May conference focuses on small business

by Dustin Seyler
WSCAT Business Coach

Are you interested in growing your own business and in strengthening the small business community of Warm Springs? This is your chance to get involved.

Join the Warm Springs Area Chamber of Commerce and the Warm Springs Community Action Team in exploring how we make our community a better place.

The Warm Springs Area Chamber of Commerce and the Warm Springs Community Action Team will host our first small business conference event to help businesspeople in the community understand what it takes to open or grow a business in Warm Springs, and to learn about resources available to aid in their effort.

As the conference will be representative of state agencies, including the Office of the Secretary of State, the Governor’s Office of Economic and Business Inclusion and Diversity, and Business Oregon, there will be representatives from the U.S. Small Business Administration, Oregon Native American Chamber, Oregon Association of Minority Entrepreneurs, and the Oregon Small Business Development Center.

There will also be several sessions during which you can hear from experts, both local and regional, on topics such as starting a business in Warm Springs, financing a business in Warm Springs, incubating business stories from Native entrepreneurs, starting a business in Warm Springs, financing a business in Warm Springs, and certifying and contract opportunities in Warm Springs and surrounding areas.

We will provide breakfast, lunch, and coffee starting at 8:30, and will provide a lunch for the event.

The Warm Springs Community Action Team staff will discuss our Old Commissary Small Business Incubator project, our work with the Tananáwit Amicus Community, incubating business courses, individual development accounts (IDAs) for small business owners, food cart operator’s training project, and more.

Applications to join the Chamber of Commerce will be available for those interested in becoming members, and IDA applications will be available for those interested in receiving matching funds to start or expand their businesses.

To register for the event please call 541-553-3448 or by email at: dustin@wscat.org

We look forward to meeting you and working together to develop and strengthen the Warm Springs business community.

New position to research tribal economic development

The Warm Springs Community Action Team is seeking to hire an economic development specialist. The person will be responsible for conducting a descriptive study of the Warm Springs tribal economy. They will work with the Community Action Team staff and tribal leaders, and other tribes in the Warm Springs area to assess the current and potential efficiency of the tribes' economy. The position is full-time, 40 hours per week. Funding is available until December 31, 2020 from a grant from the Northwest Area Foundation. The Huntington document is an "historical anomaly" that is a burden on the ongoing community relations with the tribes. The bill is expected to pass the Senate on an official removal.

The Twenty-Seventh Tribal Council will be holding office soon, and the non-removal of the Huntington document is a final priority project, said Councilman Ron Supjack, who has worked on the council for seven years. From Managed Care, Mike Collins said the tribes are contending with expensive patient bills from tribal patients who are referred to outside medical procedures. The tribes have been responsible for bills up to $200,000, in one case, said Collins. The tribes will be in a better position to resolve this problem, he said.

Other items of discussion included: financial matters, including the tribes' water and other infrastructure needs. The tribes have been requested to support affordable housing, and the tribes' water and other infrastructure needs.

The walk is weather dependent, so if there is a day or day of confirmation call 541-777-2663.

$1.36 million grant for housing

The Confederated Tribes of Warm Springs will receive $1.36 million to support affordable housing development. The grant is part of a $15 million HUD package to the nine tribes of Oregon, Utah and Washington, and Jeff Mekley made the announcement last week. Of these 8 other tribals, the tribes will be in a better position to resolve this problem, he said. The tribes will work with the tribes in the Warm Springs area to assess the current and potential efficiency of the tribes' economy.

Concern about the tribal economic climate, business expansion, at-risk youth, workforce and insurable.

School district board positions on May ballot

The Jefferson County School District No. 5 has two positions opening on the board of directors. The open seats are 509-J Position No. 4 and No. 6. The election will be on May 15. This is a write-in mail special election. There is time to register to vote in the election, or to update your voter registration. The deadline is April 30. If you register online, at your library, or in person, you would have until 11:59 p.m. on April 30 to register.

County jail

Jefferson County is also proposing a 5-year jail operating levy on the May ballot.

The county reduced the proposal to three questions this year. The question on the May 15 ballot reads: Shall a tax of $1.17 per $100 of assessed value be levied for jail operations beginning FY 2019–2020 for three years? Passage of this measure would increase taxes more than three percent. Revenue and prop- erty taxes of the Confederated Tribes is not tax, so the aspect of the measure would not apply to the tribes.

Free legal service Monday

The Native American Program Legal Aid Services of Oregon will have a walk-in intake clinic on Monday, April 29 from 1:30-3:30 p.m. at the Community Center.

Free civil legal service is available to eligible tribal members, so make sure to find out if the program can help with your legal need. You can reach the Action Team at 541-553-4952.

Appointments are available for the morning by calling 541-875-5228. Otherwise the Volunteer Serv- ice Office will be available to answer questions during and after the senior meal that day.

Letters to the editor

For School District board

We have known Catina Miller for 23 years and are asking you to vote for her Position 5 on the Jefferson County School Board.

Catina Miller most recently denoted her time as a Tribal Council member. She has also worked as an officer of the Protective Services and as a teacher.

She has been a member of the Oregon Education Department, received a bachelor’s degree in Curriculum Work Group, and Chair of the DAMO-

Committee of Oregon Native Caucus among many other achievements.

She is the mother of a 10-month-old son, who will some day be attending the 509-J school district. Become friends in Madras High School, she also has a degree in Ethnic Studies from the University of Oregon.

Grains is inquisitive, energetic, a good leader and committed to giving back to her community.

She is the First Native American woman to graduate, she also has a degree in Ethnic Studies from the University of

Plan for second annual fire fighter memorial

The Confederated Tribes Fire Fighter Memorial has been set for October. This year’s event will be at the Agency Longhouse, as long as the facility is available. The memorial will be on October 5. This year the group will be recognizing the original Inter-Agency Hotshot Crew, or the Warm Springs Forest Crew, which they were known as in the early 1980s. All families are welcome to participate, in honor of a loved one on this day. Whether your loved one was on the crew or not, this is a recognition day for all past fire fighters from here or other agencies.

Last year we had approximately 250 community and family members from Warm Springs and other agencies. We will be having fundraisers up until October 5 so come out and support the cause. Donations are also accepted. Our goal is to raise $8,000 this year.

We will keep the community informed as the date approaches. If you have any questions, feel free to contact me at 541-553-3313.

Thank you,
Luther Clements.

Education camp

The Native Youth Exploring Higher Education summer camp at Washington State University is taking applications now through June 15. The free camp is July 15-19, and is open to students who will enter grades 9-10 in the fall.

It’s for students to learn about college opportunities and education. Information and registration is available online at: native@wsu.edu/nyehe. It’s under the ‘prospective students’ tab.

The Native Youth Exploring Higher Education summer camp is sponsored by the Native American Education Committee at the Agency.

Community notes…

The Lil’ Miss Warm Springs Pageant is tentatively scheduled for Wednesday evening, May 1.

The Thirteenth Annual Honor Senior Day is coming up on Friday, May 10 at the Agency Longhouse. Everyone is welcome to attend. If you want to be on theme, wear your boots, chaps and cowboy hats.

For information, or if you would like to help out, contact the Senior Program, 541-553-3313.

Tribal stewards program hiring

Established in 1984 the Northwest Youth Corps is a non-profit organization providing unique work training experiences that empower youth and young adults to become successful, resilient members of the community.

To achieve this goal Northwest Youth Corps provides a variety of outdoor, conservation-specific program throughout the Northwest. The emphasis is on leadership, growth and personal success.

Northwest Youth Corps partners with agencies such as the Forest Service, National Parks and Bureau of Land Management.

The tribal stewards program was created to offer professional development and training to young adults ages 19 to 24, who are not currently in school or working.

You can find the registration material at nwyouthcorps.org/joinNYC.

If you have questions please contact Jess Pinnell, program coordinator, at jessp@nwyouthcorps.org.

Or Angela Noah, tribal stewards inclusion coordinator: angela@nwyouthcorps.org.

Or Rebecca Cashero, young adult recruitment coordinator: nbcase@nwyouthcorps.org.

Rodney Carlton’s father and grandfather passed down stories of such abundant salmon fishing in the U.S. Columbia River that the banks were a feast of red salmon. The salmon’s annual trip up the Columbia River at Bonneville Dam would make the chair of the U.S. Confeder- ative and Tribes of the Colville reservation long for the salmon fish harvests like those.

He said that when the United States and Canada began construction in the 1950s on more than 450 dams along the Columbia-hunt, which drains a watershed the size of France across seven U.S. states and one Fish and Wildlife province.

While the project was planned for generating electricity for the area and im- proving farmland, indigenous tribes mourned the loss of traditional fishing grounds and hope negotiations over a treaty will be similar to those in 2017, when a similarly low run was projected, ac- cording to the report. The season for steelhead will be closed on the Co- lenec River from the Dalles Dam to McNary Dam in September. The John Day River to the blue bridge will be closed in Oc- tober, and November. The Columbia River from the blue bridge upstream to Hanford will be managed in-season, but will start with a limit of one hatchery steel- head. The Snake River will be managed in season with a one hatchery fish limit up- stream of Celilo Falls, and 20 fish per day during low water, and only steelhead must be less than 28 inches in size re- moved.

Tribe demand seat at river treaty negotiation

As the United States and Canada conducted a fresh round of negotiations this month in Victoria, British Columbia, no similar meeting in the 1964 treaty—which can be counted on to address issues of concern to Warm Springs—has been held. Each treaty is a separate matter, and the redfish 15 U.S. tribes had waned in 2017 and the United States and Canada conducted a fresh round of negotiations this month in Victoria, British Columbia, no similar meeting in the 1964 treaty—which can be counted on to address issues of concern to Warm Springs—has been held. The Washington state Department of Fish and Wildlife has decided anglers within its jurisdiction will not be allowed to keep any chinook, including jacks, or any salmon this summer on the Columbia River.

The department an- nounced plans last week for recreational salmon fisheries for this year past the Pasco Fisheries Management Council’s meeting in Richland Park Café.

Although there will be no summer season, salmon fishing is still expected to be allowed from the Bonneville Dam upstream to the blue bridge at Pasco, from August 15 through the end of the year.

For the exchange students

I write this letter in support of Carina Miller, who is running for seat no. 5 on the Jefferson County 509-J school board. I have known Carina all her life and have spent the past three years working with her on the Warm Springs Tribal Council. At that time she has been an advocate for children, families and education. She is a hard worker and cares deeply about people. Carina has educated herself about unfamiliar issues and has the ability to consider multiple perspectives in search of true solutions. The Warm Springs and Madras communities are linked in many ways, one of which is our public education system. We all want what’s best for all our children and I know Carina Miller would contribute to that as a school board member. Thank you.

W.S. Extension vaccination clinic helps horses

If you are a horse owner and plan a trip out of state, you must receive a health certificate from a veterinarian and have proof your horse has been Coggins tested.

The test was developed by Dr. Leroy Coggins in 1970 and remains the most definitive test for Equine Infectious Anemia. All states require a negative Coggins test before a horse may be transported across state lines. Most horse shows, rodeos, and auctions where horses are gathered in one place require a negative Coggins test for all horses entered.

The clinic will run from 10:30-12:30 on Wednesday, May 15 at the Warm Springs rodeo arena.

Depending on the state or competition, this negative test must have been obtained during the previous 6-12 months. The Coggins test is simple, inexpensive, and well worth the peace of mind that comes from knowing your horse remains negative for EIA. Sometimes referred to as horse malaria or swamp fever, Equine Infectious Anemia (EIA) is a nasty virus that causes destruction of the horse’s red blood cells, causing anemia, weakness, and death. The EIA virus is primarily spread through biting insects like horse and deer flies. EIA may also be spread through contaminated needles or surgical instruments.

Oregon State Extension will be hosting a Coggins testing and annual horse vaccine clinic on Wednesday, May 15. A USDA veterinarian will be there to provide Coggins testing, annual vaccinations and de-worming for your horse. The clinic will run from 10:30-12:30 at the Warm Springs rodeo arena. If you are interested in getting your horse tested, please call the Warm Springs Extension office at 541-553-3257, or Scott Daggar at 541-480-3091. We need to know how many horses you want Coggins tested, if you want the annual four-way vaccine given and if you want a dewormer for your horse. We have to order vaccines two weeks before the clinic so you need to contact us in advance for this service. Check out the OSU Extension Warm Springs Facebook for more information.

Jackpot rodeo

Young people from Warm Springs competed in the recent Junior Rodeo Jackpot at the Warm Springs Rodeo Grounds.

There were bareback bronc riding, and wild horse races—as well as mini bulls and junior bulls, and barrel racing. This was a Wild West Buckaroo regional qualifier event.

Museum exhibit features extraordinary Cradle Boards

Our children were admired—From their first baby boards in the clothes they wore when they began to walk, and the toys and dolls they played with.

These cognitive items expressed the family’s deep love for the child. Yet of all the beautifully made childhood treasures, the cradleboard was by far the most extraordinary.

The Museum at Warm Springs invites you to its exhibit—Babies First Home: Cradle Boards of the Confederated Tribes of Warm Springs—on display through early June.

Invitation to join Public Health Preparedness Exercise

Warm Springs entities are invited to participate in a county Public Health Preparedness Exercise on May 10.

Departments and other groups invited to hand out the kits are elected officials, community members, and anyone who cares or asks, for one, 14 years or older.

The kits will include a variety of personal hygiene items, such as soap, shampoo, toothpaste, and hygiene items.

There are two ways to do this:

1. Be an “open point of dispensing,” where you hand kits out to anyone in the community. You or your department will be able to distribute the kits to the community, and can choose to be an open or closed beta site.

2. Be a “closed point of dispensing,” where you hand out kits only to your clients.

The Health Department will deliver the kits to your organization on May 11, if you are interested in helping.

There are many different organizations across many different organizations.

You can be a permanent site for a site to help with emergency response regarding medication to the community, and can choose to be an open or closed site.

Thank you to Hands Around the Courthouse for the beautiful crown on display. The 2020 crown is to be light blue and will include the Confederated Tribes flag and previous crown designs.

Toxins killing young salmon, study says

Young salmon swimming in the Willamette River are taking in toxins and dying before they can make it back out into the ocean, according to a recent study by NOAA Fisheries.

All the juvenile salmon tested were found within the Portland Harbor Superfund site just north of downtown Portland. The study found toxins like PCBs and DDT are making their way into juvenile Chinook salmon through the food they eat in that area. As a result, these salmon, all less than a year old, are likely not surviving long enough to make it back to the ocean.

But the study also pointed out that there is one thing we can do to help the fish survive. The researchers said if the contaminants are cleaned up, the salmon population in the Willamette River would increase significantly.

“Or our modeling suggests that we may be seeing, in the future, as much as a 20 percent increase in the number of adults that come back to spawn as a function of removing a lot of those toxics in the lower part of the river,” said eco-toxicologist Nat Scholz who was also lead author on the study.
