Netflix show to film in Warm Springs

The critically acclaimed Netflix series The OA will be filming in Warm Springs on Monday and Tuesday, June 11 and 12. And the show is looking for extras.

No experience is necessary, and all are encouraged to apply. Pay starts at $11.25 an hour, with increased pay for upgraded roles.

To apply go to:
PDXTRAS.com

The OA is a psychological mystery, following Brit Marling as Prairie Johnson.

Prairie had gone missing for seven years. When she resurfaces

Prairie has mysterious new abilities, and recruits five strangers for a secret mission.

Filming of The OA, now in its second season, so far has happened mostly in New York and Los Angeles.

Need to address landfill problem

For years the Dry Creek Landfill has been used for illegal dumping, including dangerous and toxic chemicals, and the problem has now reached a level of serious concern.

The issue has come to the attention of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, and the need to plan for a long-term solution is now at hand.

The tribes may need to develop a new landfill site on-reservation, and decommission the Dry Creek landfill. Another option would be to have a transfer station, and transport solid waste to some other landfill, such as Arlington.

Either option will be expensive, and identifying the funding options will be a priority.

Tribal Sanitarian Russell Graham, Utilities Director Travis Wells, and Chief Operations Officer

Alyssa Macy reported on the situation last week at Tribal Council.

The worrisome aspect of the condition of the Dry Creek landfill is the chemical contamination, Mr. Graham said.

Rain and snow can leach chemicals in the landfill—including lead and mercury, for instance—into the ground.

The landfill was not designed to contain these chemicals, and the groundwater is at risk, Graham said.

On a positive note: testing of the residential water supply, he said, has shown no contamination.

Constructing a new landfill could cost in the area of $1 million, Graham said. Closing and securing the existing landfill might cost $500,000. The EPA can force a solution to the landfill, if the tribes were take no corrective action.

Some other points: The landfill may need to be fenced all the way around, and closed during non-business hours, Ms. Macy said. There would be a need for more staff, a challenge in this budget climate.

Tribal code

The tribes could adopt more strict tribal code provisions regarding illegal dumping, said Travis Wells.

Under the current provisions, there is little disincentive for a person who wants to dump illegally on the reservation, Mr. Wells said. Instead of a $200 fine, maybe $5,000 would help address some of the problem, he said.

Second wave of Land Buy Back program

The second wave of offers from the Warm Springs Land Buy Back program is now under way. The program mailed the second wave offers on May 17, and the offers are good through July 16.

Respond to the Land Buy Back program, located in the Media Center; or call Randy Scott, program coordinator, or Tiffney Yallup, outreach coordinator, 513-615-0997. The Buy Back program team met last week with Tribal Council for an update on the program.

The team includes Mr. Scott and Ms. Yallup, Fiduciary Trust Officer Charles Jackson, Office of Appraisal Services deputy chief appraiser Iris Crismin, and regional supervisor Rena Stanford.

Through the Buy Back program, fractional interests in allotments are purchased from the tribal member owner, on behalf of the Confederated Tribes.

The first wave of offers saw a benefit to the tribes, and to the individual owners of the fractional interests.

The first wave allowed for the purchase of a total of 529 fractional interests from 161 separate owners, covering 1,260 acres of tribal land.

These interests are now with the tribes. A total of $723,000 was expended on these purchases.

There is still close to $3 million available for the second wave. The total allocated for both waves was almost $4 million.

The total figure would cover the cost of the purchase of every fractional interest on the reservation: Clearly, this scenario would not occur, as many owners choose not to sell. But the full funding was available just in case.

Another benefit to the fractional interest owners was informational, said Mr. Scott. Some of the owners were not aware of some aspects of their interest—the location of the land, and potential or prohibited uses, for instance.

The Buy Back program provide many of the owners with this information, allowing the owners to make an informed decision about whether to sell, or how best to plan for the future regarding the interest.

As the deadline was approaching for the wave one offers, the Buy Back office saw a number of people making enquiries. This could indicate interest among some to take advantage of the second wave of offers, Mr. Scott said.

Patriot Nations opens at museum

Dave McMechan/Spilyay

Patriot Nation panels at the Museum at Warm Springs.

An interesting new exhibit—Patriot Nations: Native Americans in Our Armed Forces—is on display at the Museum at Warm Springs. The grand opening for the display will be this Thursday, June 7 at the museum.

This is a traveling exhibit from the National Museum of the American Indian in Washington, D.C.

Patriot Nations tells the history of American Indian and Alaska Native men and women who have served in the United States military.

Native peoples have participated in every major U.S. military encounter from the Revolutionary War to today's conflicts in the Middle East, serving at a higher rate in proportion to their population than any other ethnic group.

Throughout Native America, servicemen and women are some of the most honored members of their communities. Yet they remain unrecognized by any landmark in our nation's capital.

That will soon change, as the Patriot Nations exhibition announces the development of the National Native American Veterans Memorial.

The memorial has been requisitioned by Congress to be placed on the grounds of the Smithsonian's National Museum of the American Indian. Visit the National Native American Veterans Memorial website for more information, or to donate.

Patriot Nations has been on tour across the country since 2016. The Museum at Warm Springs will be one of the last opportunities to see the traveling exhibit.

Patriot Nations will be on display at the museum through September. Also opening later this month at the Museum at Warm Springs will be the exhibit Memory of the Land.

Tribal gathering for drug prevention

The many participants at the two-day conference at Kah-Nee-Ta, during traditional opening.

The Confederated Tribes and Health and Human Services this week hosted the first Oregon Tribal Summit on Opioids and Other Drugs. Present were health and human service workers from the Oregon tribes, and tribal organizations. Warm Springs Tribal Council members, committees, departments and enterprises were well represented. State officials, including top officials with the Oregon Department of Human Services, were on hand. A keynote speaker was Don Coyhis, founder of White Bison and Wellbriety. Medical workers, and law enforcement officials made presentations. The focus of the two-day gathering was the development of strategies to address drug and alcohol abuse problems among tribal communities. Workshops during the second half of the conference focused on all aspects of the drug problem in Indian Country: from the sources of the drugs, prevention and healthy living programs, treatment options, cultural aspects, life

Longhouse, updates at Tribal Council

The Agency Longhouse needs a new fire suppression system, and new lights and windows. Management and Finance are working on how to fund the work, said Alyssa Macy, chief operations officer. The building has been rehabilitated, with the removal of asbestos and lead paint, and decontamination of meth residue, reported last week at Tribal Council.

There are other buildings on the reservation that remain closed due to meth contamination. These include numerous Housing Authority units, and the Elmer Quinn Park restrooms, for instance. The Simnasho and HeHe longhouses also need to be tested, Tribal Councilman Raymond Tsumpti said. Some other items from the chief operations officer update last week:

Transitional housing The tribes and Health and Human Services have remodeled the Vern Jackson Home, and the building is now used for transitional housing for families working with the Children’s Protective Services. This is a unique home, the only one associated with a Children’s Protective Services department, Ms. Macy said. Downtown project Tribal management and Utilities are planning three more meetings on the Warm Springs Downtown project. The tribes have hosted two meetings so far. The next three meetings will be at Simnasho, Seekseequa and in Warm Springs. Ball fields, memorial park The new ball fields and Warm Springs Veterans Memorial Park have drawn the interest of the National Guard in Idaho. The National Guard offers services to communities, as a mutually beneficial training exercise. The Guard is interested in helping with the construction of the new ball fields and the Veterans Memorial Park, said Bruce Irwin, Community Development director. Both of these projects have secured funding. The work on both could be done in the summer of 2019, Mr. Irwin said.

Man killed in motorcycle accident on reservation

A motorcyclist died on Saturday after crashing into a bear on the reservation. Rhett Larson, 39, worked as a fire fighter in Bend.

Mr. Larson was killed when he hit the bear and fell off his motorcycle, according to police. He was then stuck by an oncoming vehicle on Highway 26. The driver of the oncoming vehicle was then air lifted to the hospital. Mr. Larson was on his way to Bend from Portland. He had been a fire fighter in Bend for 16 years. He is remembered as a great fire fighter, father and friend.

13-year sentence for shooting incident

Rhyan Leigh Smith was sentenced last week to 13 years in prison for a 2016 shooting incident. Smith, 26, had pleaded guilty to assault with intent to commit murder, and using a firearm in furtherance of a crime of violence. In March of 2016, Smith was living with family members. According to the prosecution: On March 16 of that year, at about 8 a.m., Smith returned to the house, and shot a family member five times with a pistol. Another family member heard the shots, tried to stop Smith, but also was shot. According to court records: Warm Springs Police and the FBI responded to the house, finding Smith hiding in sagebrush near the house with a rifle. The suspect was then arrested. Her sentencing was at the federal courthouse last week in Portland.

Warm Springs Outdoor Market starts this month

Gabby Robinson
W.S. Community Action Team

The Warm Springs Outdoor Market will kick-off this year on Friday, June 22, Pi-Ume-Sha weekend. We will have a free barbecue, local produce and plants, value-added foods, handmade arts and crafts, and plenty of warmth and laughter. The June 22 market will take place in front of the Re-Use It store from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. We will start grilling around 10:30 a.m.

Burgers will be served on a first-come first-serve basis, while supplies last. The Warm Springs Community Action Team has hosted the Outdoor Market since 2013. This year, the team has the help of Tananawit, the newly forming Warm Springs artisans organization. Tananawit is working towards facilitating economic opportunity for Warm Springs Indian Reservation artists, providing educational opportunities for aspiring Native artists, and increasing public knowledge and understanding of the tribal arts and crafts of the Columbia River Plateau. The board of directors is taking on a big role in the Outdoor Market this year by facilitating a Saturday Market as well. By dedicating their time to being present every other Saturday, the board of directors sees this as an opportunity to show their commitment to the growth of Tananawit, as well as their support of artisans and small business owners within the community. The market will be held every other week from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., beginning on June 22. On Fridays the market will be in front of Re-Use It; and on Saturdays, beginning June 23, the market will be at the corner of Highway 26, by Kalama's frybread. If you or someone you know is looking for a consistent location, or means to sell value added foods, locally grown produce/agriculture, or handmade arts and crafts, contact the Community Action Team at 541-553-3148 for more information or to sign up today.

Prevention conference

Warm Springs Prevention and Health and Human Services will host the Suicide Prevention conference this Thursday, June 7 at Kah-Nee-Ta. The conference begins at 8, with opening prayer and introductions at 8:30. Some of the agenda items include Best Care, veterans suicide prevention, work groups and discussion. Summer youth jobs starting soon

The last day of school for most students is this Thursday, June 7, and the Warm Springs summer youth work will begin the following week. There are some changes this year to the summer youth work programs. For the past three years many youth workers found employment through Native Aspirations, a program of the Health and Human Services Branch. This year many youth—78 high school positions, and five college student positions—will be under the tribal Education Department, and through the WIOA (Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act) program.

The contact people for this program are Melinda or Theylia, 541-553-3328. Their office is in room 307 at the Education building. There was much interest among youth to join the program this summer, with about 130 applications for 78 high school positions. Fortunately, there are other youth employment opportunities this summer: Warm Springs Prevention, under Health and Human Services, will have some youth workers. Natural Resources and Kah-Nee-Ta will have their own programs. And the Heart of Oregon Youth Conservation Corps employs a number of young people during the summer months. Youth Conservation Corps can be reached at 541-633-7834. You can also apply online at: heartoforegon.org

Warm Springs Culture and Heritage is planning for this summer's Camp Naimuma, July 20-24 at the HeHe camp grounds. Camp is open to the first 50 boys and 50 girls to sign up. The deadline to register is July 18. Call 541-553-3290. Or email: deanie.smith@wstribes.org nice change of pace.”

Asked about her favorite part of work with Warm Springs, Rachel says, “I like being able to help people, with skills I acquired working for my tribe in Oklahoma.”

Rachel grew up in Oregon, at The Dalles. After school she moved to Oklahoma, then moved back to Central Oregon a month ago.

She will soon be joined by her husband, Joseph, who works with HVAC systems, and engineering. They have been married for 18 and a half years.

Rachel moved her first, as Joseph stayed in Oklahoma so their children could finish up the school year. Their kids are Gavin, 15, Madison, 13, and Aiden, 10.

Rachel's office is in the Family Resource Center.

From Extension

A safety message from the OSU Extension Warm Springs office:

Many people on the reservation live in rural woodland and other rural areas. And these residents are in an increased danger from wildfires. These are tips for being safe, and planning ahead:

Make sure that fire vehicles can get to your home. Clearly mark all driveway entrances and display your house number or address. Identify and maintain an adequate water source outside your home, such as a small pond, cistern, well or swimming pool.

Set aside household items that can be used as fire tools. You may need to fight small fires before emergency responders arrive. Select building materials and plants that resist fire.

Defensible space is a buffer you create between a building on your property and the grass, trees, shrubs or any wildland area that surrounds it. Two zones up to 100 feet of defensible space:

Zone 1: Extends 30 feet out from structures. Remove all dead plants, grass and vegetation. Time trees regularly to keep branches a minimum of 10 feet from other trees. Zone 2 extends up to 100 feet from structures. Cut or mow annual grass down to a maximum of 4 inches. Create horizontal spacing between shrubs and trees. For more information, call the Warm Springs OSU Extension, 541-553-3238.

Strive in June

Central Oregon Community College will host Strive at their Bend Campus June 28-July 2.

Strive is a residential summer program for Native American high school students in Central Oregon.

The goal of the program is to provide cultural and academic support, and give young Native students leadership skills. Strive is free. Students must have a 2.0 GPA in high school, and be incoming freshmen to seniors.

Warm Springs Head Start and Early Head Start are recruiting children for the next school year. Early Head Start is for child up to age 3, and Head Start is for 3-5 year olds. Call or stop by ECE to get an application.

The Museum at Warm Springs will host a traditional horse parade and unveil its Memory of the Land: Treaty of the Middle Columbia River Tribes and Bands exhibit on June 21. They are calling for veterans, riders in regalia and horses for the parade. Lineup starts at 4:30 and it will start at 5:30. The exhibit opening, salmon bake and special guests will follow.

- Fish Accords – BPA will continue to work with the Tribes.
- Productive return on traditional First Foods.
- Columbia River Treaty: The Tribes ask for BPA's support for a strong voice on behalf of the tribes up and down the Columbia River, so this is not a U.S. v. Canada negotiations only, and includes the Tribes.
- CTWS consideration of a solar project.

- Capital requirements for BPA are the Fish and Wildlife program.
- Habitat restoration on the Columbia River Basin.
- Summary for the three tribes and Fish Accords accomplishments (combine with CRITFC).
- BPA will coordinate with the Secretary-Treasurer to schedule the next government-to-government meeting, possibly in October.

Interim Public Safety general manager

Jim Soules, a former Chief of the Warm Springs Police Department, is now serving as the general manager of the Warm Springs Branch of Public Safety.

Tribal Council last week took action regarding the Public Safety general manager position, in a vote of five in favor, two abstain.

Mr. Soules began work this week, on an interim basis until a permanent general manager is hired. Mr. Soules served as the Prineville police chief for 22 years, before retiring in 2003. He later served 15 months as police chief in Warm Springs.

Mr. Soules, 67, has also served as president of the Oregon Association of Chiefs of Police.

Landfill: need for change

Other topics came up during the discussion: Illegal use of the Dumpsters at the longhouses; and the recurring abuse of the Sidwalter station. Barrels of oil are being left at the site, which becomes filled with trash within two weeks of being cleaned out.

Council directed staff to develop a series of recommendations for review in the near future.

Due to contamination caused by illegal dumping in Warm Springs, oil and other hazardous materials will not be accepted at the Dry Creek Landfill, or any transfer stations until further notice. Oil and other household hazardous waste need to be taken to Madras Sanitary Service.

Free vision clinic in W.S.

A free community vision screening clinic will be in Warm Springs this Saturday, June 9 from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Community Center.

Warm Springs Optometry and the OHSU Casey Eye Institute will provide free eyes screenings to adults age 18 and older.

They will screen for glaucoma, diabetic retinopathy and macular degeneration. Call 553-2474 to schedule an appointment, or just stop by.
