Clint Bruised Head. Her maternal grandparents Kenny and Frances Allen, and paternal grandparents are Peter and Margret Bruised Head.

In her future Jessica wants to be a dentist, and a champion barrel racer. She likes riding horses, playing basketball and volleyball, and dancing.

And she is a good helper for the HeHe Longhouse, and enjoys working for he elders.

Junior Miss

Junior Miss Warm Springs is Julia Wolfe. Her parents are Chasen Lahr and Agnes Wolfe. Her maternal grandparents are Flossie and late James Wolfe Sr.; and paternal grandparents are Ivanna Bailey and Harlen Lahr.

Julia is 11, and goes to the Warm Springs Academy. She is part of the Soaring Butterfly group, and attends the Wasco Dance Class.

Later this month she will be at the Language Bowl representing the Confederated Tribes of Warm Springs.

Julia was a very active member in the Lil' Miss Warm Springs program since the first day of the 2017-2018 program.

In the future she wants to be a teacher, and one day would also like to be Miss Warm.

Lil' Miss

Lil' Miss Warm Springs is Kyra Eastman. She is a 9-year-old who attends the Warm Springs Academy. Her parents are Sheylene Greene-Boise and Jake Buffalo Horse Eastman.

Her maternal grandparents are Angie Spino and Tony Boise; and paternal grandparents are Rocky Eastman and Roberta Kirk.

Kyra is an active member of the Simnasho Longhouse, and participates in Sunday Waashut services. She had her first Root and Huckleberry ceremonies when she was 5.

Kyra participates in social dance, and the Canoe Journey. She enjoys attending the Sun Dances in South Dakota every

She loves to draw, dance at powwows and play softball. When she gets older she wants to be a police officer.

Appreciation

This years judges for the pageant were Carol Sahme, also a Miss Warm Springs coordinator; and Marge Kalama, who made the Senior and Junior Miss Warm Springs Crowns. Lorien Stacona made the sashes.

Also on the judges' panel: Kasheena Stevens, one of the last Lil' Miss Warm Springs members; Tatum Kalama of Recreation; and Norne Sampson, also of the Recreation Department.

This years cooks were Carol Lawrence, Arnetta Saludo, Terry Saludo, Joey Johnson and Greg Youngman.

The floor opener was Greg Arquette. Master of Ceremonies was Aldo Garcia.

Past Lil' Miss Warm Springs on hand for the pageant were Kihanna Allen; Junior Miss Warm Springs Gigi David; and Senior Miss Warm Springs was Coreena Stywer.

Thank you to Norene Sampson for helping with this article.

COCC hosting summer Native American program

Central Oregon Community College this summer will host Strive—Summer Training to Revive Indigenous Vision and Empowerment.

Strive will be from June 28-July 2 at the COCC Bend campus. Strive is a residential summer program for Native American high school students in Central Oregon. The goal of the program is to provide cultural and academic support, and give young Native students leadership skills.

Students take culturally appropriate classes from college professors in a variety of subjects, and also work with successful Native American college students.

Strive is free. Students must have a 2.0 GPA in high school, and be incoming freshmen to seniors

Schimmel back in WNBA

Shoni Schimmel has rejoined the New York Liberty professional women's basketball team.

She has been in training camp with the team since last week.

Ms. Schimmel was a WNBA All-Star guard two years ago, then took one year off to be with family.

"I needed a break, going from high school to college to the pros," Schimmel was saying last week. Her grandmother had been sick and recently passed away, she said.

Before going back to New York, Shoni had been living in Central Oregon, often practicing at the Warm Springs Community Center gym.

She was the eighth pick in the 2014 WNBA draft, having been a star player at Louisville.

Council okays 2018 fishing regs

Tribal Council in April adopted the off-reservation fishing regulations for 2018, regulating fisheries in the tribes' usual and accustomed fishing places.

The regulations, approved by Council resolution no. 12,461, were adopted as recommended by the Fish and Wildlife Committee.

The committee also "has the designated authority to add, rescind or modify off-reservation fishing regulations on an in-season basis without additional approval of the Tribal Council," the resolution says.

Resolution no. 12,461 says the regulations as approved are for "2018 and future years unless modified by the Fish and Wildlife Committee or by Tribal Council...."

Ceded Lands areas covered by the regulations—available at the Branch of Natural Resources include Sherars Falls, Hood River, the John Day River, Eagle Creek above Bonneville dam, and other usual and accustomed fishing stations. The regulations of resolution 12,461 do not include the Columbia River mainstem fisheries, which are managed by separate regulations.

Veterans profiles of the Confederated Tribes

As the Confederated Tribes this month have been honoring veterans of the tribes, the following are two veterans profiles, Theodore Brunoe and Dan Martinez:

Ted Brunoe

Theodore 'Ted' Brunoe was drafted into the U.S. Army in 1962, shortly after completing college at the University of Or-

"My Madras High School and college classmate Murray Newton got his draft notice at the same time. He went into the Air Force, becoming an officer and a navigator on a B-52."

Ted went to complete boot camp at Fort Ord, California, and spent the next two years stationed at Scofield Barracks in Hawaii.

His duties as a Battery Clerk were to process those troops going to Vietnam, and to list those who were absent without leave.

"The pay was $75 dollars a month," Ted says, "and my apartment in Waikiki was $95 a month. So I started a taxi company, which I ran for two years."

In 1963 Ted was in Thailand on three occasions for Temporary Duty (TDY) with the Military Advisory Group made up of mostly officers.

"We trained Vietnamese soldiers how to fight a war," he says. "We weren't issued any ammunition, but bullets were flying around us."

Ted recalls that when he landed in Vietnam in 1963, "there were only 2,500 troops. Americans were not fighting then. The war heated up in 1964. At the end of the year there were 140,000 troops there."

Ted took ample advantage of his location and traveled on his days off.

"I visited Japan, Okinawa, the Philippine Islands, Hong Kong, Vietnam, Thailand, Australia, New Zealand. My brother Mickey was stationed in the Philippines. Of all those, I favored New Zealand for the beauty of the land, green everywhere, for the hills. I also liked Australia, where I went scuba diving in de Beers on the Great Barrier Reef."

After Ted's departure from the service, he lived on the West Coast in Los Angeles, San Francisco, and eventually settling in Portland for Now retired and living in Warm Springs, Ted is still in touch with two of his comrades from the war years.

Dan Martinez

Dan Martinez served in the U.S. Marine Corps from 1971-75 in the MTMCO 1st division 3rd Marine 3rd Battalion 7th fleet.

He also received training as an automobile and diesel mechanic. "I wasn't a tribal member back then," Dan says, "so they automatically drafted me. I acquired my tribal enrollment in 1975."

After boot camp Dan was sent to Camp Lejeune, North Carolina, for Embassy training, where he rose to the rank of platoon leader.

He was then assigned to the Far East Marine Corps barracks attached to the U.S. Embassies primarily in Japan, where he saluted the President and welcomed political leaders from around the globe.

"I was the first Native American to be assigned to the US Embassies," Dan says.

In 1975, as his term in the service neared the end, Dan took the required human relations training for three months to reintegrate into the American society, which by then was up in arms about the Vietnam War.

Out of 26 of Dan's military buddies, seven remain. "We had a reunion last fall," Dan said. "I miss them, because they're dying off. We were the last ones to leave Vietnam. After we left no more troops were sent over."

Dan reflects on his career after leaving the service: "Since 1980 I've served my community as a fireman, an EMT, and I'm now the Tribal Emergency Manager. My heart has always been to take care of my people."

Dan's words of encouragement to the community are that "No matter where you go in this country you'll be judged by the color of your skin, like I was.

"If you're going to go into the military, join because you want to, not because you have to.

"I just want to be a role model, a mentor, and a leader for my people."

Gallery show features artist, photographer

Richard Macy first began drawing years ago, as a very young child. "I don't remember when I started—it's been forever," Mr. Macy says.

If you visit the Warm Springs Clinic, you see on the hallway wall portraits of past tribal members— Yah-We-Wa (Charlie Wewa), Ka-PoLe (Jim Wallulatum), Mus-Tal-Liks (Paul Queahpama). These are examples of Mr. Macy's work. More recently, the Art Adventure Gallery in Madras is featuring paintings and drawings by the artist.

The gallery exhibit is also featuring photographs by Edward Heath.

This is Mr. Heath's second show at the gallery.

He first began taking photographs around the reservation in 2014. The images proved popular on the social media platforms, leading to Mr. Heath's first photography show at the Museum at Warm Springs, An Eye for the Reg.

Some of the works by Richard Macy on display at the Art Adventure Gallery.

He then had a show at the Art Adventure Gallery in 2016.

You can see his work on Facebook at the Edward Heath Photography page. Or stop by the Art Adventure Gallery.

Welcome Home, Vietnam Veterans

I would like to give a great thanks to the wonderful and kind people of Warm Springs who invited the Vietnam Vets of Central Oregon to participate in the Parade and Expo, April 28.

I have attended this event for the past three years and continually marvel at the thoughtfulness and spirit of our hosts.

To say the Vietnam Vets of America have issues concerning the War is a vast understatement. The men and women who were part of the war effort experienced unimaginable events in their lives.

We seldom received a proper welcome home when we returned from the war. I for one was spit on at the airport and called a 'baby killer.' But events such as the Parade and Honoring the Vietnam Vets in Warm Springs continues to help heal, and allows all of us to feel better about our communities and ourselves.

I cannot tell the community of Warm Springs how heart-felt your celebration meant to all who attended.

Bravo Zulu.

At the Museum at Warm Springs

The Museum at Warm Springs exhibit Twanat—Celebrating Our Legacy—is on display for the next couple of weeks.

This in-house exhibit features artifact and archival items from the museum's permanent collection. There are rare baskets, regalia, corn-husk woven bags, bead work and historical photographs.

Some other events coming up at the museum:

This Friday, May 11, is the Seeds of Discovery Science Field Day. This day is for local fourth-grade students, supported by Oregon State University and Coming up early next month is the opening of Patriot Nations. This is a banner exhibit from the National Museum of the American Indian in Washington, D.C.

To know about your Minors Trust Fund account

Tribal Council in 1957 established the Minors Trust Fund of the Confederated Tribes of Warm Springs.

The purpose was, and remains, to hold Celilo Settlement Agreement per capita payments for minor tribal members in trust until they became adults.

Tribal Council in 1958 amended the Minors Trust Fund trust document between the tribes and its.

The purpose of the amendment was to clarify its "purpose of providing funds to assist in payment of continuing education costs of (tribal) members;" and to authorize the deposit of future per capita payments in the Minor Trust Fund.

A portion of an enrolled member's monthly per capita is contributed into a trust account at the bank.

A tribal members become eligible for the first four annual distributions when he or she turns 18. However, age isn't the only eligible criterion:

The revised policy can be found in Tribal Council resolution no. 11,691(a) adopted on January 23, 2013.

To be eligible for a distribution, an 18 year old must also have graduated from high school with a cumulative GPA of 2.0 or higher.

Youths who don't graduate, or whose cumulative GPA is less than 2.0, must wait until the next regular cycle before they may reapply for a distribution.

Those who reapply must also have successfully completed at least one term at a college or other vocational institution, or have completed one year of a formal trade apprenticeship program to become eligible.

Individual distributions are based on a uniform payment schedule, birth date, and satisfying educational requirements. If your birthday falls between April 1 and September 30, your Minors Trust Fund distributions will be part of the fall distribution

If your birthday falls between October 1 and March 15, your distributions will be part of the spring distribu-

Approximately one-quarter of an eligible individual's Minors Trust Fund balance at age 18 may be distributed annually over a four-year period, plus additional earnings, beginning at age 18.

If you attain education requirements—graduate from high school with a cumulative GPA of 2.0 or higher—by age 18, you will be eligible to receive one-quarter of your Minors Trust Fund account balance.

You must obtain documentation of graduation and GPA and deliver copy to Vital Statistics. At Vital Stats see Lucille Suppach-Sampson.

Alternatively, you must obtain documentation such as a New Modified Diploma, Extended Diploma or some other type of alternative certificate specified in resolution no. 11,691(a).

You must reply to the letter received from Vital Statistics, and indicate whether funds shall be paid by Treasury Check or by deposit into an IIM account; and provide a current mailing address and other contact information.

If no letter is received from Vital Statistics, contact them and advise them of your age and eligibility.

A parent of a minor under the age of 18 can come to Vital Stats and request an Internet account access user application and disclosure form to monitor the minor's trust fund account.

Just a reminder: Once a youth reaches the age of 18, Vital Statistics will communicate directly with the individual regarding the Minors

Trust account.

Access to Internet account for monitoring will also cease once the youth reaches 18. Accounts will then be set up with the youth who has turned 18

Vital Statistics can be reached at 541-553-3252. Their fax is 553-2236

The primary contact is Lucille Suppach-Sampson.
