District meetings on 2019 budget

Tribal Council posted the 2019 proposed budget and has now scheduled three district meetings on the proposal: The Simnasho District will be first, meeting the evening of Wednesday, October 17 at the Simnasho Longhouse.

Next will be the Agency District on Monday, October 29 at the Agency Longhouse.

Seekseequa will meet the following evening, Tuesday, October 30 at the Seekseequa Fire Hall. For all three meetings dinner is at 6 and the meeting at 7.

In November the membership and Tribal Council will host a General Council meeting, before Council approves a final budget for next year.

In September, Management and Finance presented a balanced budget proposal to Tribal Council, who then heard the presentations from enterprises, branches and departments.

The 2019 budget proposal reflects the priorities and objectives set out by the Twenty-Seventh Tribal Council in its 2016 Proclamation. Priorities include:

"The Tribal Council shall annually develop, review and approve a balanced tribal budget for each fiscal year in order to promote and maintain the financial sustainability and integrity of the Tribe." Other priorities:

Education, enterprise accountability, health care, protection of assets, Our People, infrastructure, economic development, employment, housing, community safety.

Film festival this week

Bend Film will present feature movies at the Madras Performing Arts Center this Friday through Sunday, October 12-14. Filmmakers will be present for the films.

Meanwhile earlier in the week, this Wednesday evening, October 10, Smoke Signals actor Adam Beach will be at Warm Springs Academy open house.

For the films at the Performing Arts Center: Transportation will be provided from Warm Springs to the center on Friday and Saturday, October 12-13.

Free admission bracelets will be given out on the bus, and KWSO will also have bracelets available for anyone interested in attending.

Listen to 91.9 FM for details about the bus and film schedule.

Friday evening's first film is Smoke Signals, marking its Twentieth Anniversary. Adam Beach and other film makers will be on hand.

Before the showing of Smoke Signals at 5:30 on Friday, you can enjoy the film Blood Sky by Warm Springs tribal member LaRonn Katchia. The story of Blood Sky:

A deadly outbreak has quickly spread across the city of Portland as three survivors make their way to an infested laboratory in hopes of containing it.

Mr. Katchia made this film in 48 hours for Portland's 48 Hour Film Project, 2018. Some other movies coming up this weekend at the Performing Arts Center:

The Blessing. Oregon premiere. The story: A Navajo coal miner raising his secretive daughter on his own struggles with his part in the irreversible destruction of their sacred mountain.

Museum readies for Treaty event

The Museum at Warm Springs is busy preparing for the upcoming Treaty Conference, Friday through Sunday, October 26-28.

The conference will include speakers who are experts in the field. As of earlier this week, there were still some spaces available for tribal members to reserve a reservation free of charge.

Otherwise, the Treaty Conference—People of the River, People of the Salmon: Then, Now and Tomorrow (Wana Thlama-Nusuxmi Tanánma: E-Wab'Cha'-Nye)—will be open to the general public.

Registration is required. The registration fee includes three meals on each day of the conference.

In preparing for the conference, the museum has borrowed five of the original pages of the Treaty of 1855 between the Middle Tribes of Oregon and the United States government.

Museum director Carol Leone explained the year-long process of bringing the treaty to the museum for display through November 3.

Sen. Ron Wyden and the High Desert Museum were partners in the effort, Ms. Leone said.

The display case containing the five pages is climate controlled, and each page is contained within a special protective sleeve.

There is no photography allowed of the pages, because of the risk of a camera flash accidentally going off.

The treaty was flown from the National Archives in Washington, D.C., in first-class because of the size of the transport package, and for its safety, Ms. Leone said.

There is a guard on duty beside the treaty at all hours of the day at the museum, and the guards also monitor the display during the night. A digital video security camera is recording 24-hours a day above the treaty.

School district honors students' achievements

The Jefferson County School District board of directors started their Tuesday evening session with a tour of the Museum at Warm Springs, the highlights being the Treaty of 1855 display, and the outstanding Memory of the Land tribal history exhibit.

Board members said that all of the classes in the 509-J district should at some point visit the museum for the learning experience.

During the school board tour of the museum, Val Switzler, director of Culture and Heritage, answered questions about the tribal history and the Language program.

The Kiksht language of the Wasco people has seen its last elder speakers pass away in recent years, Ms. Switzler said. Ichishkeen of the Warm Springs people has 32 speakers. As recently as 15 years ago, Kiksht was in a similar situation, but has now lost its elder speakers.

She was asked why the Native languages remain of vital importance to the tribes. "Our languages hold our songs and our prayers," Ms. Switzler said. "It's who we are, our way of life, and we cannot let that die."

The tribes have worked with the school district to bring the languages lessons into the regular district curriculum, a rare circumstance in the nation. Passing on the languages to the young people gives them an understanding of who they are, and where they come from, Ms. Switzler said.

After the museum tour the school board met at the Academy for a regular session. The meeting opened with the Student Spotlight recognition. This week's Spotlight honored many students from Warm Springs—both Academy and high school students—who made a great showing on recent statewide testing. District superintendent Ken Parshall explained the accomplishment:

The statewide test is the most difficult such test so far given to students, Mr. Parshall said. Statewide, less than half of the students score at level 3. The Warm Springs students featured during the Spotlight presentation scored at 4 in either mathematics or literacy, and in some cases both. At the Warm Springs Academy the students are:

Summaries of district meetings - 1980 baseline referendum

(The tribal membership in February 2019 will be asked by referendum whether to approve a proposed change to the baseline for the purpose of automatic enrollment. The three districts earlier this month held information meetings on the referendum.)
Agency District meeting summary—1980 baseline proposal. October 1, 2018
1. Present: Chief Alfred Smith, Jr., Chairman Eugene Greene, Jr., and Valerie Switzler. Minnie Yahtin, Recorder.
2. A video explaining the 1980 Census Baseline was shown.
3. Concerns, comments and questions:
• How many on the list are from the Agency district?
• Does this raise blood quantum of enrolled members?
• Vote whether you agree/disagree.
• Resolution No. 12,157 was challenged so that tribal members can voice input.
• Are any North American tribes excluded?
• Will this increase blood quantum of a person who is already enrolled?
• What are financial impacts to the tribe?
• Does population affect grants or other funds to the tribes?
• 50 percent of voters are required to validate a referendum, 21 years of age and older.
• What are the pros and cons?
• One year residency needs to be revisited.
• A call for a referendum cannot remain valid once a Tribal Council term has ended.
• Vital Statistics is important and should be tracked.
• Some ratios are different between a person and close relatives, why?
• It’s the responsibility of parents, grandparents, or relatives to find your blood, your ancestry.

• Home meetings were held by the Enrollment Officer for input towards the last adoptions/referendum.
• Some are 3/64 from being automatically enrolled and is emotional for the parents, children, and families.
With no further discussion the meeting adjourned at 9:15 p.m.
Seekseequa District meeting summary—1980 baseline. October 2
1. Present: Lee Tom and Brigitte McConville. Minnie Yahtin, Recorder.
2. A video explaining the 1980 Census Baseline was shown.
3. Concerns, comments and questions:
• Vote whether you agree/disagree.
• Resolution No. 12,157 was challenged so that tribal members can voice input.
• Some ratios are different between a person and close relatives, why?
• It’s the responsibility of parents, grandparents, or relatives to find your blood, your ancestry, it affects your children, grandchildren and great grandchildren.
• 50 percent of voters are required to validate a referendum, 21 years of age and older.
• How many on the list are from the Agency district?
• How many on the adoption list would be eligible for automatic enrollment?
• Enrollment decisions should be made by the people.
• How many adoptees are there? Where are they?
4. With no further discussion the meeting adjourned at 8:47 p.m.

Simnasho District meeting summary—1980 baseline proposal. October 3
1. Present: Chief Delvis Heath, Vice Chairman Charles Calica, Raymond Tsumpti. Minnie Yahtin and Norma Heath, Records.
2. A video explaining the 1980 Census Baseline was shown.
3. Concerns, comments and questions:
• Resolution No. 12,157 was challenged so that tribal members can voice input.
• Vote whether you agree/disagree.
• Request to have Ordinance 44 read to those in attendance.
• How many votes are required to validate the referendum?
• How many on the adoption list would be eligible for automatic enrollment?
• We have claimed non-tribal members as family and/or they were not enrolled. They took part in traditional activities, learned to speak the language and learned how to prepare the foods.
• Will ballot boxes be placed in each district?
• Absentee ballots will be available for tribal members who will not be here during the voting, contact the Vital Statistics Department for more information.
• Request to have the video shown more so tribal members can watch it and better understand the information given.
• What is the cost to have a referendum?
• Where will funds be paid from?
• Will this only include blood quantum from Treaty tribes?
• We appreciate the Tribal Council members who challenged this so we can speak on this very important matter facing the Tribes.

• Will the three districts come together in a General Council meeting on this subject? (Yes, a General Council meeting will take place.)
• It’s the responsibility of parents, grandparents, or relatives to find your blood, your ancestry; it affects your children, grandchildren and great grandchildren.
• Tribal I.D.’s show different ratios.
• Some are not eligible for automatic enrollment and it’s emotional for the parents, children, and families (individuals on the adoption list).
4. With no further discussion the meeting adjourned at 9:50 p.m.

A painless way to stay healthy

With their many festive holidays, the fall and winter seasons can be the best times of year—unless you get the flu. In which case, for several days at least, this can be the worst time of year.

The Warm Springs Community Health nurses are providing flu shots—the best and most practical way to prevent the flu.

Even frequent hand washing, and the use of hand sanitizers—both also highly recommended to avoid catching the virus—are not as reliable as the vaccination.

The Community Health team will be at the Warm Springs Academy open house this Wednesday evening, October 10, offering flu shots. If you miss them there, the Mobile Health Vehicle will be serving at these times, dates and places:

Fire Management, Monday, October 15 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Indian Head Casino, Wednesday, October 17 from 9 a.m. to p.m.

Tribal Administration, Tuesday, October 23 from 10 to 2.

Three Warriors Market, Wednesday, October 24 from 9:30 to 1.

And at the Comp and Benefits Fair on November 6 and 7.

A vaccination protects you from the flu while also helping the community—including our vulnerable youth and elders—because you won't be spreading the disease. Some other things to keep in mind:

Cover your mouth and nose when you cough or sneeze, and wash your hands afterward.

Stay home when you are sick: If you're sick, don't get close to other people. If you're well, avoid close contact with people who have the flu. But most importantly, get a flu shot: It's painless, and for adults it lasts through the season.

These days we are lucky to have the flu shot: One hundred years ago—in the winter of 1918-19—a lethal flu pandemic broke out.

That fall and winter, 500 million people worldwide came down with the flu. Fifty- to 100-million people—about 5 percent of the population—died as result. The 1918 flu pandemic is one of the deadliest natural disasters in human history.

Fortunately today we have the vaccine.

All things Housing

Do-it-yourself maintenance, home ownership and HUD, housing assistance to veterans—The focus is on tribal housing at the upcoming Warm Springs Housing Authority Fair.

Stop by the Greeley Heights community building sometime between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. Wednesday, October 24. In addition to the serious business on the agenda, there will be raffle prizes, door prizes and t-shirts. There will also be a light breakfast and lunch.

Some additional agenda items: the Ross program, tax credits, health and safety, and demonstrations of minor do-it-yourself maintenance.

Contact Edna or any counselor at Housing for more information. Housing is at 1238 Veterans Way, near the administration building and Credit. Their number is 541-553-3358.

Aspirations

Native Aspirations of Warm Springs wishes to thank the St. Charles Health System. St. Charles recently awarded Native Aspirations a $10,000 grant.

Aspirations is a community organization dedicated to advancing youth interests of the Confederated Tribes. The group's mission:

To develop knowledge and skills through education, employment readiness, and cultural exposure.

This program offers 85 youth who are enrolled in high school, alternative education or GED courses the opportunity to gain 40 hours of programmed education and a minimum of 240 of on-the-job training during the summer.

A minimum of six college students have the opportunity to be mentored by professionals while they work in the Warm Springs Health and Human Services or related fields all year round fitting hours with their college schedules.

The program works with Heart of Oregon Youth Corp to provide an additional 5 youth placements with a Tribal member supervisor. These are some of the features of Native Aspirations.

The recent St. Charles System grant comes from the Sister Catherine Hellmann Fund, created to help underserved people of the region. The grant to Native Aspirations was one of 10 recently awarded as part of the One Hundred Year Anniversary celebration of St. Charles.

Referendum

As a direct descendant of the Wasco Chief Toh-sympt, I must encourage our tribal membership to vote NO on the upcoming referendum on blood quantum. I was rather disheartened with the video interpretation that is not accurate in regards to how our ancestral tribal leadership viewed blood quantum.

History cannot be changed to suit leadership or legal interpretation. Should this referendum pass, then we are changing history long

Indian Business Talk: 2 debt payoff plans

*By Bruce Engle
Loan officer
W.S. Credit Enterprise*

Why 2? Depends on you. What? How?

I am talking about two nationally recognized plans; the benefits of each, why you might choose one over the other, and maybe, how you might sometime benefit from using a bit from each to pay off a debt load.

They both work if users follow the "rules". The biggest rule is: Make all your payments on time and in full, and keep on doing that until all the debts are no more!

We'll talk about 'No more' later.

The first plan is the one most credit counselors have been taught. It saves the most money. That's its main selling point.

Your first task is to list all your debts from the highest interest rate debt to the lowest interest rate. Then you are to concentrate your main payoff effort on the debt with the highest interest rate.

You will pay the minimum payments on each of your other debts. Then you will increase your payments as

Distinguished Alumna, Pat Courtney Gold

Madras High School has named this year's Distinguished Alumni. Among the distinguished individuals is Pat Courtney Gold, Madras High School Class of 1957.

Ms. Courtney Gold grew up in Warm Springs. After high school she graduated from Whitman College, majoring in Mathematics.

Ms. Courtney Gold then taught high school Math, yet early on she was powerfully drawn to the traditional crafts and arts of her people. She was especially drawn to the elegant and functional woven bags, made for countless generations by the Wasco women.

Working with older relatives, including her mother, Ms. Courtney Gold and other Native artists led a revival of this dis-

For her dedication to this cause—and for her own masterful, often witty textile creations—she has won many honors, including the Oregon Governor's Art Award and the NEA National Fellowship, the nation's highest honor for folk and traditional artists.

Ms. Courtney Gold is a 2018 Madras High School Distinguished Alumnus, this year joining Mr. Bob Shaw, Class of 1967; Ms. Elaine Ferguson Henderson, Class of 1952; Mr. Alan Watts, Class of 1978; Dr. Glenn Rodriguez, Class of 1972; and Mr. Joel Neilson, Class of 1992.

protected by our Treaty. We will erode our sovereignty and misalign our future.

Our past leaders made one exception, to allow a one time allowance for the Wlx-push-palls due to these prisoners of war to the U.S. Cavalry that were left in our area who begin to marry into our treaty membership. The only other blood quantum accepted was the Columbia River ancestry.

What this referendum will do is allow blood quantum from any recognized tribe. The long term impact will affect our already fragile financial wellness and in a matter of time, our treaty rights.

We, as a people, have an obligation to protect our survival as a Tribe and encourage our young to be responsible to marry or conceive children that do not risk membership into our beloved Tribe. Choices have a long term impact, the only way to correct ill advised choices is not change policy to suit ill advised choices.

Our responsibility must always be to future generations that depend on us to make decisions based on their best interests. History is tied to sovereignty, sovereignty is tied to our Treaty. A Treaty negotiated to protect our unwritten laws, our welfare, to bind our history with our future. Nye. Leona A.ike, Great-Great-Great Granddaughter of Wasco Chief Toh-sympt.

The Good Road of Life

Suicide directly impacted 67 people in our community in 2017, the most recent year for which the data is available. These 67 individuals had thoughts of suicide, or attempted suicide, and 15 of the 67 were youth.

Dr. Clayton Small is Northern Cheyenne and has been to Warm Springs a few times. He has facilitated the Warm Springs youth camp, the Men's Conference, and also presented at the spring Methamphetamine/Suicide Prevention Conference.

Dr. Small returns to Warm Springs on Thursday and Friday, November 1 and 2, for the Survivors of Suicide Conference—The Good Road of Life: Challenges of Healing Native People.

The conference will be at the Agency Longhouse both days from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

This year the Aspirations summer youth workers helped in the planning of the conference. They decided they wanted a day for adults, and a second day for the youth. The conference has been scheduled around the school schedule: Students will not be in school these two days.

Mark your calendars. I hope you can make it. If you would like more information, call me at 541-615-0036.

would be roughly $254. It would take 60 months for the first win. That might seem to be too much of a drag for some folks.

A first win would come quicker if the balance on the 29 percent debt was one of the smallest on the list.

That's where a choice of "a right plan" might be a mixture of plans. The goal is to increase the chances for success in the debt repayment battle.

Again, the basic rule is to make all payments on time and in full. That includes Home, Vehicle, and Personal Monthly Expenses.

One way to get to an 800+ Credit Score is to pay off your personal credit card debts every month while never missing a monthly payment on your home and vehicle loans. Think 'no more carry-over' credit card balances.

Let's call that being on a 'cash basis' while still using a credit card for convenience. The Credit Reporting Agencies like that. So do lenders and potential lenders.

That's a winning game plan. Execute and enjoy.

Another treaty commemoration

As The Confederated Tribes of Warm Springs are getting ready for the Treaty of 1855 Conference, the Sioux—the Dakota, Lakota and Nakota—and Arapaho are marking the 150th Anniversary of the Treaty of Fort Laramie. Their treaty of 1868 created the Great Sioux Reservation, lands set aside west of the Missouri River set aside for exclusive use of the Sioux Nation. The Smithsonian National Museum of the American Indian will have the original Fort Laramie Treaty on display through March 2019.

The game against Salem Academy will be a home game.

On Indigenous People’s Day

by Jeremy FiveCrows
Public Affairs — Columbia River Inter-Tribal Fish Commission

“Everywhere you are, Indians have been.” This phrase captures the simple truth of the history of this land. Every hill; every creek; every meadow; every forest; every river on this continent has a story of its connection to the indigenous peoples who lived here. Some of these stories are still remembered; some are forgotten.

People learn to believe that the history of this land we call home began when Europeans arrived because that’s often where history books start.

In one newsreel about the benefits of Columbia River hydropower, the narrator states, “And so for 100 years, the river of the West [Columbia River] was untamed—the same swirling fury which Indians have swept for salmon since the days of Captain Meriwether Lewis.” In one sentence, millions of years that the Columbia had flowed freely and the thousands of years that indigenous people fished there is swept away.

Sadly, all that many people know of the indigenous people who lived here before them is what they learned from the introductory chapter in their elementary school history textbooks.

The European arrival in the Americas certainly was pivotal in history, however it was far from the beginning of the story of this continent. For far too long, thousands of years of indigenous culture, history, learning, and wisdom has been dismissed or ignored as prehistory that has nothing to do with today.

For nearly 80 years, the nation has observed Columbus Day to celebrate the anniversary of his arrival in the Americas.

The holiday wasn’t meant to insult or demean indigenous peoples; in fact it is almost certain that indigenous voices, views, and opinions about commemorating Columbus were not even considered when the holiday was established in 1907.

Lost in the celebration of this holiday was the fact that the arrival of Christopher Columbus

Melvin Greeley ~ 1935-2018

Melvin Greeley was born on June 17, 1935 to James Greeley of Warm Springs and Nez Perce/Walla Walla tribes, and Merle Scott Greeley of Warm Springs and Wasco tribes.

Melvin was born among the cherry orchards at The Dalles along the Columbia River. He was named after the owner of the cherry orchard.

Melvin was the third of four children: His older sister Lolita Greeley, and his older brother Elton Greeley, both who are deceased; his younger brother Hamilton Greeley, who resides on the Warm Springs Reservation, is here today.

Mel’s first and early years of education were attending the Warm Springs Reservation Bureau of Indian Affairs board school, from first-through eighth grades. He enjoyed playing football, basketball and baseball, and was on the school boxing team.

His free summer time days were spent riding bare back on an old horse that liked to gallop around the reservation hills. Melvin also liked swimming and fishing on the reservation rivers. He would also help his grandmother with her big garden of fruits and vegetables.

Most of Mel’s teen summers were spent working in the strawberry fields and picking other kinds of berries, as well as cherries and apples. Towards the end of summers, his brother and sister would go camping up in the mountains with their grandmother to pick huckleberries.

He worked in the hop fields too. Once I asked, “Why do we have to pick hops?” He replied, “It’s for the beer people’s brewery.” In the early fall he would pick a few hundred sacks of potatoes a day for 5 cents a gunny sack. Those were 50-pound burlap bags.

At the Indian boarding school, most of the time it was fun. But it was also a place that we had to obey a lot of rules to live by. Most years, not a day of school was missed. Mel was smart. He was very good with the school studies, and he graduated eighth grade with high honors.

He attended high school at Madras Union High School. He made the basketball team. Guys he played basketball with liked how good he could shoot baskets, because he almost never missed.

Mel got bored with high school and in his senior year he enlisted into the U.S. Marine Corps, to be one of the few and the proud. After boot camp he deployed to South Korea for a year of overseas duty. On his return to the U.S., Camp Pendleton was his duty station for the next three years. His Marine Corps service came to an end with an Honorable discharge. His service awards were:

The National Defense Service Medal, the Foreign Service Medal, the U.S. Service Medal, the Good Conduct Medal, and M1 Rifle Expert. After his Corporal Military Occupation Specialty, he returned as an Infantry Specialist. Then Mel went home to the Warm Springs Reservation to work in the field of land management.

His next move was to enlist in the U.S. Air Force. He did his Basic Airman training at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas. Mel became an Airman Third Class E-2. His military occupation specialty school was fuel supply operations. After completing the fuel supply operations school, he was deployed to an Air Force base in France. Mel earned the Air Force Longevity Service Award while stationed in France.

From France he returned to the United States and was stationed at the Portland Air Base, from where he was Honorably discharged.

He returned to the reservation, where little work was to be found. He signed up with the Bureau of Indian Affairs relocation program. The relocation program had all kinds of jobs and training available in the big West Coast cities. Mr. Greeley picked Los Angeles.

The Bureau of Indian Affairs found Mel a good paying job with the Fletcher Air Craft Builders. He performed air craft assembly work for about a year. I worked in the sheet metal machine operation in El Monty, California. That spring, I told Mel I was going to give up my sheet metal machine operator’s job and take a motor cycle ride to Old Mexico for a little vacation from the Los Angeles area. Mel told me, “That sounds like a good idea—Wait for me.”

Mel and I departed for Old Mexico on my brand new Matchless 650 cc. On our way we met up with some of Mel’s old USMC buddies in downtown San Diego. We spent about a week touring Old Mexico and returned to the U.S. by way of Tucson and Phoenix. It was a hot ride in 120 degrees.

Mel and I journeyed to the Auburn, California Indian Nation, where we were welcomed into their homes and the Auburn community itself. The Auburn boys were good at helping the Greeley brothers find work, even picking pears for 80 cents an hour.

After a hot Labor Day of picking pears and whatever, the Leggett brothers, Ray brothers, Cooper brothers, William brothers and Brownie Taylor, me and Mel would all bike down to the Folsom Lake for a good cool swim. Or at other times, we all went down to the wild part of the American River, and we would jump off the rock cliffs into the cold river.

Mel was taken in by grandpa and grandma Rey, who provided him with a good place to live with great home cooked meals.

One of those days in Auburn, Mel met a good looking girl, Maxine (Max) Taylor. They fell in love and departed to Reno for a private wedding and short honeymoon.

For work, Mel was hired at the Placer Ranger District as a wild-life fighter. About 1969 Mel’s wife gave birth t their daughter, who was welcomed into this world with very much love. The beautiful baby girl did not live very long. She was born with some medical problems and was laid to rest at the Auburn, California Maidu Indian Cemetery. This was one of Mel’s unhappiest times.

He started a new job with Airo Jet Fire Fighting Department at the Mather Air Force Base in California. His job was to help put out fires of U.S. air craft if they caught on fire during take-off or landing, Mel turned out to be a journeyman fire fighter in the Sacramento area. His work outfit was the fire-proof fire fighter gear. This turned out to be his long life work, which he enjoyed while he was in good health.

Fifty-plus years of his life were being part of the California Rancheria Indian and non-Native people. Mel loved life and the local Auburn people. He became acquainted with just about all the Auburn Rancheria Indian Nations people. He loved them very much and they loved him in return.

The Taylor-Cayton family took extra good care of him. They provided him a nice little home to live in. He had all the good comforts of a good life. The saddest part of his life was the loss of his loving wife, Max, who preceded him in death by a few years. Nobody could ever replace Max.

Max, his pet dog Awol and people who passed on before him will all be waiting to welcome him to the other world, way beyond the Sun. Mel lived mostly a good happy life with his grandmother Sally Ike up the Tenino Valley on the Warm Springs Reservation. Going and playing in sports in the BIA boarding school, attending Madras Union High School, the best younger years serving the U.S. Marine Corps and Air Force that allowed him to travel all over the world. A lifetime working as a fire and rescue man on the Mather Air Force base. The happiest part of his life was with his beautiful wife Max. Now he will join her and their child to their journey into the next world.

Most of his free time he spent having fun with the Auburn Rancheria Indians, swimming in the American River, socializing at the Thunder Valley Casino and attending concert events with his friends and family. His last few years he lived on the Auburn Rancheria Reservation. The tribal members, mainly the Cayton family, took excellent care of his most required life needs to make him comfortable. Carol Kronberger, Mel’s best friend, made sure Mel had a good hot meal each day.

The Greeley family would like to give a big thank you to the 2018 Tribal Council of United Auburn Indian Community of California for granting Melvin a place to rest in peace with his beloved wife and daughter at the scared burial grounds. A big thanks to the Cayton family for a place to crash, to share good meals and for generous financial assistance that comes with funeral costs.

Thanks for the good time visits, the stories of family good times, moral support and some of the “hell no’s” on Mel’s mind. Mel had nothing but good things to say about family and friends with added humor.

Thank you to the Confederated Tribes of Warm Springs for the casket and loans to my family to help them make it to be with Mel on his last days of living on this earth. If I forgot to thank anyone or mention anyone, please forgive me. I am getting old, feeble and almost time for me to decompose too. Thank you for your time to listen and get to know a little bit of Mel’s life story.

Mel, I hope you are resting well.

I remain humbly and truly yours, Hamilton Greeley, last of the Greeley brothers.

Language, Coyote stories featured during Smith Rock series

Courtesy State Parks

Smith Rock will be the backdrop for the presentations.

Native culture of the region will be a feature at the Smith Rock State Park Oregon Archaeology Celebration lecture series.

The series will be Fridays during October, from 7-8:30 p.m. at the Smith Rock State Park Welcome Center, located at 10087 NE Crooked River Drive, Terrebonne.

The lectures are free and open to the public. Audience members will have a question and answer opportunity with the speaker after each talk. Scheduled presentations with Native themes:

October 19: Jarold Ramsey, author and professor emeritus at University of Rochester, New York, and member of Jefferson County Historical Society will present In Search of Coyote: Examining the Identity of Native America's Most Provocative Cul- ture Hero.

October 26: Dallas Winishut, Ichishkin language instructor with the Culture and Heritage Department of the Confederated Tribes, will present Ancestral Voices: The Ancient Languages of the Warm Springs Reservation.

The next presentation will be on October 12: Dr. Patrick O’Grady, staff archaeologist at University of Oregon Museum of Natural and Cultural History will present A Window to the Past: Recent Archaeological and Paleo-environmental Research at Rimrock Draw Rockshelter.

More information, including a park map, is available at oregonstateparks.org

Call 541-923-7551 ext 21 for more information about the speakers.

Friday, October 19: After Senior Fitness class there is a brunch at the Seniors building. They are serving cream of potato bacon soup, hard tack and fruit.

IF YOU WERE SEVEN YEARS OLD, COULD YOU TELL THE DIFFERENCE?

WHAT’S FOR SALE IN YOUR NEIGHBORHOOD?

With sweet flavoring to mask tobacco’s harsh taste, cheap prices, and bright and colorful packaging, it’s even hard for adults to tell the difference between tobacco and candy. Is it any wonder ninety percent of smokers start before they are eighteen?

ICWA case may go to Supreme Court

A federal judge in Texas has struck down the Indian Child Welfare Act, a decades-old federal law aimed at keeping Native American families together.

Backed by the state of Texas, Chad and Jennifer Brackeen—a non-Native American couple with two biological children—sued last October for the right to adopt a Native American toddler they had fostered for more than a year. A state court had denied their adoption petition; the federal law gives adoption placement preference to biological family members of Native American children, other members of the child's tribe, or other Native American families.

Texas Attorney General Ken Paxton sided with the Brackeens, arguing that the law unlawfully “elevates a child’s race over their best interest.”
