Community update

As of earlier this week, the Warm Springs Health and Wellness Center had sent in or tested 3,809 total Covid-19 tests. Of the total, 3,459 have come back negative. Since the pandemic began there have been 328 total positives on the reservation.

Forty-one members were hospitalized for Covid-19 at some time since March; and there have been nine deaths. Good news this week was that no one was currently hospitalized for Covid, as of Tuesday.

And as of earlier this week, there were six people on the reservation with active Covid-19, receiving daily monitoring by tribal and IHS staff. Eighteen people were identified through contact tracing, and were being monitored daily (see page 3).

Flu vaccine

The Warm Springs Health and Wellness Center noted the following numbers regarding the seasonal flu vaccine on the reservation.

Receiving the vaccine through Community Health-IHS have been 86 federal employees, almost 90 percent of the total; and 606 community members, or roughly 11 percent of the user population.

In the state of Oregon overall there have been eight recent deaths due to Covid-19, bringing the statewide covid death toll to 627. Oregon also reported 266 newly confirmed cases, bringing the statewide total since March to 39,794.

The learning approach until schools reopen

In a way everyone is new at school this year. All of the teachers had to master a wholly new approach to teaching, while the students did the same with learning and studying.

The high school teachers and students are using an online approach they call ‘the Big 3.’

The Big 3 platforms are Google Classroom, Google Meet and Google Sites. In this way the classroom experience, mentoring, tutoring, and study hall are held virtually. Teachers give the lessons from classrooms, or sometimes from home, while the students mostly stay home, or travel to a nearby hotspot to connect to the internet.

At Madras High School the school sports were rearranged: The current sports through this week are spring games like baseball and softball. At practice everyone adheres to Covid-19 safety guidelines, and there is no competition with other schools. Even the school food service is completely different: At the high school the buses that once carried students are used to deliver the school breakfasts and lunches.

“Everyone is new this year, and I think they’ve done a fantastic job,” said Tammie Schongalla, instructional coach at the high school, where she worked for 20 years.

The classes continue as routine as possible, under the circumstances, and other school programs continue as well. An example: The Oregon Health Sciences University On-Track program continues with the district, using the online format. On-Track has helped a number of students from Warm Springs enter medical and health care higher education programs.

And the Future Center program continues with new coordinator Samantha Loza. Ms. Loza is a Madras High School graduate. She also graduated from Oregon State University-Cascades, then spent a decade with Central Oregon Community College in the advising office. Her passion is helping students identify and navigate their career and educational goals.

Currently, Samantha is coordinating a virtual financial aid event for Madras High School seniors, set for 6 to 7:30 p.m. next Wednesday, October 28. Efforts are also in the works for Class of 2021 mentorships. Ms. Loza encourages students to check out the Class of 2021 Google Classroom, which features various resources and tools helpful for college and post-secondary training prep after high school.

Scholarship information is housed in a program called Naviance. If seniors haven’t done so already, please see: naviance.com

And complete your Next Steps survey.

Students with specific questions regarding college, post-secondary training or financial aid, please call Samantha at 51-475-7265 ext. 2321. Or email: sloza@509j.net

Personnel changes

Ken Parshall, superintendent of the Jefferson County School District 509-J, announced he will be retiring at the end of this school year. Mr. Parshall, 57, has been superintendent since 2017. He began his career with the district two years earlier, when he joined the Warm Springs Academy as school principal.

Before coming to 509-J, Mr.

Parshall was assistant superintendent of the Salem-Keizer school district, and earlier served at the Crook County High School principal.

The 509-J board is now working on the request for proposal to advertise the superintendent position. The board formed a committee to navigate the superintendent hiring process, the goal being to find the best candidate for the job, said Laurie Danzuka, board chairwoman. Mr. Parshall began weighing his retirement option a year ago. Then in the spring of last school year the pandemic closed all of the schools in the district.

A follow-up to the 2020 Warm Springs Census count

Caroline M. Cruz

Confederated Tribes
Health and Human Services

On behalf of the Warm Springs Census committee I would like to thank all those who submitted their 2020 Census.

Last February 2020 the Tribal Council passed a resolution, parts of the resolution state the following:

Whereas the undercount of the Native American population on or near the Confederated Tribes of Warm Springs Reservation has directly resulted in the loss of federal funding for the operation of Tribal programs and services on behalf of the membership of the Confederated Tribes of Warm Springs; and

Whereas the Confederated Tribes of Warm Springs supports the upcoming 2020 National Census to make sure all Native Americans are counted, more specifically the members of the Confederated Tribes of Warm Springs; and

Whereas the Tribe is committed to a partnership with the Census Bureau, and has appointed the Human Resources Director and the Secretary/CEO as the Tribal Census Liaison’s for the Confederated Tribes of Warm Springs.

Health and Human Services General Manager, Caroline Cruz was named the Chair of the Warm Springs Census Committee, who appointed Jaylyn Suppah to take the lead with outreach with the community.

Staff assisting: Cheryl Tom, Michele Stacona, Andy Leonard, Jillessa Suppah, Jayceline Brisbois, Antonio Gentry, Joni Wallulatum, Scott Kalama, TJ Foltz, Rosanna Jackson, Charlene Dimmick, Ron Hager, Misty Kopplin, Sue Matters, Brutis, Mushy, Margie Kalama, Shana Radford, Dot Thurby, Johnson Bill, Geri Polk, Rick Walker, Britany Archer, Martha Winishut, Danny Martinez, Hazen Bruisedhead, Flint Scott, Wayman Harry, Lorien Stacona, Gordon Scott, Mike Collins, Cecelia Collins, Rachel Storkel, Buffy, Danielle Woods and her staff, Edmund Francis, Mike Holyan and many others.

Too many barriers prevented us from reaching community members to complete their census. One major barrier was the Census Bureau at the federal level prohibiting census forms to be mailed to P.O. boxes.

Census Enumerators could not begin mapping homes and dropping off paper census forms until Memorial Day weekend due to our high numbers of Covid-19 cases, yet many households failed to turn the paper forms in.

Other barriers were the water crisis, the fires, unhealthy air quality and the need to social distance, preventing the committee to provide community activities.

Several drive-ins were held to promote the census such as distributing Easter Egg bags, handing out t-shirts once your census was completed, prizes and incentives, serving hot dogs and hamburgers, use of the media, flyers handed out, etc.

We were contacted on September 17 that our return rate was at 42 percent. Nationwide, rural areas and those with P.O. boxes were not submitting their census forms.

The deadline had been moved from October 30 back to September 30. Though the deadline was later moved to October 15, this left us with the dilemma of more than 50 percent of Warm Springs not being counted and insufficient time to reach community members, though there were multiple efforts to encourage community members to file.

It was at this time the Census Bureau notified us of the following: Tribal proxy enumeration had been approved by their headquarters for tribes without NRFU—nonresponse follow up—and those in areas impacted by the wildfire. Basically, the tribe would determine the designated proxies, a census official would swear us in, and then we would coordinate with the Area Census Office (the ACO) to provide the required survey information on each of the households in the NRFU caseload.

The ACO had approximately 398 cases for Warm Springs, and had compiled the list to provide to the proxies.

A proxy is anyone—a tribe, housing authority, or enrollment staff, etc.—who knows or has information on what is asked on the census survey—regarding information such as a housing unit or population, racial demographic, etc. It was to be very similar to how the Census Bureau conducts their group quarters enumeration, where the tribe would utilize their own administrative records in order to complete the remaining cases.

They wanted tribal nations to receive a complete and accurate count, and this was an option for us.

Keep in mind that the Census Bureau has very strict and the highest standards when it comes to confidentiality, and they will ensure personal information is protected.

In order for the committee to fulfill the Warm Springs Census resolution the decision was made for a small group from the committee to be sworn in as proxies.

We were sworn in on September 28, by Census Bureau representative Carla-Dean Calderas. The Proxy Team worked with five Census Bureau enumerators who inputted the data the team gathered on each uncounted household. There were several households who already submitted their census, but we provided the information a second time to make sure we were counted. We worked on this for two weeks and were able to provide information on the households provided by the census headquarters.

We completed the Warm Springs Census Count on October 9, 2020. If you have questions on the process you can call me, Caroline M. Cruz at 541-553-0497.

New Indian Education board in office

Jaylyn Suppah this year continues her term on the board of the National Indian Education Association.

Ms. Suppah is a student of Evergreen State College, and community planner for the Confederated Tribes. At Evergreen, Jaylyn is a graduate student, working toward a Master's Degree in Public Administration-Tribal Governance program.

She was elected to the NIEA board last year. She serves on the NIEA Advocacy Committee, the Native Education Systems Committee, and the Government Committee.

The National Indian Education Association is the leading Native education advocacy organization.

The association announced new board members last week, noting also that Jaylyn and four other board members will continue their terms.

Patricia Whitefoot, of the Yakama Nation, also continues her term with the NIEA, now serving as board vice president.

Last week, during the Annual NIEA Convention and Trade show—the first ever in a virtual format—the new board members were sworn-in during the closing ceremony.

The five newly elected and seven current board members take on the challenge of governing a Native education organization during times of unprecedented educational disruption.

Crews continue work on Lionshead fire

Control of the Lionshead fire is divided among three local units: The Warm Springs Agency, the Willamette National Forest and the Mt. Hood National Forest.

On the reservation the fire burned roughly 97,000 acres, and another 107,000 acres off reservation. The fire broke out during a lightning storm on August 16.

Currently, each of the three agencies is working to manage their portion of the fire in the most efficient means possible.

Hunting, woodcutting and gathering remain closed to members throughout the fire area.

There are currently dozer and grader machinery operations ongoing around the J-100, J-200, P-500 and J-210 roads, as well as chipping operations.

Aerial resources include one helicopter to monitor hot spots and to best support the footprint of the fire.

Crews continue to ensure that fire is no longer active or burning along the fire perimeter.

Islands or pockets of unburnt fuels well within the fire's boundaries do continue to be monitored and will put up slight columns of smoke in the days to come. Suppression work continues with long term repair assessments.

All non-fire personnel should remain outside of the fire's general vicinity of the south-west quadrant of the reservation. Safety is the number one concern of everyone working on the Lionshead fire.

At their meeting last week in Warm Springs, the district board members thanked Mr. Parshall for his service with the district. "We know that you live and breathe 509-J," said board member Jamie Hurd. "And with that is a lot of personal sacrifice, and the community is grateful and indebted to you."

Meanwhile, Evan Brown retired in October. Mr. Brown had been in education for 38 years, including 23 teaching and coaching for Madras High School.

The information is provided by Community Health, IHS, Health and Human Services, and the Confederated Tribes Covid-19 Response Team.

As of this printing, according to the Covid-19 report, there were no tribal members in in-patient hospital care due to the virus. Since March, there have been 41 members who were hospitalized and since discharged. Graph below: Likely places where people on the reservation have contracted the virus; and at bottom: Active cases among work places.

Ballot box for Simnasho

The Wasco County Election board will provide an official ballot box in Simnasho on Monday, November 2.

The ballot box will be at the Simnasho Longhouse from 7 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Wasco County election officials will provide coverage and be responsible for the box.

This is a fix for the November General Election, as discussion continues on placing a permanent ballot box for the Simnasho community.

Details for the permanent solution are being worked out: Location, camera surveillance and a responsible official.

With the majority of the U.S. moving to mail-in, or drop-off ballots, the demand for ballot boxes has been great. The November 2 Simnasho box will help voters of the community to save time and gas. All official ballots from voters in Wasco County, Jefferson County and even off reservation voters will be accepted at the box.

Bottled water collection for the tribes

A recent one-day Agency area boil-water notice was a reminder of the need to conserve water. Meanwhile, a partnership in Central Oregon is collecting bottled drinking water as a contribution to the tribes.

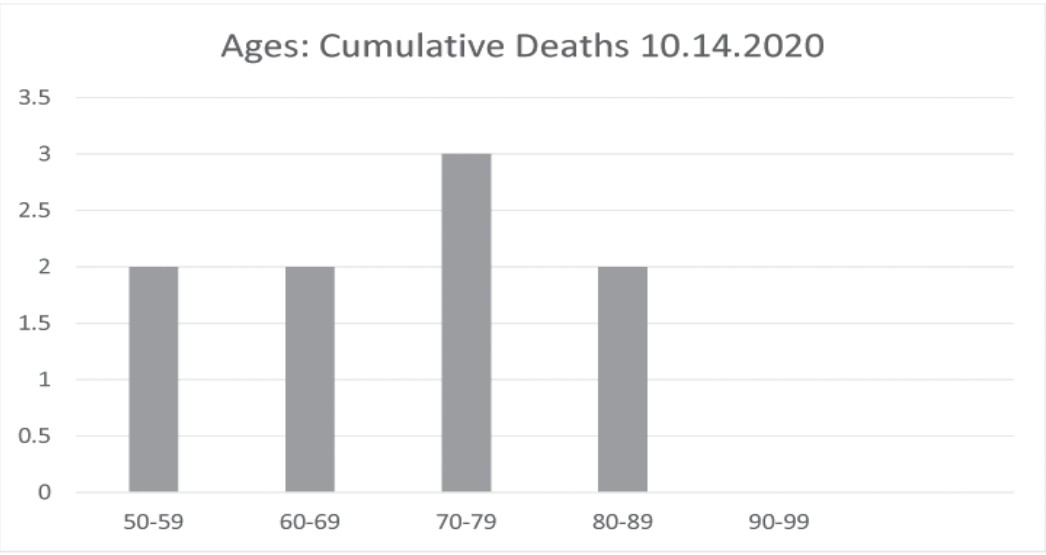

In this effort the Bend-Redmond Habitat for Humanity is partnering with the Central Oregon Diversity Project and the Central Oregon Peacekeepers.

Regarding the Agency area brief boil water notice last week: The problem this time was not serious compared to the summer pipe break, and that of last year. This time Utilities lifted the restriction a day after the notice went out on Monday, October 12. What happened was the Dry Creek water treatment plant appeared to have experienced a turbidity event exceeding allowable standards; and the plant operators immediately began identifying any potential problems.

The boil water notice was necessary because harmful microbes in drinking water can cause cramps, nausea, headaches or other symptoms, and may pose a special health risk for infants, some elderly, and people with severely compromised immune systems.

For Miller

Are you ready to vote for a dynamic, smart, articulate Native American woman who has served on the Tribal Council of the Warm Springs Reservation?

Are you ready to elect a candidate who has the lived and professional experience to advocate for all rural Oregonians in Salem? Then vote for Carina Miller for Senate District 30.

We've met Carina Miller and heard her talk several times. We're impressed with her knowledge of the issues and solutions.

She will stand for our environment, passing policy to address climate change now, creating a more sustainable economy and making sure we have just transition.

She'll advocate for recovery services, making sure we are advocating for communities in rural Oregon who need access to geographically available treatment, mental health and in- and outpatient programs.

Education is a priority for her to ensure we are providing more educational opportunities to all communities in Oregon.

This means more kinds of learning options, like bringing trades programs back. She'll back social jus-

Masking up

Dear Tribal Leaders,

I hope you and your loved ones are well. The Northwest Portland Area Indian Health Board has some exciting news to share: Our 'Bigfoot Mask Up' campaign is nearly ready.

Our Covid 19 Communications Team has been working on a campaign featuring Bigfoot for several months, encouraging everyone to keep our tribal communities safe, with mask wearing and social distancing.

Each tribe will receive a life-size, all-weather cutout of Bigfoot with his own specially made mask. To accompany Bigfoot, we will be sending posters, yard signs, window clings, and 'stand here' floor stickers.

We expect all the materials to be ready by the end of October, and we were planning to mail them to the diabetes coordinator at each tribe's clinic. Respectfully yours, Sheila Hosner and Victoria Warren-Mears, the Northwest Portland Area Indian Health Board.

An education success story

After Jaren Wallulatum graduated from high school in 2014 he enrolled at a college in his home state of Oregon, uncertain what career path to pursue. And like many first-generation students, he wasn't sure where to go for support as he started his college experience.

“For myself, it was difficult being new to higher education,” Jaren was saying recently. “I didn’t know where to look for the resources I needed to succeed.”

Jaren would transfer to another college before leaving school to enter the workforce and moving to the state of Washington. Two years later, he gave college another try—only this time with the support he had earlier lacked.

That helping hand came from Yakima Valley College’s TRIO Student Support Services. This is a federally-funded program providing low-income and first-generation students with academic support services such as tutoring, assistance with education plans, personal and career counseling, book loans and more.

“Finding TRIO made a huge difference for me in navigating the higher education system,” Jaren said.

Last year Jaren graduated from Yakima Valley College and is now majoring in economics and public policy at Central Washington University. “It helped build a network of peers, instructors and college staff who I can reach out to for help,” he says.

Over the next five years, hundreds of Yakima Valley College students like Jaren will benefit from access to additional financial support, mentoring, tutoring services and academic advising thanks to a recent $1.8 million grant from the U.S. Department of Education that will extend the college’s TRIO program.

Jaren is now interested in studying how his tribe and other tribes can maximize the resources on reservations for the benefit of those living on them.

TRIO helps Yakima Valley students overcome class, social and cultural barriers to higher education, said prorgam director Dustin Shattuck.

And in taking down those barriers, TRIO ultimately helps increase students’ academic success, graduation rates and likelihood of transferring to four-year institutions.

“TRIO works because it serves a population—first-generation, low-income students—who don’t usually know how to navigate college,” Shattuck said.

“A lot of these students have been through a lot of adversity, but when they have access to some of these resources to succeed, you really see them blossom.”

In each of the next five years, 200 students will be supported through the colleges TRIO program, with individual students being served from one to three years depending on their academic pathway.

While financial aid programs help students overcome financial barriers to accessing higher education, Shattuck says TRIO’s services focus on empowering students to succeed in their educational journeys.

For example, students participate in a learning community from the beginning of their time at Yakima Valley in order to build networks of peer support.

They also have coursework supplemented with advising and mentoring aligned with their career goals, and the college offers workshops and field trips on financial literacy, financial aid and scholarship applications, career and worksite awareness, cultural awareness and planning for transfer.

• October agenda with

“Our program focuses on engaging with students around their career intentions and the bridge that education plays in attaining these careers,” Mr. Shattuck said.

At the end of Jaren’s first year at Yakima Valley, he and handful of other students in the program were approached by their advisor about starting a peer mentoring and leadership program.

“That was an experience that really helped build our leadership and professional skills because we were in charge of planning a lot of activities for our peers and their growth,” he said. Following that leadership experience, Jaren would go on to serve as Yakima Valley College Student Council president.

He is scheduled to complete his bachelor’s degree in 2022, and then enter Central Washington University’s graduate program in cultural and environmental resources management.

Jaren grew up on the Warm Springs Indian Reservation. He is interested in studying how his tribe and other tribes can maximize the resources on reservations for the benefit of those living on them.

“TRIO helps inspire students to continue to go further in education and in their careers,” Jaren said.

“Those connections you make are life and career connections you can continue to reach out to. There are still friends I made who I talk to on a daily basis and I know that I can reach out to them anytime for assistance and I know that I can reach out to the faculty anytime in the future.”

Jacques Paul Martinez - Fam-Wha-Tuxx
~ May 2, 1973 - August 10, 2020

Jacques Paul Martinez passed away on August 10, 2020 at Spring Valley Hospital Medical Center, Las Vegas, Nevada.

Jacques was born in Bend to Urbana Ross and Danny Martinez on May 2, 1973.

Jacques lived most of his life in Warm Springs before moving to Las Vegas. He was an enrolled member of the Warm Springs Confederated Tribes, and when he was home in Oregon, Jacques often went to the Columbia River and Sherars Bridge to exercise his 1855 Treaty fishing rights.

Like his brothers, Jacques was a fire-fighter, a member of the Warm Springs Hot Shots and other fire crews in Central Oregon.

He attended Warm Springs grade school and Madras junior high and Madras High School, where he graduated in 1991. While in high school Jacques was active in football, wrestling and baseball. Jacques was also active in student government. He was class president in his Senior year.

Jacques was a good student, and was named to the honor roll many times. Jacques was preceded in death by his, mother Urbana (Toto) Ross, and his older brother Joel Martinez.

Jacques is survived by his father Danny Martinez of Warm Springs, younger brother Joseph Martinez of Warm Springs, and younger sisters Monet Martinez of Eugene; Demitra McCabe of Salinas, California; grandmother Arlene Boileau of Warm Springs, and numerous nieces, nephews and great nephews, aunts, uncles, cousins, and friends and family.

Jacques had the most calm and reserved disposition, always positive and finding the positive in a negative situation. He never talked bad about anyone, always finding the good in every person he knew.

While living in Las Vegas he worked in landscaping and construction, but he lived there because he loved the “bright lights and action” that only Las Vegas can provide.

He spent his spare time doing the things he loved, like playing poker and placing bets on all sports. He was always the life of the black jack, roulette, poker and craps tables, making people laugh and truly enjoy the game.

His inviting and jovial personality won him new friends, even the new friends who ended up giving him all their chips.

Jacques truly lived his life to the fullest and he is and will always be loved, remembered and missed. May he rest in peace.

Thank you to all of Jacques's family and friends for all your love and support, and special thanks to the following: Thank you to Danny, Leroy, Joseph and Dominica, for driving down to Las Vegas and bringing Jacques home. Thank you to Warm Springs Fire Management and the Hot Shots for leading the way to the cemetery; Jabbar, for your much needed help; Joe and Joseph for always being there for our family; Father Victor for your services, rosary and blessing over Jacques; Jefferson for your heart felt songs, prayers and officiating and for reaching out and always helping our family; Vital Statistics, Olivia, Lucille and Rianna for your time, hard work and compassion and, finally, the drummers. Thank you to all of Jacques's family, for all your love and support and helping Jacques on his Journey. He will always be missed. Jacques is at Peace and his Soul is at rest and he is forever Loved!

Fall season is time for flu vaccine

Warm Springs Community Health and IHS are urging everyone 6 months and older to get an annual flu shot, especially as the Covid-19 pandemic persists.

Flu vaccines are safe and effective, and with ongoing Covid-19 outbreaks, it is more important than ever to get a flu shot to keep the people around you healthy.

While it is unclear how the pandemic will affect the flu season, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention are preparing for Covid-19 and seasonal flu to spread at the same time. It's referred to as a 'twindemic' of two potentially fatal viruses circulating at the same time. This could burden the health care system and result in many illnesses, hospitalizations, suffering and deaths.

Getting a flu vaccine is an easy thing to do, helping to reduce the spread of flu this fall and winter.

The flu vaccine may take up to two weeks to become effective, so getting it earlier in the season—like now—is ideal.

The flu vaccine is available at Community Health at the clinic, and at clinics around the reservation communities.

Schedule is good through October

Along with the vaccine, additional ways prevent the spread of flu include:

- Staying home from work or school when you are sick, and limit contact with others.
- Covering your nose and mouth with a tissue when you cough or sneeze.
- Washing hands frequently with soap and water.
- Use an alcohol-based hand rub if soap and water are not available.
- Avoiding touching your eyes, nose and mouth.
- Cleaning and disinfecting surfaces and objects that may have flu germs on them.
- Avoiding getting coughed and sneezed on.

Fishery through Dec.

The tribes of the Columbia River chose to conclude commercial gillnet fishing earlier this month. Steelhead counts this year exceeded preseason projections, and catches matched the larger run size.

Platform and hook-and-line fisheries will remain open through December 31 for both subsistence and commercial use.

Covid guidelines for platform and hook-and-line: Please review the Safe Fishers, Safe Fisheries guidelines to help prevent the spread of Covid-19, and protect the vulnerable members of the tribal community: critfc.org/safe-fishers-safe-fisheries/

If you have any fishing enforcement problems or need assistance or information, day or night, contact the Columbia River Inter-Tribal Fisheries Enforcement Office, 541-386-6363 or toll-free 800-487-FISH (3474).

Show pride in your tribe's treaty rights by carrying your tribal ID. Please consult your tribal Fisheries Department for additional details on tribal regulations. Please wear your life jackets for safety, and avoid overloading your boats.

Note to Veterans

By definition a veteran is one who has served in the U.S. Army, Navy, Air Force, Marines Corps, Coast Guard, or the Space Force.

Veterans groups have a list of local veterans that is updated by word of mouth.

However, a survey has been formulated to gather such information, which will be useful to apply for grants to improve the quality of life for local veterans. The information is kept confidentially by the Warm Springs American Legion Auxiliary. You can find more information at their website: wsala48.org

The healthy benefits of meditation

Meditation is a practice used all over the world to positively impact physical and mental health.

Research has shown various benefits of meditation including reduced anxiety, better sleep, stronger relationships, and improved pain management .

When beginning your practice of meditation, it is important to find a quiet and peaceful place. Close your eyes and focus on your breath. This is your anchor. Each time your brain naturally drifts away, return your attention back to your breath. Be patient with yourself and learn to appreciate the simplicity of stillness.

Meditation can be guided or unguided. A guided meditation involves a narrator who leads the meditation and gives tips on how to interpret and apply your experience. There are several videos of guided meditations on youtube as well as downloadable phone apps.

An unguided meditation is self directed and can be more challenging for beginners. One method of performing an unguided meditation is called a body scan. You can practice this mindfulness journey through the following steps:

Position yourself comfortably. This can be seated or lying down. Close your eyes and focus on the sound and movement of your breath.

Start at your head and mentally scan your body, working your way down towards your toes.

Through the scan, stop to appreciate each body part and how it feels. Is it light, heavy, tense, relaxed, or restless? Take time to connect to each region before moving on.

Repeat the scan over and over until you have a good idea of how your body feels separately and holistically within the present moment.

It is human nature for the mind to wander. Allow thoughts to come and go without getting caught up in them. Recognize the distraction and bring yourself back to the body part where you left off. Reconnect with your meditation experience through your breath.

Meditation is a skill best practiced consistently. Set up a time where you can check in with yourself on a routine basis. This can be for 2 minutes, 5 minutes, 15 minutes or longer. It's up to you. There is no right or wrong way to experience mindfulness.

Just showing up to acknowledge yourself daily is a good start!

If you have further questions regarding the benefits of sleep, feel free to contact a physical therapist at Warm Springs Holistic Health for more information.

Warm Springs Holistic Health is open 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday. Appointments are required. Call 541-777-2663 to learn more. The center, a program of Managed Care, is located on campus next to the courthouse.
