Covid-19 community update

As of earlier this week, the Warm Springs Health and Wellness Center had sent in or tested 765 individuals for Covid-19, with 50 positive cases. Of these, most of the people have recovered. Three had been hospitalized, and two discharged. One individual had been hospitalized for a non-Covid condition; then tested positive while hospitalized.

The person was released to quarantine: The situation raised a legal matter of how to ensure compliance with quarantine for the health and safety of the community—both from the tribal perspective, and that of the county. Tribal Council is addressing the county question with the state attorney general and the governor.

Meanwhile, “We continue to do random surveillance testing of our high-risk community members,” said Hyllis Dauphinais, clinic executive director. “We have also started a broader surveillance of the tribal employees, as the community starts the reopen process.”

The Warm Springs Covid-19 Response Team expresses their appreciation, as the 50-positive number held through the weekend. Health and Wellness has reported no positive cases among their staff.

“Their safety protocols are to be celebrated, with their ongoing discipline,” Mr. Dauphinais said.

As more states, including Oregon, begin reopening, the important thing for the tribal community to remember is, “The corona virus is still among us,” Mr. Dauphinais said.

The Covid-19 Response Team continues to distribute food as necessary, and continues to obtain sanitation and safety supplies, as the tribes are reopening, said Dan Martinez, director of Emergency Response.

Tribal Council this week also discussed the matter of the clinic capacity to treat some conditions, such as dental or other emergencies; or how to refer these cases to outside providers—difficult questions during unprecedented pandemic conditions. Ensuring the health and welfare of the membership is the overriding priority, Council members agreed.

Indian Head Casino set to reopen Thursday

The Confederated Tribes of Warm Springs announced this week that Indian Head Casino will reopen at 10 a.m. this Thursday, June 18.

“We are very excited to open and with the amount of phone calls we receive on a daily basis from our guests, we know they are looking forward to our opening too,” said Belinda Chavez, director of marketing for Indian Head Gaming.

“We are committed to following the Centers for Disease Controls’ guidelines, and we have implemented safety and sanitation measures in addition to limiting our occupancy to 250 total guests,” Ms. Chavez said.

A few things you should keep in mind before you head over to Indian Head Casino:

The casino will open with new operating hours of 10 a.m.

Guests will enter the casino through the doors on the east side, which is the entrance to the Cottonwood Restaurant.

to 2 a.m.

All guests will be required to enter the casino through the doors on the east side of the building, which is the entrance to Cottonwood Restaurant.

Facemasks will be required for all guests and employees, as well as a touchless temperature check before entering the building.

Once you are on the casino floor you will notice a few small changes:

At least initially, the entire property at Indian Head Casino will be non-smoking.

Plexiglass shields and social distancing markers have been installed in high traffic areas such as the Players Club, cashier booths and the check-out counter at the Tule Grill.

In addition to new cleaning procedures, the casino will provide many hand sanitizing stations on the casino floor.

The slot machines will be open and ready for play from the moment the doors open. The table games, however, will open on a later date.

All restaurants at Indian Head Casino will be open for take-out, and the Cottonwood restaurant will offer curbside delivery.

Indian Head Casino voluntarily closed on March 18 in response to the Covid-19 pandemic and continued to stay closed for nearly three months.

It was a graduation ceremony unlike any other—conducted in an atmosphere of safety, and yet celebration.

Family and friends of the graduates arrived in cars and pickups decorated especially for the occasion. Called to the stage one at a time, only the graduate was allowed to leave the vehicle while on the ceremony grounds.

The commencement speeches and performances were all pre-recorded, made available by internet.

For a job well done, Congratulations to the Graduates of the Class of 2020.

Impact panel on Tuesday

Behavioral Health will host a victim impact panel—the Hurt of One is the Hurt of All—on Tuesday, June 23 at the Warm Springs Baptist Church. Because of Covid-19, all participants will be screened at the door, must wear a mask and practice social distancing.

The panel will be from 6 to 7:30 p.m. For more information contact Sarah at 541-553-3205. Or email: sarah.frank@wstribes.org

Tribes okay June fishery at the Columbia River

The Columbia River tribes have set a June fishery, with the following provisions:

Zone 6

For all of the zone 6 area, from 6 a.m. on Monday, June 22 to 6 p.m. on Wednesday, June 24.

Gear: Set and drift gillnets with a 7-inch minimum mesh size restriction. Allowable sales: Salmon (any species), steelhead, shad, yellow perch, bass, walleye, catfish and carp may be sold or retained for subsistence.

Fish landed during the open periods are allowed to be sold after the period concludes. Sturgeon may not be sold, but sturgeon from 38 to 54 inches fork length in the Bonneville pool, and sturgeon from 43 to 54 inches fork length in The Dalles and John Day pools may be kept for subsistence purposes.

Closed areas: River mouth and dam closed areas applicable to gillnets in effect. The Spring Creek hatchery closed area is not in effect in the summer management period. The tribes will consider additional commercial gillnet fishing at a later time.

Platform, hook & line

Zone 6 platform and hook and line fishery. Area: All of zone 6. Date and times: Fish caught after 6 a.m. on Monday, June 22 may be sold commercial until further notice.

Allowable sales: Salmon (any species), steelhead, shad, yellow perch, bass, walleye, catfish and carp may be sold or retained for subsistence. Fish landed during the open periods are allowed to be sold after the period concludes. Sturgeon may not be sold, but sturgeon from 38-54 inches fork length in the Bonneville pool, and sturgeon from 43-54 inches fork length in The Dalles and John Day pools, and may be kept for subsistence purposes.

Other rules: All other regulations for the ongoing zone 6 platform and hook and line fishery remain unchanged.

You can reach the tribes’ Natural Resources Branch at 541-553-2001.

Homes in Warm Springs should all have received an invitation to participate in the 2020 Census along with the paper version of the Census Questionnaire.

Please take time to complete the Census for your household today, if you haven't already done so.

You can complete the paper form and return it in the provided prepaid envelope.

You can also complete the 2020 Census online at <https://my2020census.gov/>

The U.S. Constitution mandates a census of the population every 10 years. Responding to the 2020 Census is easy, safe and important, and it's key to shaping the future of communities. Census statistics are used to determine the number of seats each state holds in the U.S. House of Representatives and informs how hundreds of billions of dollars in public funds are allocated by state, local and federal lawmakers for public services and infrastructure like hospitals, emergency response, schools and bridges over the next 10 years.

For Warm Springs Residents who have completed the Census online, by phone or by mail – the Warm Springs Complete Count Committee wants to THANK YOU. Join us for a Drive Through recognition of you doing your part, pick up a gift and a meal!

Your vote

I would like to thank the voters of Warm Springs and surrounding areas that came out to vote in the May 19 Primary Election. This was the first year our Oregon mail-in ballots included pre-paid postage to return ballots! I am excited about this and hope this positive change will make it easier for all of us to vote.

During this time of Covid-19, and our need to stay safe and healthy, it is difficult to meet with people and learn more about individual and community needs.

I hope people will come to know I am open to being contacted to learn about the cares and concerns of your communities.

One thing Covid-19 has brought out into the open is the lack of internet access and bandwidth for those of us living in rural communities. Senators Wyden and Merkley are working diligently, and have written and introduced legislation "aimed at ensuring all k-12 students have adequate home internet connectivity and devices." This would include resources for tribal schools and libraries.

I strongly support this and other legislation that would bring needed resources to our communities.

We have another big election coming up, the General Election on November 3. I encourage you to make your voice heard by voting; and remind your neighbor and relatives to vote, as it takes all of us to make change.

And while I am on the ballot for Jefferson County Commissioner again, and want to earn your vote, most important is that you vote!

Please contact me at 541-980-6371 if you have questions or concerns that I need to be aware of or should gain understanding about.

Thanks again to the voters of Warm Springs!

COCC celebrates 2020 graduates

More than 600 college degrees and certificates are being conferred at the Central Oregon Community College's 2020 commencement.

The commencement was originally set for last Saturday, and has since been moved instead to a web format due to Covid-19 restrictions.

A compilation of videoed presentations, now accessible, will deliver the customary, from the graduate address to the conferment of diplomas. The college has also invited 2020 graduates to walk in next year's ceremony.

Sonya Littledeer-

Evans—a 1997 COCC graduate and now the deputy director of the Deschutes County Juvenile Community Justice Department—provides this year's recorded graduate address.

The college weighed many options in reshaping the event. In the end the college decided to offer its students the classic traditions, albeit prerecorded, said Ron Paradis, COCC spokesperson.

Graduates received packets in advance that included a congratulatory letter from COCC president Dr. Laurie Chesley; and a COCC 2020 mortarboard tassel.

The college also celebrated graduates across its social media channels, sharing students' photos and degrees on Facebook and Instagram.

The college's summer term begins on June 22.

Looking ahead, the college plans to offer some in-person instruction at all campuses this fall, along with online, remote and hybrid options for students, though the college is prepared to move to fully remote or online instruction if directed by state guidelines.

For more information call Ron at 541-383-7599.

Registration has started for COCC's Summer Term for Adult Basic Skills Class. Due to Covid-19, clases will be offered through a combination of remote and online instruction.

Essential Communication class will be Monday and Wednesday afternoons; and Essentials of Math will be Tuesday and Thursday afternoons.

To learn more and sign up email: jjudd@cocc.edu

Or call the ABS office at 541-504-2950.

Summer Solstice this Saturday

In the Northern Hemisphere, the June solstice—also called the Summer Solstice—occurs when the sun reaches both its highest and northernmost points in the sky, marking the beginning of summer.

This year the Summer Solstice happens on Saturday, June 20. After the solstice, the sun appears to reverse course and head back in the opposite direction.

The Summer Solstice is the day with the longest period of sunlight: The sun appears highest in the sky at the solstice.

In the Southern Hemisphere the June solstice marks the beginning of winter. The word 'solstice' comes from Latin solstitium—from sol (sun) and stitium (still or stopped).

During MHS Academic Honors Week

During the recent Academic Week, Madras High School is proud to honor the following students as 2020 TurnAround Award Recipients:

Cameryn Halliday is a junior at Madras High School. Here are a couple of comments from two of Cameryn's teachers:

"This young lady has really stepped up and taken her education more seriously this year compared to years past. If you look at her previous grades, you can see that she has made improvements each year from ninth grade to tenth grade to currently.

"She is a joy to have in the classroom and even though she is repeating Geometry with me this year, she never complains about having to do it again. She knows what she needs to do and she's definitely willing to put in the hard work and effort it takes to get it done."

— Kristy Gilmore

Dapri Miller was nominated by Madras High School Reserve Officers Training Corps (ROTC) instructor Captain Kip Briggs.

Cameryn Halliday

Dapri Miller

Angel Solis

Dapri participated in three sports at Madras High School—football, basketball and tennis. He hopes to attend Lane Community College this fall, where he can play basketball for the school and study nursing.

Cpt. Briggs explained that Dapri participated in ROTC early in high school, but was a reluctant participant and didn't do well. But Captain Briggs persisted: "After Dapri left the program we continued to talk and our relationship grew. I think he just needed someone to show interest in him as a person.

"He started working harder in his classes, and came back to us for his senior year... He became one of the hardest working students in the entire school. I am very proud of him."

Dapri's physics teacher says: "He's a unique learner, who often figures out how to solve complex problems in different ways. He's tough on the exterior, but possesses a soft heart. Over the past two years he has matured and become more selfless."

Angel Solis is a junior at the high school. He explains his turn-around as a student:

"I figured it out—that I had to buckle down and start focusing academically—particularly using my time well."

Angel's chemistry teacher says of him: "He has learned to push himself academically. He asks excellent higher-level thinking questions. He is kind to other students and really is helpful assisting other students who struggle in class. He's a cool kiddo—and he brings the entire classroom up to another level."

And Ange's physics teacher says, "He was willing to drop old learning habits and develop new habits. He shows an interest beyond academics to extra-curricular activities. He realized that he could become a 'learner,' and really embraced a growth mindset."

First Generations funding at COCC

The Central Oregon Community College First Generations student program helps Native American students with scholarships and support staff. The program just received more than $210,000 for two years of assistance.

The financial boost will enable the college to build on its successful First Generations programs, such as its college-prep and high school mentorship offerings for these underserved populations.

Key projects include college preparation and cultural classes at regional high schools, and one-week summer symposiums at the Bend campus, where Native American high school students can earn college credit and gain a feel for the college experience.

The grant will allow two part-time positions to increase hours and help cover the costs of summer symposium participation for many students. COCC First Generation Students is also creating an Afrocentric student program.

"We are beyond excited to have this funding," said Christy Walker, COCC's director of Diversity and Inclusion. "This will greatly support the college's commitment to building an inclusive and welcoming learning environment, one focused on equity for our students." The new grant period is scheduled to begin on July 1.

In part because of these programs, the COCC Native American student population has increased 20 percent in recent years, even while overall COCC student population has declined.

COCC data demonstrates that the programs have led to a 98 percent high school graduation rate for students participating in the programs, a rate that surpasses Oregon's overall graduation rate for Native American students. Approximately 76 percent of students in the high school college preparation programs go on to college, Walker said, with many choosing to attend COCC.

Message from W.S. prosecutor's office on Elder Abuse Awareness

June is Elder Abuse Awareness Month, and the Confederated Tribes Prosecutor's Office would like to share the following information:

The possible indicators of elder abuse are physical and sexual abuse, with possible indicators: Cuts, punctures, bruises, welts, grip marks; any unexplained injury that doesn't fit with the given explanation; any injury that has not been properly cared for; burns, possibly caused by cigarettes, caustics, friction, etc.

Neglect: Dirt, smells or other health and safety hazards in the adult's living environment; rashes, sores, lice; soiled clothing or bed linens.

Verbal abuse: humiliating, insulting, or threatening language used by the caregiver; the elder may be withdrawn and non-responsive or non-communicative; subtle signs of intimidation—deferring questions to the caregiver/abuser.

Abandonment, seclusion or restraint: The elder's report of not being allowed to see or speak with people who they would reasonably see or speak with; not allowed to use the telephone, or send or receive mail.

Report immediately to local law enforcement if you are concerned. Give as much information as possible, and explain the allegation of abuse.

There is a Department of Human Services hotline for reporting: 1-855-503-SAFE (7233).

By order of the Twenty-Eighth Tribal Council of the Confederated Tribes of Warm Springs, the following provisions still apply on the reservation:

All citizens on the reservation are to wear a face covering mask while in public places, where social distancing of six feet or greater cannot be maintained.

Following a test result of negative or positive, all citizens of the reservation and employees working within the boundaries are to self-isolate and quarantine as directed by healthcare professionals.

Tribes assume stewardship of research institution

The Columbia River Inter-Tribal Fish Commission has assumed stewardship of a nationally renowned ocean and estuary research institution. The move is to better link knowledge of the Columbia River and the Pacific Ocean.

The Center for Coastal Margin Observation and Prediction was transferred in May in an agreement between between CRITFC and the Oregon Health & Science University.

The Center for Coastal Margin Observation adn Prediction, or CMOP, is dedicated to the study of estuaries; and blends science, education and regional outreach.

Integral to its creation was a pioneering infrastructure for the observation and open access to scientific data and tools.

“This is a tremendous ca-capacity-building advance for the Columbia River tribes,” said Jeremy Red Star Wolf, chairman of the tribal fish commission.

“Our professional river and salmon management staffs have wanted more ocean and river connectivity in research, applied science and management. CMOP will help deliver that. I want to commend the OHSU and CRITFC staffs for putting the pieces together and making this transition happen.”

The information is used by fishers, shipping companies, aquaculture businesses, weather forecasters, public utilities, search-and-rescue teams and countless others to make informed decisions.

Our tomorrow is now.

According to us, we're resilient...

It is time for the 2020 Census and we need to participate now. Our children are counting on us as it helps shape the future of our communities. Census data is used for programs and grants that are important for all American Indians and Alaska Natives.

Complete the census online, by phone, or by mail.

Schoolie Flats water

As of last Friday mid morning, June 12 all documents, including the water analysis report, have been submitted to the Environmental Protection Agency for review.

That afternoon the EPA concurred with the tribes' Public Utilities Department to lift the boil water notice effective immediately.

The water/waste-water department is moving forward with seeking funding and analyzing the water system for rehabilitation work.

This could result in the the work being done in phases until completely restored with an upgraded system, including all components of the booster station and related piping.

YouthBuild recruiting in W.S.

The YouthBuild fast-track education and job training program is recruiting Warm Springs youth for the next session, beginning in September. YouthBuild will hold its first information session virtually on Tuesday, June 23.

After this, the sessions should be held in person at the YouthBuild center in Sisters.

Tax filing deadline approaching

The tax filing deadline this year is July 15, postponed from April 15. As the date is drawing near, the Internal Revenue Service is reminding all taxpayers who have yet to file their 2019 federal tax return to file electronically now.
