Back to school time

The 2019-2020 school year will see changes in the school district, like a new principal and assistant principal at the high school, and a new principal at Bridges. At the Warm Springs Academy the new principal is Bambi Van Dyke.

You can meet the new principals at the Warm Springs Back to School Barbecue this Thursday, August 29 from 4 to 6 p.m. at the Warm Springs Academy.

Principal Van Dyke comes to Warm Springs from Montana, where she was principal at the St. Charles Mission School, located by the Crow Reservation near Billings.

Ms. Van Dyke is originally from Walla Walla, later moved to Gresham, then Myrtle Beach, South Carolina, and Montana.

She arrived in Warm Springs just last Sunday evening, and was at work at the Academy the following morning. The first day of school is Tuesday, September 3, so

Ms. Van Dyke is having a busy week getting to know the staff and preparing for the start of the new year.

Meanwhile in some other developments: The Academy is talking with the Warm Springs Boys & Girls Club to locate the club at the school, giving the students easier access to the club activities. And the Academy continues to work with Culture and Heritage to bring language, tradition and culture lessons to the school.

New school year at Early Childhood Education

Casandra Moses is the new director of the Early Childhood Education Center. She started at ECE this summer. Her previous job was as the behavioral health specialist with the Opportunity Foundation in Redmond.

The day care at ECE is now open, and the Head Start students return on Tuesday, September 3. ECE is taking applications for Head Start and Early Head Start.

Ms. Moses has a 3-year-old of her own, Jolce, who will be starting soon at Head Start. Ms. Moses has two boys—Murray, 10, and Izeyah, 13—who will be at the Warm Springs Academy. And her eldest daughter is Savannah, 20.

Ms. Moses is a board member of the Central Oregon Disability Support Network. A goal for the future at ECE is to bring in a speech pathologist, making the service much more convenient for local families. Right now there is no speech pathologist in Central Oregon.

There will be a Back to School open house at the Early Childhood Education Center from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Tuesday, September 3.

The open house is a chance for parents to meet the teachers and other Head Start staff, and to visit the classrooms.

Learn more about enrolling your child by stopping by Warm Springs Early Childhood Education, or call 541-553-3242.

Report on Kah-Nee-Ta

Tribal Council, Management and Finance are preparing the 2020 budget proposal for presentation to the membership at the October district budget meetings.

Management and Finance plan to have a proposed budget for Council in early September. The Tribal Council for the rest of the month will then meet with the departments and enterprises to hear their individual budget updates.

At the end of the month Council will then approve a proposed budget number that cannot be exceeded for expenditures during the following year.

The current year budget was approved at $18.4 million. For next year a preliminary estimate foresees a budget of $14.8 million—a decrease of approximately $3.5 million. Some reasons for the decrease:

The Timber LLC is seeing a reduction in its timber revenue of $1.5 million. And the Carbon Sequestration (Warm Springs Geo Visions) dividend payment for the current year was close to $2.5 million, for 2020 the number is greatly reduced.

Other enterprises—in particular Power and Water, Indian Head Casino and Credit—are projecting greater dividends for the next year, though their increases would not be enough to offset the reduction.

A possible approach will be for the organization as a whole to absorb the $3.5 million reduction or to increase revenues by $3.5 million, said Michele Stacona, Secretary-Treasurer/CEO.

Water update

Earlier this week there were reports of water outages and low water pressure in the Greeley Heights area.

The apparent cause has been the rate at which the water treatment plant has been able to fill up the reservoirs.

The tanks were continuing to be filled as Tuesday of this week. While the boil water notice was lifted two weeks ago, tribal Utilities and Management continue to encourage water conservation.

The rate of consumption has been high in recent days, leading to the low reservoirs.

Enterprise updates at district meetings

The Seekseequa and Agency districts have heard recent updates from the tribal enterprises. At the Agency meeting on Monday evening this week, about 60 tribal members were in attendance.

The enterprise representatives reported on their operations, including employment, and their financial forecasts for 2020.

Tribal projected revenue for next year is significantly lower than for the current year (see related story on this page).

Projecting the amount of money each tribal enterprise will contribute to tribal operations is part of the annual tribal government budget process.

Revenue for the tribal budget comes from enterprise profits, plus the timber revenue, investment income, permits, taxes, fees, and settlements.

In September the Tribal Council will also meet with all of the enterprises, and the departments, as Council develops a budget proposal for membership review in October.

Indian Head Casino, which is projecting an increase in its dividend, reported on the employment situation at the casino and the Plateau Travel Plaza.

According to the August 2019 report, Indian Head employs 158 people. The breakdown is as follows: Tribal members, 53 percent. Married into the tribes, 6 percent. Other Indian, 11 percent. Non-Indian, 30 percent. And there are several open positions.

The Travel Plaza employs 53 people: Tribal members, 44 percent. No MITs. Other, 18 percent. Non-Indian, 38 percent. And few open positions.

Some other items from Indian Head: September-October will see an ATV Giveaway.

Jackpots are up in 2019, the report says. At the Plateau Travel Plaza tribal members get 5-cents off per gallon of gas, and 10-percent discount in the store side only.

The tribal member gas credit has been over $125,000 for 2018-19.

Warm Springs Composite Products reported on its expansion into another plant, happening this year.

All Composite product lines are expanding, and the enterprise created 19 additional jobs over the past year, their report says.

Power and Water, Credit, Warm Springs Telecom, Ventures, the Timber LLC gave additional reports at the recent district meetings.

Ventures board positions

Warm Springs Ventures is the economic development enterprise of the Confederated Tribes. The Tribal Council is seeking to fill the positions on the Ventures board of directors. Here are the details:

The board consists of five directors. Classification and terms of office:

The board is divided into three classes, designated Class I, Class II and Class III.

Class I consists of two individuals, one of whom shall be a member of the Confederated Tribes, and one of whom shall be a non-member. Terms ending December 31, 2019.

Class II consists of two individuals, one member and one non-member. Terms ending December 31, 2020.

Class III consists of two individuals, one member and one non-member. Terms ending December 31, 2021.

Directors are eligible for reappointment. General powers: The business and affairs of the corporation shall be managed and controlled by the board.

Regular meetings of the board are held on the first Friday in the months of February, May, August and November. Meetings are for reviewing the preceding three months' operations, making plans for the ensuing three months, operations, and the transaction of such other business as may come before the meeting.

The first regular meeting in each fiscal year shall also be the annual meeting of the board.

Special meetings of the board may be called by the chairperson of the board, or any three members of the board of directors. Meetings shall be held at the time and place specified by the person or persons calling such meeting.

The board of directors shall, from time to time, determine a reasonable director's fee and per diem to be paid to members of the board for time devoted to meetings and affairs of the corporation, comparable to director's fees paid to directors of other publicly held corporations of similar size.

The amount of such fees established by the board of directors shall be reported to the Secretary-Treasurer not less than thirty days before they shall become effective.

Expenses incurred in connection with performance of their official duties may be reimbursed to directors. Director's per diem and expenses shall be in an expense of Corporation.

Letters of interest and resumes of applicants interested in serving on the Ventures board should be submitted to the following address by no later than September 6:

Michele Stacona, Secretary-Treasurer/CEO
P.O. Box 455
Warm Springs, OR 97761

Authorization letter will be mailed to all applicants for a criminal and credit background check to be completed returned to Secretary-Treasurer/CEO office. Information will be submitted confidentially to the Secretary-Treasurer.

KWSO hosting appreciation barbecue this Friday

KWSO is hosting a community barbecue this Friday, August 30 at the Friday Market area by the Warm Springs Community Action Team. The barbecue will be from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The KWSO barbecue is a way to thank current KWSO members, and encourage others to support the tribes' community radio station, said Sue Matter, station manager.

For local news and information about what's going on in and around Warm Springs, you can listen to KWSO. You can also check out our website kwso.org

For listeners and those connecting online, KWSO is public media serving the Warm Springs area with news and useful information, not provided by any other outlets, "because our lens is local," Ms. Matters said.

KWSO operates with funds allocated by the Confederated Tribes of Warm Springs, and participates in the Community Service Grant program from the Corporation for Public Broadcasting.

The station also relies on underwriting revenue from local business and support from KWSO listeners through the membership program. You can learn more and sign up for one of two membership options at kwso.org

The KWSO sustaining membership program allows listeners to pledge either $10 or $20 a month.

Action Team promoting In a Landscape concert

The Warm Springs Community Action Team will host a Hunter Noack Concert—In a Landscape—on Thursday, September 5, starting an hour before sunset at P 600 Road, Trout Lake Road on the reservation.

The Community Action Team is looking for vendors of all kinds for the event. (Food handler's card required for food and drink vendors).

Vendors and people who want to go to the concert can sign up by this Friday, August 30 at the Community Action Team office. Tribal members need to register to get free admission.

The Community Action Team can be reached at 541-553-3148. The vendors contact is Emily Courtney. Registration contact is Dustin Seyler.

In a Landscape

Hunter Noack is a Classical pianist. He's Hunter Noack In a Landscape concert.

been inspired by the Works Progress Administration's Federal Music Project of the Great Depression of the 1930s.

He created In a Landscape: Classical Music in the Wild.

This is a summer concert series that celebrates both Classical music and the Oregon outdoors.

Playing a Steinway grand piano on a trailer, Mr.

Noack replaces the traditional concert hall with forests, fields and deserts.

The live classical music is transmitted to the audience through wireless headphones, which gives them freedom to wander through each landscape.

Since 2016, about 6,000 people from every county in Oregon have attended and many thousands more have experienced it through television, radio, and digital broadcasts.

Forty-three guest artists have been featured in 47 concerts.

He is working with the Warm Springs Community Action Team to bring the series to reservation in September. Call the Action Team at 541-553-3148 for information on attending, or vending.

Museum honors Native langugae revivalist

Yakama linguist Virginia Beavert has devoted much of her professional life to revitalizing the Indigenous languages of the Columbia River tribes, especially Ichishkeen, or Sahaptin.

“Why not speak your own language?” Ms. Beavert says.

“The Chinese speak their own language. The Japanese speak their own language. The Hindus. But it seems like English is just so overwhelming this place around the reservation.”

This month the Museum at Warm Springs hosted the Huckleberry Harvest, where the museum presented the Lifetime Achievement Award.

The honor this year goes to Dr. Beavert for her lifetime of work to preserve and breathe new life into the Native languages of the Northwest.

The museum presented the award at the Harvest, held at the High Desert Museum in Bend.

Also honored with the Twanat Award was Howard Arnett for his legal representation of the Confederated Tribes of Warm Springs on matters involving treaty rights, tribal sovereignty, tribal law development, government-to-government relations, and gaming. Howie has additional expertise in civil litigation and appellate practice.

Lifetime Achievement

Ms. Beavert has been the Washington State Indian Educator of the Year, and in 2004 was honored by the Indigenous Language Institute for her lifetime of work on language revitalization.

She was a key planner of the Yakama exhibit at the Smithsonian Institution’s National Museum of the American Indian, and has served on numerous committees and planning councils related to the documentation and preservation of Native languages.

In 2004, Virginia was the recipient of an NEH Faculty Research Award for work on a Yakima Sahaptin Lexicography. She has received numerous fellowships, including awards from the Smithsonian Institute, Dartmouth College, and the Washington State Arts Commission.

She has written and published several articles about Yakima language and culture.

Virginia is the co- author of the Yakima Sahaptin Dictionary with Dr. Sharon Hargus of the University of Washington, and a grammar of Sahaptin with Joana Jansen of the University of Oregon.

She is a 2007 recipient of the Ken Hale Prize, awarded by the Society for the Study of the Indigenous Languages of the Americas. And in 2008 she was received the Distinguished Service Award from the University of Oregon for her significant contribution to the cultural development of Oregon and society as a whole.

Virginia was awarded the University of Oregon Doctoral Research Fellowship, the highest honor for graduate study at UO.

She earned her Ph.D. in Linguistics in 2012. Her most recent book is The Gift of Knowledge / Tlnáwít Átanísh Nob'ínch'imamí: Reflections on Sahaptin Ways.

The Confluence project partnered with the Museum at Warm Springs to present a new video interview with Virginia and Phillip Cash Cash (Cayuse) of the University of Arizona, a portion of which she spoke in Ichishkin.

Harvest raises $105,000 for museum

More than 200 guests attended the Museum At Warm Springs Huckleberry Harvest Celebration and Honor Dinner.

The event this year raised $105,000 for the Museum at Warm Springs. The funding came from dinner ticket sales, sponsorships, additional grants and gifts, and a silent auction.

“The proceeds make it possible for the museum to continue to share the Confederated Tribes’ culture, history and art,” said museum executive director Elizabeth Woody.

The Huckleberry Harvest and Honor Dinner give the guests the opportunity to be immersed in the beauty and culture of our tribes, Ms. Woody said.

“We share traditional foods, music and art, making this a unique event,” she said, “one that we look forward to celebrating year after year.”

This year’s guest speaker was Dr. Phillip Cash Cash, of the Nez Perce and Cayuse tribes.

A renowned linguist and scholar, Cash Cash spoke to the importance of indigenous language preservation in a presentation titled, The Radical New Plateau Speaker.

This year’s event included two honorees. Howard Arnett, tribal attorney, was honored with the museum’s prestigious Twanat Award.

Mr. Arnett has served the tribes for nearly four decades. His areas of representation include treaty rights, tribal sovereignty, Indian law development, government-to-government relations and gaming.

Mr. Arnett is also a longtime supporter of the Museum At Warm Springs.

Dr. Virginia Beavert of the Yakama Nation was honored with the Museum’s Lifetime Achievement Award.

Ms. Beavert is a linguist and scholar, and professor at the University of Oregon.

She is a highly respected teacher and fluent speaker of her language, Yakama Sahaptin. Beavert has worked throughout her life to teach and preserve her Native language.

In August at the High Desert Museum, the Museum at Warm Springs and the Confluence Project recorded Mr. Cash Cash and Ms. Beavert in conversation in Ichishkin and English.

Native filmmakers Woody Hunt (Modoc and Cherokee) and LaRonn Katchia of Warm Springs taped the three-hour storytelling and cultural presentation.

Thank you to the event’s major sponsors:

The Confederated Tribes of Warm Springs, Ken Smith, Karnopp Petersen attorneys, the University of Oregon, the Confederated Tribes of Siletz, Central Oregon Landwatch, Brooks Resources, Empire Construction, ASI Wealth Management, Oxford Suites and Inns, Pahlisch Homes, Portland General Electric and Warm Springs Power and Water Enterprise, the Gordon Family, Sunriver Resort, the City of Bend, Miller Lumber, and Orrick Herrington & Sutcliffe LLP.

Warm Springs Chief Delvis Heath, Warm Springs Tribal Council Chairman Raymond Tsumpti, the Confederated Tribes of Siletz Tribal Council Chairman Delores Pigsley and other Siletz Tribal Council members were among the dignitaries who attended this year’s Harvest and Honor Dinner.

Citizens of the Coquille Indian Tribe, Confederated Tribes of Siletz Indians, Confederated Tribes of the Umatilla Indian Reservation, Modoc, Nez Perce Tribe, Tohono O’odham Nation and Yakama Nation also joined the evening’s celebration.

Academy parking project

The Warm Springs Academy is a popular place for the community during events such as student concerts and sports games. Parking has been an issue at the school: During some events people have to park along the side of the road. The school district is addressing the matter. A district work crew (above) made a new parking area in the front area of the school. Asphalt from the recent Highway 26 project was used for the paving.

During the summer school session, Warm Springs Fire Management visited with kindergartners at the Warm Springs Academy. Fire Management gave a demonstration of fire-fighting techniques, and allowed the students to test some of the equipment, such as the spot-fire water packs.

There will be a Memorial and Headstone Setting on Saturday, August 31 for Urbana ‘Toto’ Ross. Meal to follow at the Brunoe property. Memorial and Setting at the Agency Cemetery, starting at 9 a.m.

Health team helping eliminate bed bugs

Bed bugs are a nuisance insect: They feed on human blood, and that of other warm-blooded animals like dogs, cats, etc.

The bugs are active at night, though not exclusively. They do not transmit disease, but they bite—causing loss of sleep—and are difficult to get rid of.

Bed bugs hide in mattresses, household cracks and crevices, windows and door frames, baseboards, etc.

They can be killed by exposure to 120-degree heat for at least a minute. If an entire house is infected, though, the cost for a complete eradication can be several thousand dollars.

Education and prevention are the best ways to keep bed bugs away, and this is the goal of the Warm Springs Bed Bug Buster Team.

Team members are from Warm Springs Community Health,

The size of an adult bedbug compared with a US penny Family Preservation, the Tribal Grow Program, and HAPPI (Health and Prevention Promotion Initiative).

The team formed just this month, though individual members have been meeting and talking about the matter on and off for a year or more.

There are no statistics as to the incidence of bed bugs in reservation households. An upcoming Buster Team informal survey, at the Back to School Barbecue, will give a general idea of the situation.

Information about bed bugs is the best way to deal with the problem, especially how not to spread the insect from one building to another.

And they spread easily, clinging to clothing and luggage; transporting from place to place by hiding in a vehicle, for instance.

With this article, the Bed Bug Buster Team is beginning an education campaign. Here are some initial helpful prevention tips:

Check secondhand purchases—furniture, clothing, etc.—before taking it home. Reduce clutter in home to minimize hiding places for bed bugs. Vacuum floors and furniture often. Cover power outlets. Inspect your home for bed bug signs.

For more information on available resources, contact the Tribal Grow Program at 541-615-0143.

Candidates tackle tough issues at historic Native forum

On a day of promises and acknowledgements of past wrongs, presidential candidates speaking at a historic political forum at Sioux City, Iowa offered differing solutions to the many problems facing Indian Country.

Some of the boldest promises came from New York Mayor Bill de Blasio, one of 10 total Democratic candidates who participated in the first ever Frank LaMere Native American Presidential Forum, held in August in Sioux City at the Orpheum Theatre.

“There are some of these moments in our history that are particularly painful because there’s not even a hint of justice, and the case of Leonard Peltier is one of them,” de Blasio said via Skype to the nearly 200 people gathered for Tuesday’s forum. “And I will do anything I can to support you in seeking that clemency.”

De Blasio was responding to a passionate plea for justice from Julian Bear Runner, president of the Oglala Sioux Tribe, who decried his own arrest at Standing Rock for criminal trespass while taking part in demonstrations there and asked de Blasio for help in freeing Peltier.

The mayor’s promise to free Peltier, who is serving two life terms in prison in connection with a fatal American Indian Movement clash with federal authorities on the Pine Ridge Reservation, home to Bear Runner’s tribal community, in 1975, was one of many calls for justice for the wrongs committed against Native people by presidential candidates.

Two Native advocacy organizations, Four Directions and the Native Organizers Alliance, hosted the forum, which was the first of the 2020 presidential cycle to focus on Indian issues and the first of its kind in more than a decade.

The forum was named for the late Winnebago activist Frank LaMere, who died in June after a brief bout with cancer. LaMere was a nationally recognized Democratic Party and Native civil rights activist.

The forum featured 10 Democratic candidates for president: de Blasio of New York City; Elizabeth Warren, the U.S. Senator from Massachusetts; Amy Klobuchar, the U.S. Senator from Minnesota; Bernie Sanders, the U.S. Senator from Vermont; best-selling author Marianne Williamson; Steve Bullock, the governor of Montana; Julián Castro, a former Secretary of Housing and Urban Development; John Delaney, a former U.S. Congressman from Maryland; Kamala Harris, the U.S. Senator from California; and Joe Sestak, a former U.S. Congressman from Pennsylvania

Independent candidate Mark Charles, a citizen of the Navajo Nation, also attended the forum.

On Tuesday, Sanders promised to support rescinding the 20 Medals of Honor awarded to soldiers who killed women and children at the Wounded Knee Massacre of 1890.

“Medals of Honor are given rarely, and they’re given to people who’ve done very, very important things,” he said. “Massacring women and children is not an act of great bravery. It is an act of depravity.”

Nearly every candidate who spoke supported rescinding the Medals of Honor granted as a result of Wounded Knee.

Only one candidate, former Maryland Congressman John Delaney, said he would need to research each medal awarded at Wounded Knee to decide whether to rescind all or just some of the medals.

Initially describing the massacre as a “battle,” Delaney said he didn’t support a blanket apology for Wounded Knee and needed to study the event more to decide whether to rescind any of the medals.

But Delaney also expressed support for combating the disproportionate rate of indigenous women who disappear or are murdered each year.

“There’s a long shadow that continues across time based on certain actions,” he said. “It’s incredibly important to have some sort of reconciliation . . . to start getting out of the shadow.”

Asked whether he would support fully funding Indian health needs, Delaney said his plan to establish a universal health care system for all Americans would benefit Indian Country as well. But Victoria Kitcheyan, Winnebago tribal council member and chairwoman of the National Indian Health Board, said universal health care would not fix the broken Indian Health Service. In response, Delaney promised to fully fund Indian health needs if elected.

Sanders said, if elected, he would reform Native health care.

“We will reform fundamentally the Indian Health Service so that it will take care of your needs and the needs of all Native American people,” he said.

He said fully funding the agency wouldn’t cost the country even as much as “one new weapon system for the Pentagon.”

He said, as president, he would prevent corporations from damaging lands that belong to Native people and would give tribes a seat at the head of the table, especially on issues of environmental policy.

“The Native American people did not kill thousands and thousands of buffalo because they understood that the buffalo gave them life,” he said.

40 under 40

The National Center for American Indian Enterprise Development in August honored its 2019 Native American 40 under 40 award recipients.

Each year, the National Center recognizes 40 emerging Native American and Alaska Native leaders who have demonstrated leadership, initiative, and dedication and made significant contributions in business, their professions, or in their communities.

Alyssa Macy, Chief Operations Officer of the Confederatd Tribes, received the award in 2014.

This 2019 class—the eleventh—featured leaders from a wide variety of fields, including tribal and state government, gaming, tribal economic development, business and consulting, academia, health care, the law, theater, marketing, and hospitality. Winners hail from 18 states and Washington, DC.

Over 30 unique tribes and Native affiliations are represented among the winners.

“The 2019 class of our Native American 40 under 40 Award winners is a truly impressive group of amazing young leaders,” said Chris James, President and CEO of the National Center.

The list of 2019 recipients can be seen at nativenewsonline.net
