Halloween in Warm Springs

Looking forward to a Warm Springs Halloween with artist Travis Bobb.

The Trick or Treat 'Mask-Erade' Parade is coming up on Saturday, October 30 from 1 to 4 p.m. at the Warm Springs Academy. Social distancing and mask wearing—not just a Halloween mask-will be enforced. Hosted by the Confederated Tribes and Warm Springs Health and Wellness.

There are vendor spaces still available. For information contact reina.estimo@wstribes.org

The October 30 event will also be a chance to give feedback on the Confederated Tribes' proposed 2022 budget. There will also be a chance to enter into a raffle drawing.

Then on Halloween day there will be live music, concessions and candy at the Campus basketball area. Vendor set-up will be at 9:30 a.m. onwards. Presented by the Warm Springs Community Action

Covid safety precautions are required (see page 2). For vendor information contact Mallory Smith: mallory@wscat.org

Covid-19 update

Recent health data, as of earlier this week, shows there were 19 people with active covid on the reservation; and 15 close contacts receiving daily monitoring. This was an improvement from the previous week, when there were 45 people on the reservation with the active covid.

The Warm Springs Health and Wellness Center has conducted 14,803 covid tests, with 967 positive tests since the pandemic and testing began.

Another 142 people of the tribal community tested positive through outside facilities, for a total of 1,109 positive tests. Twenty-six people of the tribal community have died from the illness.

As of late last week, there were no hospitalizations from covid, and no recent deaths. Close to 3,000 people of the community have received at least one vaccine shot; and 2,507 have received their second dose.

Water funding talk with U.S. Senators

Infrastructure legislation currently before the U.S. Congress includes funding that would go a long way toward addressing the domestic water system of the Warm Springs Reservation.

A federal delegation visited Warm Springs last week, touring the Dry Creek water treatment plant, with Utilities general manager Chico Holliday, then meeting tribal officials and the public.

U.S. Senators Ron Wyden and Jeff Merkley were joined by Assistant Secretary for Indian Affairs—Department of the Interior for the water treatment plant tour.

"It was exactly what we needed," Mr. Holliday said. "A chance to show the deficiencies we have to deal with every day.

Slowly but surely, we're making progress toward being able to provide a better quality of life."

As is well documented, the tribal domestic water system is old and in need of improvement, and in some places replacement. Some necessary parts of the treatment plant, built in the 1980s, are no longer available. Utilities had to have one part re-made, for instance, because it is no longer sold.

This is expensive and time-consuming, Mr. Holliday said.

Both of Oregon's U.S. Senators have been among the strongest advocates for help to the tribes in developing a modern style domestic water system, from the treatment plant to the piping that delivers the serve more than boil water notices," Sen. Wyden said. "We all know wealthy neighborhoods in this country would not have to live with that."

Infrastructure legislation currently before Congress would address the problem.

In honor of dedication to students, schools

The school district has seen a number of changes this year. The 509-J district has a new superintendent and a new Academy principal, plus new board members. The district finished the previous school year with its first-ever all-distance learning; then started this year in-person while still dealing with the pandemic. And there was a teachers' union agreement to work out.

With these and other challenges a good thing to have is experience and perspective at the policy making level. District board chairwoman Laurie Danzuka was re-elected this year to her fourth term on the school board. "There was a lot happening," Laurie says of her decision to serve again.

The new district principal this year is Jay Mathinsen. He would agree it's a good idea to have Laurie for another term. Since he became superintendent over the summer, Mathisen has talked often with Laurie for her perspective on the issues that have come up over these months so far. "And I'm always impressed with her ability to listen, think, problem solve and act," Mr. Mathisen said.

Her fellow board member Jamie Hurd said after a recent district meeting, "Laurie is one of the most humble servant-leaders I know. She's a servant to the children and the greater community."

School district outreach at the Academy

A public meeting for the Jefferson County School District 509-J, to discuss the evaluation of current programs and plans for future educational programs, is set for 5:30 p.m., Wednesday, October 27 at the Warm Springs Academy.

Another meeting for the same purpose is the following day, October 28, at 5:30 at Madras High School.

The district annually affords its patrons, specifically Native American parents and guardians, the opportunity to offer comments and make recommendations relative to the district programs, district outcomes, and offer feedback for all programs.

The Warm Springs Academy, built in 2012-13

If anybody wishing to attend the meeting has a disability requiring assistance, please advise Tessa Bailey at 541-475-6192 about specific arrangements that may accommodate your participation in this meeting.

The October 27 meeting will be in the Academy cafeteria area.

Specifically for Oregon, $250 million would be available for tribal infrastructure, especially water.

A long-term solution, such as replacement of the Dry Creek plant, could be some years out, Sen. Merkley said. More immediate projects would help stabilize the system until the long-term project comes on line, he said.

Both of the Senators serve as chairs of key committees that help make the infrastructure funding available. Some of the language in the tribal infrastructure provisions of the infrastructure bill would clearly apply to the situation on the reservation, Sen. Wyden said.

"All aspects of our water system are antiquated," said Councilman and Secretary-Treasurer Glendon Smith. "So it was great for us to have them see that first-hand."

The Senators were to be accompanied by Secretary of the Interior Deb Haaland, the first Native American person to serve in a Presidential cabinet level position.

On Halloween

For the Halloween Day event at the Campus baskeball court area, Covid-19 precautions will be enforced, in order to help ensure the health and safety of our community as the Covid-19 situation continues. Here are the standard guidelines for the October 31 opening

Start time is 12 noon. Vendors should plan on setting up before the opening song. All vendors must register upon arrival, between 10 and 11 a.m. What you need to

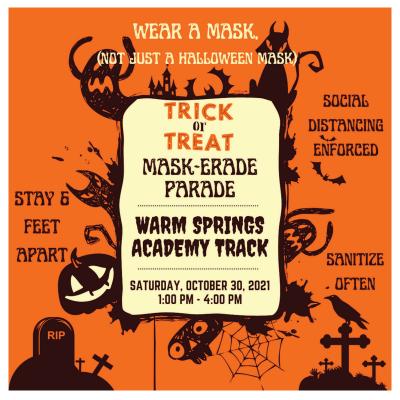

Upon arrival, each vendor will have a pre-screening with a temperature check, get a number for set up location, and be provided with hand sanitizer.

Each vendor must wear a mask, have hand sanitizer, and show no signs of covid symptoms.

Vendors should maintain at least six feet of distance between yourself and others.

I hope you and your team have a great time enjoying the art and spooky adventures!

Academy: District bond measure to add classrooms

The school bond would address health, safety and security matters in all of the district's schools.

If it passes, the bond would fund the construction of six new early learning classrooms at the Warm Springs Academy.

Of the total $24 million in the proposed bond measure, $3.99 million would go to the Warm Springs Academy.

With the six new early learning classrooms, the bond would also fund a new key-access control system at the Academy.

At the Bridges High School, $935,000 of the bond would go to four new classrooms, gym floor improvements and new flooring on the lower level.

Madras High School work would include a new roof and insulation; upgrades to the Career and Technical Education area; heating, cooling and ventilation improvements; a new soccer concession and restroom area, and facility and field

The other schools in the district would also see improvements. Full details are available at the school district bond website. You can find the site at:

509jschoolbond.org

The school district has not passed a bond measure since 2012. That bond paid for half of the construction of the Warm Springs Academy, as the tribes funded the other half. The 2012 measure also funded the Madras Performing Arts Center at the high school.

Clinic expansion, remodel in design phase

The Warm Springs Health and Wellness Center is working toward an expansion and redesign to better meet the growing needs of the community. The clinic staff has been taking input from the public regarding the project.

You can see the design concepts at the clinic, and at the Family Resource Center. You can hear the KWSO podcast interview with clinic chief executive officer Hyllis 'HD' Dauphinais. See kwso.org under 'Programming.'

You can email your feedback to:

dayle.tufti@wstribes.org Or email to: Michele.Miller@ihs.gov

The clinic is in a remodel-expansion phase.

The modernization project is now in the design phase, with the ground-breaking expected next summer, Mr. Dauphinais said. Earlier, the three design concepts were submitted to Tribal Council and the IHS area office.

The expansion will double the number of exam rooms, and make the waiting area larger and safer. "During flu season, and certainly during the pandemic, you don't want sick people walking through and waiting in the same area as healthy people," Mr. Dauphinais said.

With this project the Pharmacy area would also be larger. Another benefit will be bringing onto the clinic campus all of the health services offered through IHS and Managed Care.

The clinic was built in 1993. Formerly, the IHS Warm Springs Clinic was housed in the current Family Resource Center build-

The move in 1993 to the current clinic was a great improvement in terms of the size and updating of the clinic facility. The new project will have similar benefits.

Bond support

I support the 509-J school bond measure and I ask you to as well. I've been a teacher in Warm Springs and a resident of Jefferson County for the last two years. Prior to living here, my husband was in the Army and we lived in several different states in which I taught.

Over my years of teaching, I've seen the results of aging school buildingsflooding bathrooms, months without air conditioning in the warm season and leaky roofs that led to mold, to name a few. The fact is, most schools in the United States were built decades ago. It is no different in Jefferson

This bond measure would provide the necessary capital to ensure that our students can continue to learn in safe and healthy environments. The best part about this bond is that it will not increase your taxeson the reservation. In addition if passed, 509-J would be awarded a matching funds grant of $4 million from the state.

I'm proud to live and work in Jefferson County. I have many years left of teaching and I urge you to support this bond measure for my students, for your children, and for our community.

A great day for Warm Springs pet health care

We had a very successful day meeting so many families of Warm Springs.

We spayed and neutered over 30 dogs and cats, and performed wellness exams for more than 100 dogs and cats. Plus, we helped filled the bellies of hundreds of dogs and cats, giving away more than 4,000 pounds of dog and cat food.

It was a privilege to be there, and partner with Street Dog Hero and Central Oregon Community College Veterinary Technicians!

Thank you for welcoming our team with open hearts. We hope for more clinics in the months ahead. In the meantime, I have this update (see the graphic with directions about how to register for assistance, at right). Thank you!

On another note: Since the recent Warm Springs clinic was outdoors, unfortunately one of our more skittish dogs, Minnion, escaped during examination in the enclosed tent.

Fences for Fido volunteers searched for her for five hours. Thankfully, Minnion was found: She made her way nine miles

Laura Ellen Picard Grabner ~ 1928-2020

Laura Ellen Picard Grabner passed away peacefully on Monday, October 4, 2021 at her home in Klamath Falls with family by her side. Ms. Picard Grabner was 93.

She was born on January 16, 1928 in Chiloquin, Oregon to Amos Lewis Picard and Gertrude Lillian Pitt Bagley. Although Laura was born in Chiloquin, she was enrolled as a member of the Confederated Tribes of Warm Springs, and has a rich tribal history ancestry that includes Wasco, Shasta, Pit River and Kalapuya tribes.

As a Wasco tribal elder, she was proud of her heritage and enjoyed sharing with everyone that she came from 'the Big River,' more commonly known as the Columbia River.

Laura married into the Klamath Tribes and most of her children were raised in the Chiloquin area. She loved the people of the Klamath Tribes, who treated her with love and respect as if she were their

In the 1940s, Laura attended boarding school on the Warm Springs Indian Reservation, and at Stewart Indian School in Nevada. Though she learned practical domestic skills through her boarding school experience, she suffered significant trauma that took a lifetime to over-

After learning the Klamath Indian Reservation in the '60s, she moved to The Dalles prior to returning to the Warm Springs Indian Reservation, where she built a home and dedicated herself to her family and culture. In doing so, she taught herself to sew and bead regalia, make jewelry, and participated in many tribal gatherings, events and powwow celebrations to watch her family dance, bringing her immense pride and joy.

In her spare time, she joined a bowling team, and enjoyed playing the guitar or the piano while singing her favorite country gospel songs.

In the '70s, Laura was appointed by Oregon Governor Tom McCall to serve on an advisory board to advocate for support for Native American drug and alcohol recovery programs. This work and sharing her personal testimony were instrumental in establishing funding for tribes to provide these necessary services. She was extremely proud of her service on this board, as it was instrumental in her own recovery and advocacy for sobri-

After the death of her mother, Laura and her husband Raymond moved to Redmond, Oregon, where they lived for approximately 30 years. Laura returned to the Klamath Basin in 2018 to be cared for by her daughter Mary and family.

Laura was a strong woman of faith and relied heavily her relationship and belief in God, and the power of the written and spoken word of the Bible.

She would pray daily for her family, friends, and anyone that requested it. She wore out pages of several Bibles throughout her lifetime, and almost every page has hand-written names of her loved ones next to scriptures she believed were relevant for them. Later in life she was very active in ministry to Native Americans and participated in many Native conferences through the West.

As our guide, Laura shared family and tribal history, and was a wealth of wisdom to us all. She enjoyed visiting friends and family while sharing her faith, stories, insight, and the importance of practicing tribal tradition.

She did this all through her loving, caring, sometimes serious, strong personality, but was riddled with her silly jokes and wonderful and uplifting sense of humor. She made all of us feel like her number one, and every single one of her children, grandchildren, family and friends held a special place in her heart.

She was the matriarch of our family, and we have been truly blessed and deeply affected by her faith, hope, love, prayers, encouragement, admonishment, correction, and stories. She was an overcomer, a respected elder, and a wonderful example to us all.

Warm Springs: Then and Now

The Oregon Cultural Trust is helping fund a project— Warm Springs: Then and Now-to tell the stories of tribal members of the reservation, through a series of photographic portraits and essays. The more recent portraits will be paired with historical photographs taken some decades ago.

The Cultural Trust awarded $21,210 to Oregon ArtsWatch for Warm Springs: Then and Now. The award is part of more than $3.25 million that the Cultural Trust granted this year, during its Twentieth Anniversary. The $3.25 million is a recordbreaking total for the Trust, funded by an also record $5.2 million in 2020 donations by Oregon taxpayers in return for cultural tax credits. The Trust has awarded more than $36 million in cultural grants since it was founded by the Legislature in

The awards break down in several ways. The Trust's five large partner organizations the Oregon Arts Commission, Oregon Heritage Commission, Oregon Humanities, Oregon Historical Society and the State Historic Preservation Office—split $813,610 among them.

Another $813,610 is divided among the state's 45 tribal and county cultural coalitions, which in turn make grants of their own. Ninety individual cultural groups from across the state share in another $1,627,220, in amounts ranging from $5,000 to $33,728, and averaging $18,087.

In addition, grants are awarded across nine geographical areas that cover the entire state. The allotment includes $455,411 for administrative costs, making a total disbursement of $3,709,952.

"In its first 20 years the Cultural Trust has proven itself as a stable source of funding for Oregon's arts, heritage and humanities community," said Niki Price, chair of the Cultural Trust board.

Secretary Haaland could not attend because of a family matter, however; so representing Interior during the tour was Assistant Secretary for Indian Affairs Bryan Newland. Later in the week the Office of the Secretary Interior issued the following:

Mary E. Toya, the mother of Secretary Deb Haaland, has passed away. Toya was from the Pueblo of Laguna and the Pueblo of Jemez, tribal nations based in New Mexico. She was a veteran of the U.S. Navy who worked for the Bureau of Indian Affairs for 25 years.

"We celebrate Mary Toya's long life, and are grateful for her 25 years of service to Native students as a member of the Interior team within Indian Affairs," the statement reads. "Mary spoke Keres, raised her children in a Pueblo household, and passed traditional wisdom down to her children, grandchildren, and great grandchildren. Her legacy lives on in Secretary Haaland, all of her relatives, and the countless Native people she inspired."

"Often that means she is putting everyone else before herself," Ms. Hurd said.

At the meeting on October 11—Indigenous People's Day in Oregon—the director of the Oregon School Board Association, Jim Green, presented Ms. Danzuka with the award of School Board Member of the Year.

"Erasing the achievement Green said.

"Laurie Danzuka exemplifies the way school board members embrace that mission."
