August Celebration at Casino

Last year due to covid restrictions, Indian Head Casino missed the opportunity to celebrate the Twenty-Fifth Anniversary of the casino. So this year Indian Head in August is celebrating this milestone anniversary.

The casino relocated to its current Highway 26 location in February of 2012, to be more accessible to passing travelers.

The upcoming Anniversary Celebration starts with cash drawings, Friday and Saturday, August 13-14. This is a chance to win a share of $25,000 from 6-11 p.m., followed by a $2,500 Slot Tournament on Sunday, August 15.

The main celebration will be on Saturday, August 14 from 2-8 p.m. with family fun activities, Bingo, music, beer garden, local craft and food vendors, and anniversary souvenirs.

A Return to the Fair

D. McMechan/Spilyay

The Jefferson County Fair and Rodeo returned last week after a year off because of covid. The Warm Springs Prevention Youth Camp students went to the fair last Friday: On hand were Arellie, Arellia, Katelyn and Lilly Ann (above from left).

One of the great things that happened at the fair this year was that TeShaun D. Yazzie (left) won the 2021 Grand Champion Market Poultry Prize. TeShaun is the son of Trevern Yazzie. He wishes to thank his 4-H coach Amy Hamilton, who encouraged him to join the club and raise the prize poultry. And thank you to buyer, Haystack Farm & Feed. This is the second year in row that TeShaun, 13, has won the County Fair Grand Champion Poultry Prize. Great job and Congratulations, TeShaun!

Vietnam Veterans Day Parade coming up in W.S.

The Welcome Home Vietnam Veterans Day Parade is back this year, set for Saturday, August 7. There will not be the Expo, but the Eugene Cougar Greene American Legion Family #48, host of the event, will be serving lunch following the parade.

Each year the American Legion Family #48 hosts this public event to honor those who served in the armed forces between the years 1955-1975. "It was a time that treated our troops wrong, and we seek to give them the honor they deserve," the Family says.

See the website to register, or for a waiver: WSala48.org

Groups can email a roster of your Vietnam Vets with t-shirt sizes to: info@WSala48.org

On Parade Day, Spectators, Bring your 'Thank You' posters.

At the check-in tent everybody receives directions. The veterans and widowers receive their gift bags and commemorative challenge coins. The parade is a one-mile route. Schedule:

9-11:30 a.m.: Event check-in.

11 a.m.: Parade lineup at 1110 Wasco Street.

Noon: Parade starts.

12:30: Parade ends at the Community Center.

Call if you have any questions, 541-460-8212. Some background of the event:

Welcome Home Vietnam Veterans Day is a holiday that has been celebrated since 1973 on either March 29 or March 30 of each year through a patchwork of state resolutions.

The first Vietnam Veterans Day, declared by President Richard Nixon in 1974, coincided with the one-year anniversary of the withdrawal of U.S. combat forces from Vietnam on March 29, 1973.

Today, the holiday is officially observed on March 29 and is referred to as National Vietnam War Veterans Day.

In Warm Springs the day is celebrated in the summer.

National Vietnam War Veterans Day is an opportunity to recognize and give thanks for all who served during the Vietnam War, including those who were wounded, gave their lives, or went missing. Even in the face of controversy and opposition at home, millions of Americans honorably answered the call to serve our country during this tumultuous time in history. And when those who were fortunate enough to come home finally returned, they were met by ugly protests, scorn and neglect.

National Vietnam War Veterans Day is the heroes welcome they never received. It underscores the need to heal their painful wounds and allows us the occasion each year to pause and give respect, admiration and thanks to the patriotic men and women who sacrificed so much in service to their nation.

Community update

On Monday of this week, July 27, the tribes' Covid-19 Response Team reported there were six people with active covid on the reservation. This was an unfortunate increase from the previous week, when there was just one case.

One person of the community was reported as hospitalized with Covid-19; and three people were being monitored as close contacts.

If you need a Covid-19 vaccination, you can call to schedule at the Warm Springs Health and Wellness Center at 541-553-2131. Anyone 12 and older who is Indian Health Service eligible, or who lives or works in Warm Springs and their family members can be vaccinated. (More community covid recent data on 3 and 5.)

Tribal Council names new Secretary-Treasurer

Tribal Council has appointed Glendon N. Smith as the Secretary-Treasurer of the Confederated Tribes. Councilman Smith takes over the S-T duties from Michele Stacona, who will be staying on for some time during the transition.

Mr. Smith, on his first Tribal Council term, served previously as S-T in 2015-16 before returning to the Tribal Court as an Associate Judge. He had served previously as a Tribal Court Judge from 2008 to 2015, for a total of nearly 10 years as Judge.

Glendon was elected to Council in 2019 as a representative of the Agency District.

Some of his priorities coming up as Secretary-Treasurer include unfinished business regarding the tribes' use of the Cares Act funding and that of the American Rescue Plan.

Some important infrastructure projects on the reservation will benefit from this funding, such as improvement of the heating, ventilation and cooling systems of some tribal buildings. An example is the Courthouse, where HVAC issues during the current heat wave have forced shortened work days, as the temperature reaches more than 90 degrees. The Community Center is another example.

Some housing projects, and the water infrastructure can also benefit from use of the Cares funding, Councilman Smith said. "People need housing, and water," he said.

For some of his education background, Glendon has an Associates of Arts Degree from Central Oregon Community College; a Bachelor of Science Degree from Oregon State University; and a Master of Science Degree from the University of Phoenix. He also has Certificate Training from the National Judicial College, Reno, Nevada.

Besides Council, he serves on the Commission of the Warm Springs Tribal Employment Rights Office. And he has served on the Neighborhood Impact Board of Directors.

Glendon recently renewed his substitute teaching license with the state of Oregon, the Teachers Practices Standards Commission, the TPSC. The license is for teaching classes first- through twelfth grades.

Glendon chaired the Justice Team while working at the Tribal Court. This is an advisory board for Tribal Council on law and public safety.

Ms. Stacona decided in May to resign. She had been the tribes' Secretary-Treasurer since 2016. She agreed to stay on during the transition, as budget season approaches.

‘The future of the language is young people’

As a child, CarlaDean Caldera learned the Northern Paiute language of her mother, Esther Louise Watah Caldera. Esther Louise passed away while CarlaDean was young. Still, growing up the language and culture were always around her family.

Some years later, as a young adult, CarlaDean began studying and teaching at Warm Springs Culture and Heritage. “I didn’t realize until then, till my mid-20s really, how much of the language I had kept,” CarlaDean says.

Now these days, as a teacher, she considers how the Northern Paiute and other endangered Native languages can survive into the future: The solution, clearly, will involve young people taking an interest in the subject.

And if anything, CarlaDean

The Fields Fellowship will help CarlaDean Caldera to develop apps making Native language more accessible to young people.

says, young people today use modern technology—Smart phones, tablets and other computers. She herself over the years has become very good with computers, self-taught, developing interactive programs like a basketball shooting game, and even a hand-washing game inspired by the covid. These use moving cartoon images and corresponding sound.

So CarlaDean puts the two things together—her computer applications or games for kids, and her desire to keep the Northern Paiute language alive. She found a website that helped her develop an application that teaches how to count one-two-three in Northern Paiute. Another one teaches the names of four-legged animals. A program narrator she uses, in her own voice, is a wolf by the Northern Paiute name, Assa.

Her idea is to approach the language using the technology familiar to young people today, “To see if I can make things come alive,” CarlaDean says.

So far, she has used the computer app development service available on the internet. Her goal is to be independent of any third-party service, developing on her own language application learning programs.

And if you think about it: This could apply beyond the Northern Paiute to any endangered or critically endangered Native language.

Last week, Oregon Humanities and the Oregon Community Foundation recognized her vision with a Fields Artist Fellowship. This is rare: CarlaDean is one of only four of the Fields Fellows awarded for 2021-2023.

The Fellowship will allow her to pursue the dream of teaching the Northern Paiute language, as a way of honoring the elders who have passed the language on to the present day.

School district planning safe fall term

In a little over a month the 2021-22 school year starts for the Jefferson County School District 509-J. The first day for most students in the district will be the Tuesday after Labor Day, or September 7.

This week district officials are reviewing the updated Oregon Department of Education guidelines for returning to school. The guidelines are called ‘Ready Schools, Safe Learners Resiliency Framework for the 2021-22 School Year,’ the Resiliency Plan for short.

The school district, working with families, will announce its plan soon, perhaps this week, guiding school activities for the rest of the summer, into the return to in-school learning in September.

The updated guidelines came out just recently, and the Jefferson County district is developing its program based on the Resiliency plan. Most of the plan guidelines are advisory to the individual school districts, leaving many of the decisions at the local level.

The Resiliency Plan overall is designed to give health and safety recommendations that provide flexibility in order to:

Return to full-time, in-person instruction for all students.

Honor and recognize the uniqueness of communities across the state.

Support schools in health and safety planning to meet community-specific needs and strengths.

The plan also notes: As schools plan for the fall 2021 in-person school year, it is important to remember: We will be living with the virus until there is widespread immunity.

Covid-19 continues to change with new variants. The understanding of virus mitigation grows over time, so guidance for responding to Covid-19 also changes.

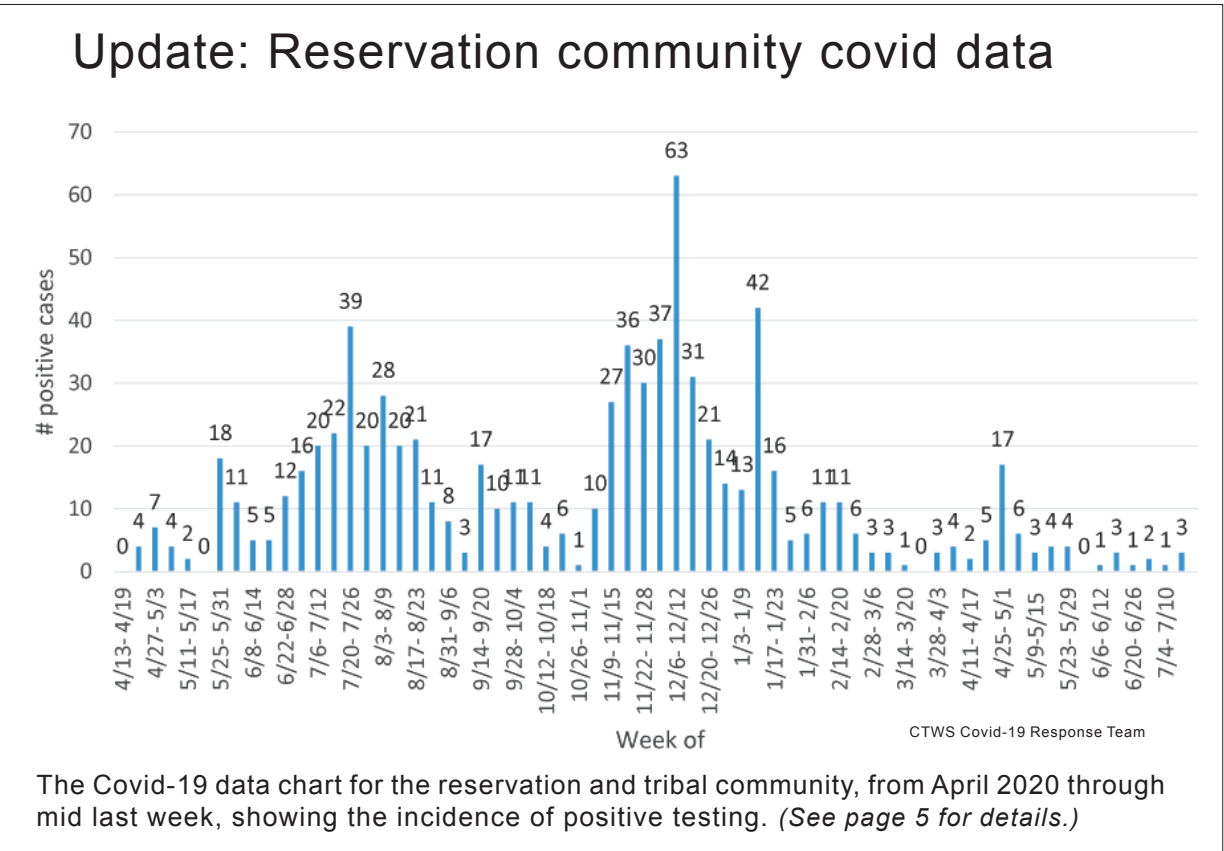

As we have known for some time now: The best way to protect individuals are vaccination for those who are eligible, physical distancing, face coverings, ventilation and air flow, hand washing, and staying home if ill or exposed to some with covid.

During this summer term, the school district required the wearing of face coverings while on a school bus.

This is a mandate as required by the Centers for Disease Control, applying to the use of masks on public transportation, including school buses.

You can always check for school district updates, and check the school calendar at the website: jesd.k12.or.us

Dylan Heath, here with his goat Hayseuss, showed and sold livestock with his brother Hayden this year at the County Fair. Dylan this year graduated from Madras High School. He will be attending Lane County College, studying in the field of Physical Therapy.

Cares Act funds for COCC students

Central Oregon Community College is dispersing more than $7 million in federal aid from the U.S. government’s expanded Higher Education Emergency Relief Fund to enrolled credit students, based on individuals’ financial need and enrollment status. The grant awards will begin in the range of $400 to $1,300 per term, depending on qualifying status, with all awarded dollars applied automatically to the college’s upcoming academic year. Grants will continue throughout the 2021-22 academic year.

From the Office of the S-T

Regarding funds of the American Rescue Plan

Dear Tribal Members,
On March 11, 2021, President Biden signed into the law The American Rescue Plan, a relief bill that was earmarked for those directly affected by the Covid-19 pandemic. A total of $20 billion was set aside for Indian Country with $19 billion earmarked for tribal enrollment and tribal employment, and following below is the breakdown for tribal enrollment and employment.

- Sixty-five percent of the funds, which was $12.35 billion for Indian Country, was distributed based on tribal enrollment.

- Thirty-five percent of the funds, which was $6.65 billion for Indian Country will be distributed and based on tribal employment data.

On May 20, 2021, the Confederated Tribes of Warm Springs received $26,594,438.71.

This distribution was awarded to the tribes based on tribal enrollment numbers. For the American Rescue Plan, the tribes follow Treasury Rules and Guidelines for spending, just like with the Cares Act Funding.

Some, not all, of the primary allowable expenditures include: Personal protective equipment, water and sewer infrastructure needs, small business, broadband, and pay for essential workers.

As many of you are aware, the tribe has been in a water crisis for nearly three years now; and more recently the tribe and nation has been dealing with the Covid-19 pandemic. The tribe received Covid-19 funding from the Cares Act and nearly half was dispersed to the membership, while the remaining was expended on water infrastructure, personal protective equipment, small business, and pay for essential workers.

The tribe still does have some unfinished business from the Cares Act Funding, and plans to priorities those projects with funds from the American Rescue Plan to complete this unfinished business.

Tribal Council is certain that Council will give a general assistance payment to the membership in 2021, but the amount and date are still uncertain at this time. I want to thank you for your patience and understanding.

W.S. Holistic Health advice on healthy ankles

The ankle joint is the connection between the lower leg and foot. It is composed of three bones known as the tibia, fibula and talus.

The ankle joint allows the foot to move through the contraction of muscles, which are connected to the bones via tendons. The foot can move in four directions, further explained below.

Dorsiflexion: The muscles on the front of the lower leg move the foot up towards the shin.

Plantarflexion: The muscles on the back of the lower leg point the toes downwards, like when pushing down on a gas pedal.

Eversion: The muscles on the outside of the lower leg move the foot out and away from the body’s midline.

Inversion: The inner muscles on the lower leg point the foot in closer to the body’s midline.

The ankle bones are further connected by ligaments, which help to stabilize and support the joint. While there are ligaments on both the inside and outside of the ankle, the outer ones are most commonly injured. These injuries, known as lateral or inversion ankle sprains, account for 85 percent of all ankle injuries.

While unfortunately it is impossible to prevent 100 percent of ankle sprains, research has shown that the risk of repetitive injuries can be reduced through consistent and progressive exercise.

Simple progression of ankle stabilization exercises:

Tandem stance: Place one foot directly in front of the other so that the heel of your front leg is in contact with the toe of your back leg. Perform 3 sets of 30 second holds daily.

Single leg stance: Perform 3 sets of 30 second holds daily.

Y balance: Draw or imagine an upside down ‘Y’ on the ground. The stem at the base of the ‘Y’ should be pointing out ahead of you with the fork behind. Stand on one leg at the center point where the three lines connect. Practice reaching your opposite foot out as far as you can along the three lines consecutively (forward, backwards/left diagonal, backwards/right diagonal) making sure to not put your reaching foot down in between reaches. Work up to performing five sets on each leg without errors.

Other ways to progress the above balance exercises include standing on a foam pad, rotating your head side to side, or closing your eyes. Safety is the number one priority, so make sure that you are in a safe environment with friends and family present if necessary. If you have balance issues that put you at risk for falling, it is best to first consult your doctor about initiating your program within a medical setting like Physical Therapy.

If you have further questions about the ankle joint, please reach out to the Physical Therapy team at Warm Springs Holistic Health for more information. We are accepting new patients for in person and telehealth visits on a referral basis. Best Regards,

Recent recommendations of the tribes’ Covid-19 Response Team

The Confederated Tribes’ Covid-19 Response Team presented a report and recommendation to Tribal Council earlier this month. The protocol is for tribal buildings. Enterprises have their own boards who can make decisions on their behalf for covid protocols.

The Covid Team is concerned about the low overall vaccination rate: Until the community reaches a 70-percent vaccination rate, or if the data shows we are not being infected, this protocol stays in place.

- All tribal buildings: If any person is not a regular employee or customer to any tribal building, the person needs to show proof of covid vaccination by showing their Centers for Disease Control card, or a picture of the card.

Monitors should know by now who are regulars to their building; so they do not have to show proof every time.

If proof cannot be provided, then masks needs to be worn.

Those who are vaccinated no longer needs to wear a mask; however, if the person enters another tribal building and are not a regular, then the person needs to show proof.

All those entering tribal buildings need to have his or her temperature taken, with a daily log kept on file in case there is an exposure in the building; so contact tracers can access if necessary.

- Masks are no longer required for people who are outdoors, though social distancing and masking is still encouraged.

- Events no longer need to be approved by the Covid-19 Team.
- Buildings no longer will be closed when there is an exposure. Each case will be reviewed and evaluated separately and sections will be sanitized.
- Those who use tribal vehicles as part of their job and have passengers need to wear masks at all time.
- Travel for work is still restricted but will be reviewed individually by general managers and directors for approval then forward to S/T.

- If any tribal employee travels out of state, have no covid symptoms, they can report to work: However, if the person had not been vaccinated, he or she is required to take a Covid-19 test within four days upon their return with documentation.

Howlak Tichum

Rosella Mosely ~ 1940-2021

Rosella Leonard Mosely was born on April 7, 1940. She passed away July 13, 2021. Ms. Mosely was 81.

Her health rapidly declined during the recent heat wave, after a long battle with kidney and heart disease. Rosella was also a cancer survivor.

After a 1940s Warm Springs Indian Reservation childhood, filled with eight siblings, there are many colorful family memories. Young Miss Rosella Leonard enjoyed a Madras 1950s of academic achievement, tremendous change in Central Oregon—the era of dam building—and much White Buffalo school spirit.

Upon graduation, in spite of show business predictions, Rosella set off for her future with academic ambitions and professional goals.

As the ‘60s unfolded, the Civil Rights movement, and the War in Viet Nam were the backdrop for Rosella’s college years.

After brief studies at Portland State University, Ms. Leonard left Oregon for Southern California, studying in San Bernardino, while also working as a Social Worker for Riverside County, and creating a family with her first husband, Frank, who had graduated Valedictorian from college.

Rosella’s son, Marcus, was born in ’66, and raising him became her life. As the 1970s passed, Rosella moved to New Mexico, her husband’s country, then on to Bellingham, Washington for the completion of college at Western Washington.

The nearby Lummi Indian Reservation benefited from Rosella’s social work before a return to Central Oregon as a Counselor at Madras High School, working under Principal Stan Dmytryk.

By the mid-Seventies, Rosella had advanced to become the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) program prime director for the Confederated Tribes of Warm Springs.

An exciting Bicentennial summer in Washington D.C. working for the American Indian Policy Review Commission on Capital Hill followed.

Then Rosella’s second marriage, to Lloyd Phillips, Data Processing Manager for Warm Springs, began, with Tribal Education Committee meetings for Rosella.

By 1977, she began work on her Masters Degree in Education at Oregon State University, studying under Carvel Wood. By 1978, with those studies completed and degree in hand, Rosella consulted and traveled, working on numerous projects.

The American Indian Lawyers Training Program was attended, workshops for brother Deni Leonard’s L2+A, consultation was done with Northwest Regional Educational Labs, and women’s political caucus work in Portland kept Rosella busy.

And yet in this time period, tennis in Madras, and baseball in Bend, hanging out with the Phillies were also favorite pastimes.

After the second marriage, a romance with P.E. Coach Neil Halousek from Madras High included a trip back to Washington D.C. to visit Rosella’s brother, Kenneth Smith, when he was made the Assistant Secretary of the Department of the Interior.

Soon Neil, Rosella and her son moved to Beaverton, where Marc graduated from high school in 1984.

After working for the Urban Indian Council and then the Indian Health Service, Rosella became the Mental Health Training Coordinator for the Northwest Portland Area Indian Health Board, transforming it into a vital tribal workshop provider. Those days remembered fondly for friends long past, and some good work done.

By the mid-1980s, Rosella was on committees for the Affiliated Tribes of the Northwest, and the National Congress of American Indians.

This was followed by a faculty position at Portland State University for the Institute on Aging, headed by Spiro Manson.

In 1986, as Rosella’s son Marcus moved to New York City for art school, she and the Institute moved to the University of Colorado, becoming the National Center.

Rosella was the Journal of the National Center’s first managing editor. The work in Colorado was followed by some international tribal timber consultation by Rosella in Vancouver B.C. Then a brief return to the Northwest Portland Area Indian Health Board before the end of the ‘80s, and Rosella’s son’s graduation from the Pacific Northwest College of Art in 1990, where he was once Student Body President.

The year before his graduation, Rosella returned to school to begin work on a double PhD in Utah, in Psychiatry. Rosella’s Doctorial Thesis work was interrupted by personal health challenges that were met bravely; long in remission.

In the 1990s, Rosella returned to Warm Springs as the Legislative Analyst for the Confederated Tribes’ Department of Governmental Affairs organizing the Code.

This required an examination of every tribal department’s rules and procedures for codification. And with that, by 1995, Rosella’s daily job career was complete. It was followed by consultation work for a variety of legal projects and clients, ranging from individuals in court, to tribes in Congress, to our own Oregon school districts.

Rosella’s marriage, to jazz bass-player and chef at the Kennedy School in Portland, Robert Roake in the early nineties complimented her son’s local folk rock band’s work, as ‘Spider Moccasin,’ profiled in detail in the Oregonian and the New York Times, and a staple feature on KBOO 90.7 FM and on Mt. Hood Cable Access Television at the turn of the century.

Rosella Leonard Moseley made her warm home in Portland a safe haven for family and friends. Rosella was once a big Portland Trailblazers fan for awhile, attending games, as well as concerts, in the tribal booth at the Rose Garden as often as possible.

Rosella loved and respected her siblings; her big brother the late Ken Smith, older sisters Darlyne Araiza and Margo Miamoto, brother Uren Leonard, sisters Wauna Calica and Elveta Stewart, and brothers William and Dennis Leonard and their children.

Rosella always missed her mom Mildred Tyler, and her step father, Floyd Tyler, and her father, Uren Leonard her entire life. Rosella passed away mid July, 2021, in Portland.

These charts are recent Covid-19 case demographics for the tribal community, as provided by the tribes’ Covid-19 Response Team, IHS and Community Health.

As of the middle of last week, July 21, there were six active covid cases on the reservation. There were ten breakthrough cases, defined as covid cases in people who have been fully and appropriately vaccinated.

The new cases, as of July 21, brought the total for the tribal community, since the pandemic began last March, to 884.

Total number of deaths from the disease in the community was at 25.

People with underlying health conditions was seven; age range 22-77.

WHAT IS THIS ABOUT?

Mallinckrodt is a manufacturer of opioid pain medication that filed for chapter 11 bankruptcy in October 2020. On June 17, 2021, Mallinckrodt plc and its affiliates (the “Debtors”) filed their Plan of Reorganization (the “Plan”) in the United States Bankruptcy Court for the District of Delaware and their related Disclosure Statement. You may have the right to vote on the Plan of Reorganization.

WHAT DOES THE PLAN PROVIDE?

Mallinckrodt’s Plan channels claims based on harm or injury related to the Debtors’ manufacturing of opioids and related activities to one or more opioid trusts. These opioid trusts will be established for the purpose of distributing money to individuals and corporate entities holding Opioid Claims and for abatement of the opioid crisis. If the Plan is approved by the Bankruptcy Court and you have an Opioid Claim, you will be entitled to assert your claim directly against the applicable opioid trust at a later time. There is nothing you need to do right now to assert your Opioid Claim. Information regarding how to assert your Opioid Claim against an opioid trust will be made available at a later date. The Plan, if approved, will forever prohibit any opioid claimants from asserting any Opioid Claim or seeking any money on account of any Opioid Claim against the Debtors, their officers and directors, or certain other parties specified in the Plan as the “Protected Parties.”

WHERE CAN YOU GET MORE INFORMATION ABOUT THE PLAN?

Copies of the Plan and related documents, including the Disclosure Statement and a letter from the Official Committee of Opioid Related Claimants (a representative of Opioid Claimants in the Debtors’ bankruptcy cases appointed by the Office of the United States Trustee) setting forth its position regarding the Plan can be obtained free of charge at MNKVote.com.

The Bankruptcy Court has scheduled the hearing to consider confirmation of the Plan to be held on September 21, 2021, at 10:00 a.m. Eastern Time (the “Confirmation Hearing”). # Quincy Ellenwood new CRITFC Chair

Quincy Ellenwood is the new chairman of the Columbia River Inter-Tribal Fish Commission. Mr. Ellenwood, a Nez Perce leader, was sworn in during a July CRITFC meeting. Oath of office was administered by outgoing chair Jeremy Takala, Yakama.

“CRITFC’s four member tribes are united by many things,” Ellenwood said, “Most significantly by our deep cultural and spiritual connection to the land and the First Foods it provides, especially salmon.

“These sacred fish face ever growing impacts from climate change and other threats to their ecosystem. And the fishers who depend on salmon face many health and economic impacts from the global pandemic.

“By working together in inter-tribal cooperation, it is my hope that we not only retain and enhance what we have, but also provide resiliency in all our tribal foods and cultural needs into the future. In working to provide for our people and our futures, I believe we honor the sacrifices and dedication of our elders and ancestors. It is truly an honor to serve in this role.”

Quincy is the son of the late Ruby Jackson, and grandson of Charles Jackson Sr. and Shirley Ellenwood. His Indian name is Tsi-Yo-Kum. His great-grandfather Gene Ellenwood called him Waawat, which mean ‘Loves to fish.’

Quincy graduated from Lapwai High School in 1997 and studied Business at Lewis-Clark State College. He has served as a Nez Perce Tribe Fish and Wildlife commissioner, and a CRITFC commissioner for over 10 years. “I had the honor of serving with the late Elmer Crow, Jr on the Fish and Wildlife Commission,” Quincy said.

“He taught me ‘When you’re at the table working for the people, keep them in your heart and mind.’ That wisdom guides me in my service and will guide me in this new role as CRITFC chair.”

Quincy is currently serving his fifth year as a member of the Nez Perce Tribal Executive Committee.

He has also served two years on the Nez Perce Tribe Enterprise board, and two years on the Nez Perce Tribe Resolutions Committee to which he was elected at the age of 19.

In addition to protecting the salmon resource, he is also actively involved in the Interagency Bison Management Plan and has been an advocate for the Nez Perce hunting rights in the State of Montana.

Quincy resides on the Nez Perce Reservation in Lapwai, Idaho with his wife Janice Jack- Ellenwood. He has three daughters, Kimiwan, Loreal and Leiloni, and two stepsons, Tristan and Anthony Spencer.

He enjoys watching his children’s sport activities, UFC fights, barbecuing and being outdoors. Quincy is an avid hunter and fisher and is an advocate of the water, natural resources, traditions, and language.

Outgoing CRITFC Chair Jeremy Takala remarked, “I look forward to continuing working together for the vision we carry out for our fisheries and treaty-reserved rights. Salmon and other culturally important fish face many hardships, including climate change which is altering Mother Nature herself.

“We must continue to fulfill the tribal vision of restoration, no matter the obstacles, for the sake of our fish runs and for all native aquatic life to prosper in our Columbia River system.”

The other officers of the Columbia River Inter-Tribal Fish Commission, elected for the 2021-2022 term, are:

Ron Suppah Sr., Warm Springs, vice-chair; Jeremy Red Star Wolf, Umatilla, secretary; and Jeremy Takala, Yakama, treasurer. The election of CRITFC officers takes place every June with the seats rotated among the four member tribes.

CRITFC coordinates management policy and provides fisheries technical services for the Yakama, Warm Springs, Umatilla, and Nez Perce tribes.
